Experts predict continued '86 dairy surplus

Special to Lancaster Farming

SYRACUSE, NY — What impact will the Food Security Act of 1985 have on the nation's dairy farmers? Will the whole herd buyout program reduce the milk surplus by the mandatory 12 billion pounds?

These questions were just a sampling of what dairy industry leaders attempted to answer Monday and Tuesday as they gathered at the 1986 Northeastern Dairy Conference. And while no ready-made answers were offered, conference participants presented an optimistic viewpoint about the industry's future.

Touting the theme "Dairy Industry at the Crossroads," the conference highlighted dairy legislation and the farm financial picture. It also looked at other avenues of stability, including dairy promotion and product research.

But the underlying theme centered around the whole herd buyout program and the anticipated producer sign-up. With the conference held just three days before the March 28 announcement of accepted bids, attendees sought to predict the program's future outcome.

Speaking before an audience of 200 cooperative, university and agribusiness leaders, economist Andrew Novakovic reviewed the whole herd buyout program and cautiously offered his predictions.

"We'll make a lot of progress with this program," Novakovic said, "but it won't be the solution in 1986."

The Cornell University professor based his prediction on current milk production, which continues to climb. For 1986, Novakovic estimates that total U.S. milk production will reach 149 billion pounds, compared to 144 billion pounds in 1985.

"If we go below 1985 levels, we'll be lucky," he said, adding that production may begin declining at the end of the year when the effects of the buyout program are felt.

USDA economist Clifford Carman echoes Novakovic's predictions. In addressing the dairy situation and outlook, Carman said production will be at a down turn at the end of 1986.

"We're unlikely to hold 1986 production at 1985 production," he said. "The cows and milk (of the buyout program) will not be out until 1987."

On the price side of dairying, farmers can expect lower milk prices during the second half of 1986 than the second half of 1985. Generally, prices will be down between 45 and 85 cents, Carman said.

Andrew Novakovic, Cornell University, outlines his thoughts on the impact of the 1985 Farm Bill.

But the key to prices, Novakovic said, will depend on the buyout program. With this said, he opened up discussion among the dairy leaders, questioning the signup in the individual northeastern states.

In volunteering the information they had, conference participants indicated that the signup in these states averaged between 12 and 26 percent of total dairy herds. From these figures, Novakovic said, the northeast "clearly has an interest in this program, but the signup is not as high as the rest of the country."

The bids in the northeast ranged somewhere between $4.90 and $350. the leader suggested. But what level will be the cutoff for acceptance?

"My personal guess," Novakovic said, "is they won't take bids over $20."

If the number of bids accepted does not reach 10 billion pounds of milk equivalent, a second signup period is likely, Novakovic said. The goal of the current administration is to reduce the surplus by 12 billion pounds of milk equivalent.

"And if the buyout program doesn't work, what next?" Novakovic quizzed his audience. "Quotas? We'll probably have to think about it."

Valiant daughters top calf sale

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania on Parade continues today at the Farm Show comples with the long-awaited show that promises to put some of the best of the Holstein breed in Pennsylvania on display.

The State Holstein Show today has 400 head entered for the opportunity to be considered best in Pennsylvania. Among those competing are previous champions from the Doeberiener, Hostetter, King, Foster, Bupp, Fox, Boyer, Seipt, and Ohlinger herds

When these top names in the state gather, the spectators know they will be treated to a parade of outstanding Holsteins

In Thursday's calf sale which initiated the three day event, the top seller was Henry-Acres Valiant, a S-W-D Valiant daughter.

This December calf, consigned by Roy and Glen Henry from Port Royal, was purchased by Latuch Brothers, Rockwood, for $3,400.

The dam of this calf, Henry-Acres Elevation Joyce, is classified EX-90 and has two records over 30,000 pounds of milk, and a lifetime record of 223,151 pounds of milk to date. She presently has 13 sons in A.I. around the world

Roy and Glen Henry also consigned the second highest selling calf, Henry-Acres Valiant Elissa-ET. This calf, which has almost the same pedigree as the highest-selling calf, sold for $3,100 to Michael J. Allen, Jefferson, MD.

Jeff Harding, PHA staff; (left) consignor Roy Henry, and sale chairman Lewis Berkley stand with the top selling calf, Henry-Acres Valiant, who sold for $3,400. At the lead is June Bechtel.

The dam for this December calf is Middessa Rorae Ela. She is a gold medal dam classified EX-92.

Consignment numbers 115 and 66 received the next highest bid of $1,700. Both of these calves were also sold to Hilmar Holskins, Hilmar CA. One point these four top calves have in common is Round Oak Apple Elevation is their maternal grandsire.

Number 66, Ray-Mc Chairman Pride Jade is the daughter of Cal-Clark Board Chairman and was consigned by Ray McMillen and Sons, Loysville. "Jade's" dam has one record over 30,000 pounds of milk. As a 10 year old, she produced a 309 day record of 28,138 M, 1,075 F, with a 3.7 test.

S-W-D Valiant is the sire for lot number, consigned by Loren L. and Helen M. Zimmerman, East Earl. This consignments dam is Zimhaven Elevation Jolly.

The unofficial sale average on 100 head was $840.50. The sale was managed by Backus Associates, Mexico, NY. The barn crew and leadsmen for the sale were from the Dairy Societies of Penn State and Delaware Valley College.

The bred heifers and young cows scheduled for sale Friday were out of the finest bulls and dams in the breed . . . Rotate, Astronaut, Chairman and Tony daughters from excellent dams with 20,000 plus pounds of milk.

PENNSYLVANIA ON PARADE

February milk output up seven percent

WASHINGTON — U. S. milk production surpassed year-earlier levels once again in February, completing 12 consecutive months of production increases.

The nation's February milk output was 11.3 billion pounds, seven percent higher than in February 1985.

Cow numbers in January climbed about three percent over 1985 levels, to 11.1 million, while production per cow was up four percent to 1,015 pounds.

In Pennsylvania, production was up four percent to 791 million pounds, tying the production record for the month set in February 1984. Cow numbers averaged 739,000, or 4,000 more than year-earlier totals, and production per cow was up 40 pounds, to 1,070.

The sale session always reaches its peak in March. In this issue find complete sale reports on the Exclusive Sale on A-23, Red and White Sale on A-22, York Calfarama on A-35 and PA on Parade on A-1.

To Plan For Oat Planting

I know some farmers are considering the use of feed oats for planting this spring, but this may not be a good idea. Feed oats may contain quackgrass, bindweed and other weed seeds. Planting feed oats will generally result in lower yields. You also have the problem that any weed seeds planted will be a problem for years to come.

Keep in mind that high quality seed is the smallest part of producing a crop. So, saving a few cents by using inferior or weedy seed doesn't make much sense.

On the other hand, homegrown seed of varities proven successful on the farm can be cleaned, treated and planted if the germination is 80 percent or better. You can place the seed in a tray with moist soil, cover with wet burlap and keep in a warm place. Then count the seeds that germinate against the total and determine the percent germination.

To Evaluate Winter Wheat Topdressing

During this season of the year many farmers ask the question, does winter wheat need fertilizing? According to agronomists, topdressing with fertilizer may or may not be a good idea. There are several things that should be considered before making the decision.

In the first place, do not topdress winter wheat with a fertilizer that contains nitrogen if the wheat is to be overseeded with clover or alfalfa. Nitrogen causes heavy growth of wheat which may smother the new seeding. The winter wheat fields that have come through the winter looking thin, should be topdressed now. Use only a straight nitrogen fertilizer, such as urea. Topdressing winter wheat with phosphate or potash fertilizer has not given any increased wheat yields.

Apply the nitrogen fertilizer in early spring at the rate of 30 to 40 pounds of actual nitrogen per acre.

To Provide Farm Security

Thefts and vandalism on farms in on the increase. This is very difficult to prevent because of the various items around farm buildings and homes; also the number of buildings and places to enter are many. However, we suggest that every farmer take some steps to protect his machinery, tools, livestock and supplies. The automatic lights that come on at dusk and go off at dawn should be of real value in discouraging burglars. There are also many new sensing devices that detect movement around the premises.

Watch dogs are also very useful in detecting strangers around the property. Shops, garages and other smaller buildings should be kept locked when possible. The identification of animals by tags, branding and photographs is very helpful. It is also a good idea to mark all machinery and tools with a permanent ID number. The best number to use is your drivers license number preceeded by DL PA (Drivers License, Pennsylvania).

Remember, Social Security numbers are non-retrievable so it's best not ot use them. Farm thefts are on the increase so farmers should take steps to protect their property.

To Increase Pasture Prduction

One of the best ways to improve permanent pasture is to apply lime and plant food, practice rotational grazing and clip them regularly. This is quicker, cheaper and involves less risk than tearing up the old sod and reseeding.

Most permanent pastures have sufficient seed of desirable grass species. The only thing they need is a little tender loving care and the opportunity to grow and to recover from grazing pressures. Thus, fertility and rotational grazing are very beneficial.

The more paddocks you have, the better it is. If your acreage is limited for your herd size, restrict the amount of time cattle and livestock are permitted to graze. Don't let them trample the grass unnecessarily by allowing them to roam freely over the pasture while not grazing.

After a paddock has been grazed, it can be clipped to control weed growth and to keep the grass young and nutritious. This is also a good time to apply fertilizer and necessary herbicides, while allowing the grass to recover prior to being grazed again.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THIS IS THE VICTORY!

March 30, 1986

Background Scripture: 1 John 4 through 5.
Devotional Reading: 1 John 4:1-6.

Somewhere in my files is a quotation from Christofer Fry's chancel drama, A Sleep of Prisoners. I cannot give it to you verbatim, but perhaps even the kernel of it that I do remember will be helpful to you. The occasion is the return of David's general, Joab, from the battlefield. Joab has not yet revealed to David that his son Ahab has been killed, but David senses it when he asks: "What are you bringing me? Is it the victory? So often what you have brought me is not the victory, but something else."

WHO OVERCOMES?

Even if I have remembered Fry's words imperfectly, I still remember well after all these years the impact they first had on me. And today I understand them even better than I did 30 years ago. I have experienced in my own life those "victories" that are not really victories.

Much of life is spent in trying to find the real victory. For example, on the day on which Jesus was crucified, it was a day of victory for those who had plotted his death. They killed and discredited the Nazarene. They scattered his disciples. They silenced the voice that seemed to endanger their place in society. But today, who would regard their temporary success a real victory?

Conquerors and tyrants have won an amazing array of victories since the very beginning of time: the Pharoah's armies, Alexander the Great, the Roman legions, the barbarian hordes, and so on. But where are their victories now? Nowhere, for they were not real victories.

THE WORLD OVERCOME

That's why, on the other hand, Easter is a real victory. As the writer of 1 John says, "and this is the victory that overcomes the world . . ." (5:4). Easter means not only that Christ was victorious over death, but that we will be, too. And it means, not only that we shall survive death on earth, but that we shall share in Christ's great victory. Easter is not just survival, it is victory!

Easter is our reminder that Christ overcame the world through his resurrection. But there is more: "Who is it that overcomes the world but he who believes that Jesus is the Son of God?" (5:5) Not only did Christ overcome the world, but we too are aware overcome it with our faith. Our purpose is not just to outlast death, but to be part of God's victorious purpose and fulfillment.

Nathaniel Micklem once wrote: ". . . had it not been for the Resurrection . . . the Cross would have been the final proof, not of the presence of God in history, but the absence of God from history." But the resurrected Christ proclaims the presence and the pre-eminance of God who, in the long run, overcomes the world and shares with us the victory that for once is the real one.

Toll-free phone set up for NFU campaign

HARRISBURG — Uniting farmers, small town bankers and business leaders, and consumers to end the rural crisis is the goal of a "Fight Back!" campaign waged by National Farmers Union.

NFU has established a toll-free telephone number for interested callers to find out how they can "Fight Back!" against the inadequate 1985 Farm Bill, droppiing farm income, proposed budget cuts for rural programs and the crisis in rural America.

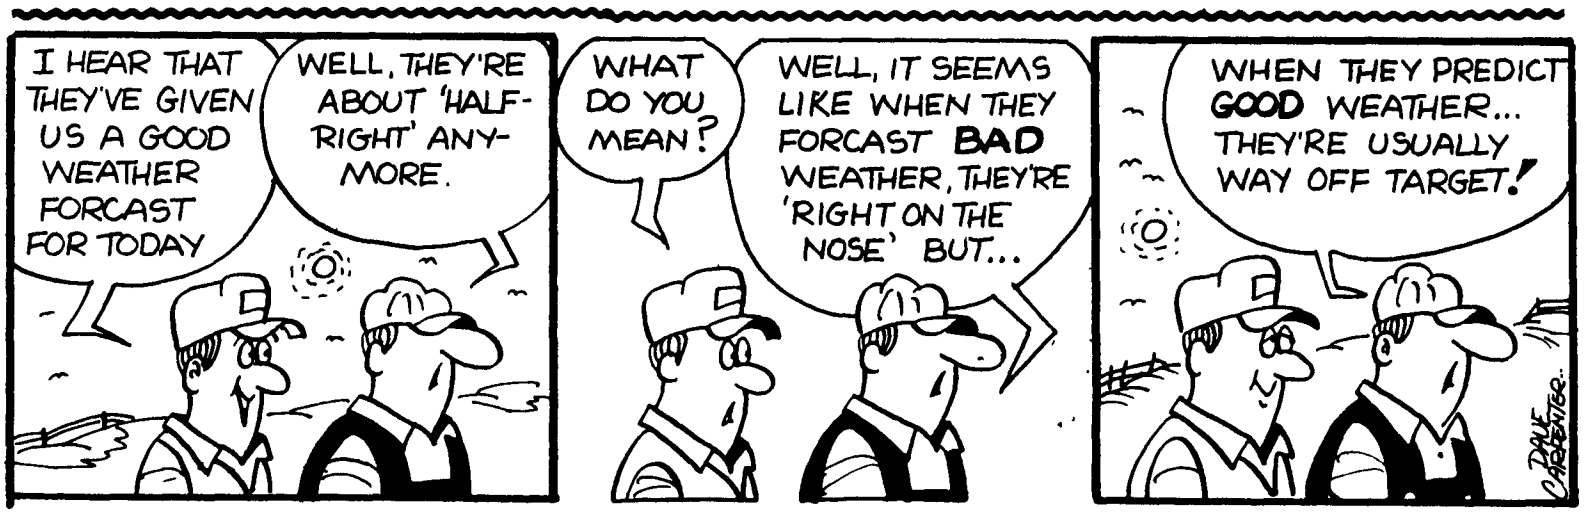
The toll-free telephone number is 1-800-437-7571.

"We can unite to turn things around — in Washington, in our state capital, on the farm and in town. Or, we can allow the situation to get worse," the general family farm organization says in a rural newspaper advertising blitz. "Every member of the rural community and every city resident is feeling the effect of this disaster, whether it is through the effects of a lowered tax base on education and road construction and repair, the loss of income to small businesses and banks, the drop in contributions to local churches, or the unjust proposals contained in President Reagan's budget to end support for rural programs," Pennsylvania Farmers Union President Stetler said.

"There is genuine concern among the public on this issue, and genuine desire to end the rural crisis and start on the road to justice and equality for farmers and consumers," Stetler said. "This campaign will harness that concern to produce constructive action. We cannot allow the situation to worsen, or even to continue." Callers on the toll-free telephone line will be greeted by an NFU member who will explain several options for immediate action. Options include speaking out against the proposed budget and lack of farm income, writing letters to the editor, to Congressmen and other public officials, inviting legislators to visit farms and small communities to view the depression first-hand, and joining a farm organization they believe in. Callers will also learn about NFU's legislative activities.

As an organization, NFU is preparing to meet the challenge legislatively by:

* Seeking an emergency bill to improve farm income for family farm survival.
* Seeking emergency credit for Spring work and for farmers facing financial disaster.
* Pushing for agricultural tax reforms that help restore profitability and fairness in agriculture.
* Addressing the Gramm-Rudman budget implications to America's farmers and rural small businesses, with the possibility of taking court action against the ominous law which hangs over any potential farm recovery.
* Oppose merger of Conrail with the Norfolk Southern Railroad because of monopoly implications for agricultural shippers.
* Seeking further refinements in the U.S. Bankruptcy Code so that farmers can successfully use it to reorganize their operations and continue farming.



I HEAR THAT THEY'VE GIVEN US A GOOD WEATHER FORCAST FOR TODAY
WELL, THEY'RE ABOUT 'HALF-RIGHT' ANY-MORE.
WHAT DO YOU MEAN?
WELL, IT SEEMS LIKE WHEN THEY FORCAST BAD WEATHER, THEY'RE 'RIGHT ON THE NOSE' BUT...
WHEN THEY PREDICT GOOD WEATHER... THEY'RE USUALLY WAY OFF TARGET!

IT'S A JUNGLE OUT THERE.

Weeds, grasses and trash in no-till corn can be a no-win situation for most herbicides. But not for Bicep plus Princep. They're an unbeatable combination for keeping no-till corn clean all season long.

With Bicep plus Princep in a program you get effective, long-lasting control of annual broadleaf weeds and grasses—even late germinators, like crabgrass and fall panicum. Put Bicep and Princep together on your team for dependable, economical control of no-till weeds and grasses all season long. And be king of the jungle. CIBA–GEIGY

Delaware expert offers financial advice

NEWARK, DE. – Little things can mean a lot in any business. Given the current financial crisis in American agriculture, good management is especially important for farmers.

Burdened by debts, high production costs and low commodity prices, farmers sometimes have trouble recognizing ways to cut costs. And sometimes, in their haste to produce a crop, they overlook details that affect profitability.

University of Delaware extension agricultural agent Dean Belt offers the following advice to farmers who want to improve their cash flow and general economic stance.

FINE TUNE PRODUCTION:

- Test your soil and compare past records.
- Apply only as much fertilizer as you need to meet realistic yield goals.
- Take into account nutrients suppled by legumes and manure.
- Calibrate your application equipment.
- Band your fertilizer.
- Apply lime if needed.
- Avoid nitrogen losses by timely application.
- Don't add extra sulfur of micronutrients unless soil or tissue analyses or past experience indicate they are needed.
- Fertilize each field according to specific recommendations rather than treating all fields the same.
- Omit phosphorus and potassium in soils testing high for these nutrients, except for a small amount banded in soils slow to warm up.
- Compare prices of various fertilizers--use the one that provides the most for the money.
- Select the best yielding hybrids possible.
- Plant as early as you can.
- Rotate your crops for maximum yields.
- Compare conventional tillage versus no-tillage for your operation.
- Pool your purchasing power with other growers.

IMPROVE MARKETING PRACTICES:

- Have you established sales price objectives for your 1986 crop?
- Do you know your production costs?
- Plan a marketing strategy now.

REEVALUATE EQUIPMENT NEEDS:

- Does the size of your farm operation justify ownership of costly machinery?
- Consider sharing ownership of specialty or seldom-used equipment.
- Consider doing custom work if you have the time and equipment.
- Delay major machinery purchases if possible.
- If you have equipment you don't need, consider selling it.

LOOK FOR OTHER WAYS TO REDUCE PRESENT FINANCIAL BURDENS:

- Give up rented land that doesn't return a profit. Concentrate on your best ground.
- Consider restructuring some loans.

"Take charge of your operation," says Belt. "Management is still the key to efficient production. You must know your costs before any effective decision can be made."

Desire to merchandise leads Ruth family to Jerseys

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

Follow the Jersey breeders to the west next week for a preview of the Jeff Peters farm. This is one of the places the Jersey breeders will visit during their annual meeting on April 11 and 12 in Meadville.

SPRING CITY — When Loren Ruth of R1 Spring City decided enter the dairy business, it was with the intention of merchandising cattle. "The only reason I wanted to milk cows was to merchandise them," he says. "You've got to breed what is going to sell."

Loren is the 22-year-old son of Vernon Ruth, who formed a partnership with his sons, Doug and Loren, and plunged into the dairy business for a second time in 1983. Selecting heifers with high standards, the Ruths assembled one of the highest indexing Jersey herds in the state.

A successful Holstein breeder until 1978, when he dispersed his herd of 85 cows and heifers, Vernon Ruth explains the decision to begin again with the Jersey breed. "They (his sons) weren't interested in milking cows when we had Holsteins," Ruth begins.

In 1983 the sons became interested in merchandising a high-quality dairy animal. "We might as well go for quality instead of quantity," Ruth says as he reflects on the changing attitude of the milk market. He adds: "The main reason (for Jersey cows) was the barn was built for Guernseys and was always really too small for Holsteins. I'm glad they went this way. The Jersey cow is nicer to handle, a smaller animal."

Ruth's wife, Janet, adds, "I was glad to see them go to a smaller cow. I could never get used to the Holsteins." Janet explains that her grandfather began the farm with Guernseys many years ago in what was then a predominantly Guernsey area. Her father followed this tradition until Ruth's Holsteins eventually replaced the Guernseys.

Stonyrun Farm is now home to 35 registered Jerseys. The selection criteria the Ruths set for this young herd was tough. The Ruths credit David Parkinson, American Jersey Cattle Club area representative, with working with them to find the heifers that would meet their standards.

The heifers had to descend from high testing cow families, dams had to be plus for type, and milk records were to meet 13,000 pounds or above. The Ruths also sought high indexes and PI's.

In the fall of 1983 the Ruths purchased 34 open heifers. They began using the top sires in the breed to start their breeding program on the 15 heifers from Massachusetts and the 15 heifers from Vermont, plus several heifers purchased from top dispersals. Top Brass, Volunteer, Bruce, Stardust Gemini, and Bossman were heavily used.

After freshening in the fall of 1984, the young herd recorded an initial average of 9400M and 424F. The pedigreed herd of three year olds this year is averaging over 10,000 pounds milk with a 4.8 percent test and features several individuals who pump out over 70 pounds a day.

The Ruths anticipate a better average every year and are optimistic about A.I. and national sale interest on several of their animals.

Of these leaders in the breed, a favorite is Bryant Hill Magic Hopscotch, a VG-86 daughter of Quicksilvers Magic of Ogston. Hopscotch is currently on the breed's Elite list and is projected to 15,470M and 761F on her three-year-old record.

Her dam, an Excellent daughter of Mayfield Volunteer, sold in the 1982 All-American Sale. Her granddam is also an Excellent-90 and has a Hall of Fame record to her credit. This past year Hopscotch gave the Ruths a Top Brass heifer who they hope will continue to carry this cow family's production and type.

Another favorite in the Stonyrun barn is Mar-Bil Top Salome, a Top Brass daughter with a two-year-old projection of 14,380 milk and 656 fat. Her dam is an Excellent Samson daughter owned by William Yoder, Meyersdale, and contracted by Carnation Genetics.

Smokey Hill Saint Polly, a VG-85 three year old, occupies a high ranking to the Ruths. Polly is projected to 12,100 milk with a 5.3 percent test and comes from a high testing family. Her Top Brass heifer was sought by the national committee for the 1985 National Heifer Sale, but the Ruths decided to keep these genetics in the herd for a while.

Appraisal day pleased the Ruth family. The young herd consists of 13 "very good" out of 35 animals. "I want to stay plus on type if I can," Loren Ruth says.

All the forages and grains for the herd are grown on the farm, with everyone sharing the responsibility. Cows are fed high moisture shelled corn, corn silage, and alfalfa hay. Grain is fed four times a day and high producers get a top dress including some purchased cottonseed. Hay is always fed with or before grain feedings and the Ruths plan to change to include haylage in their feeding program this year.

Cows are milked in an immaculate stanchion barn with four bucket units. The Ruths enjoy sharing duties and their system enables everyone to have time off.

A planned calving interval is also a labor saver and causes less stress on the animals. Cows and heifers are bred with fall freshening in mind. When the hot summer comes with its additional field work, most animals are dry and due to freshen in late August and September.

Although the Ruths say their milk check suffers at this time, they plan to keep their calving interval at 12.1 because of the saved labor in the barn and the reduced heat stress on the cows at calving.

Heifer management on the farm includes individual calf pens for newborns on the open southern side of the barn and group pens in an open barn when weaned. All calves are also ringed to prevent sucking after they are weaned. Everything is bred artificially.

In the stanchion barn, cows are bedded with chopped straw and thoroughly washed before milking. A strip cup is used and the somatic cell average has stayed at approximately 140,000.

The Ruths remain optimistic about the future. They plan to breed the best and plan to begin marketing after their herd is built up to its capacity of 45 to 50 cows.

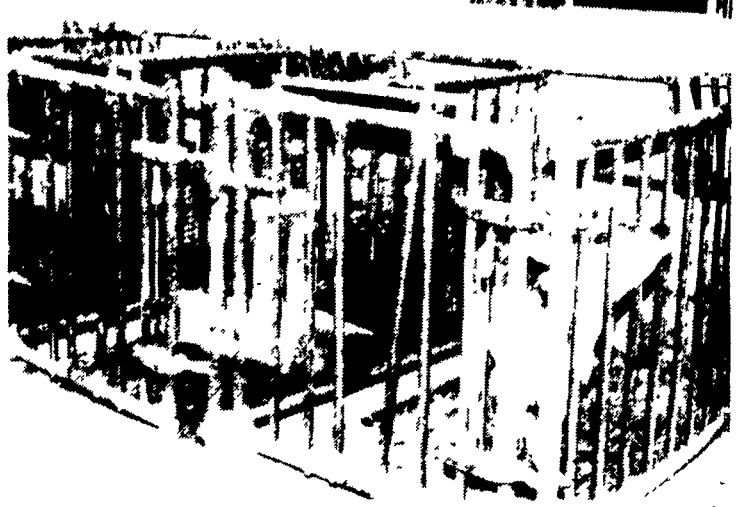
After an initial year of milking 35 first-calf heifers, first-year problems with a new herd, and an adjustment of storage facilities for a smaller herd, the Ruths remain enthusiastic for the dairy business and look forward to becoming known among Jersey breeders.

Loren Ruth explains that heifers are bred around 14 months or later according to size. Service sires currently in use are Top Brass, Legend and Duncan.

Doug Ruth completes the milking chores this evening while Loren has a night off.

Doug and Loren Ruth show their Top Brass heifer out of the Hopscotch cow. They are hopeful of A.I. interest in this richly-pedigreed November heifer.

The cows in the Ruth barn enjoy the fine quality hay, well-ventilated barn and clean stalls.



The calf pens in the barn are located on the southern side where the sun can reach them daily.

PA Grange backs rural judge bill

HARRISBURG — The Pennsylvania State Grange is actively supporting SB601, a bill ensuring more rural representation in the election of appellate court judges. By creating districts similar to congressional or legislative districts, voters will have the opportunity to vote for local candidates they are more familiar with than someone from another part of the state. One judge will be voted on from every district for the Superior, Supreme, and Commonwealth Courts.

During the annual State Grange Convention, the Grange became involved in this issue after a resolution was passed advocating the need for mandatory rural representation on the bench.

"Traditionally rural people in Pennsylvania are not represented fairly in the appellate court system," said Brenda Shambaugh, PA State Grange Legislative Director. "This legislation will allow all Pennsylvanians to be equally represented," added Shambaugh.

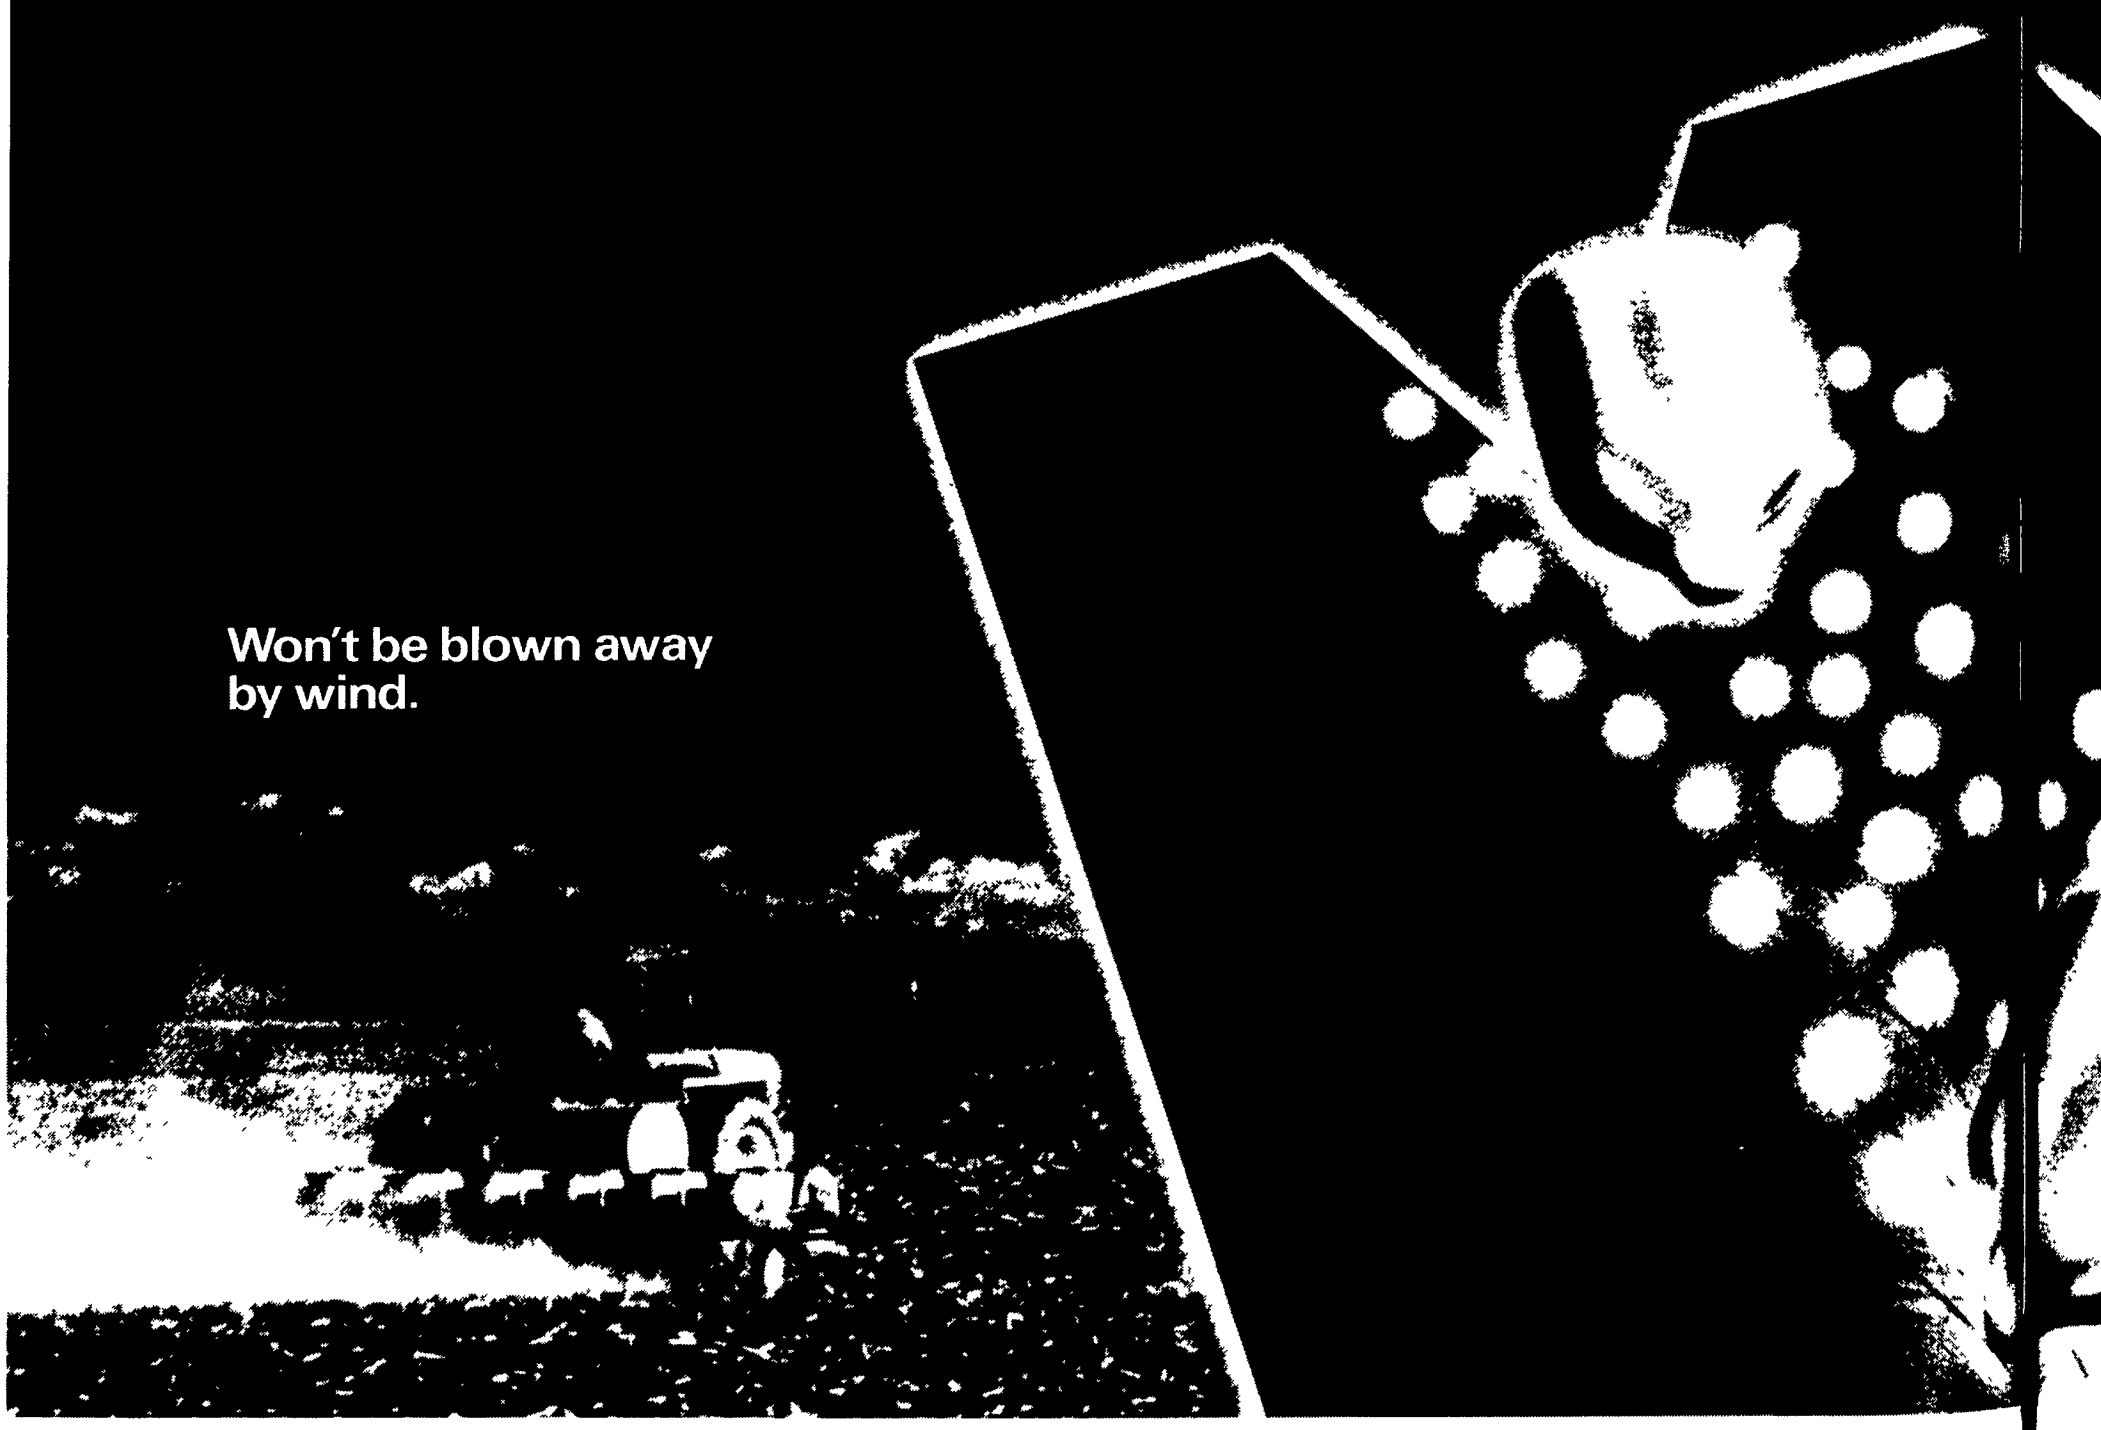
COUNTER® In-Furrow. Put Your Money Where Yo



For maximum performance from your corn soil insecticide, put it where it works hardest. In the seed furrow. In-furrow application puts your insecticide in the right place at the right time, protecting your crop from day one. And applied banded or in-furrow, COUNTER® systemic insecticide-nematicide delivers better protection than any other product on the market.

IN-FURROW IS COST EFFECTIVE

With in-furrow application, you get the most from all of your valuable insecticide. It's locked in the soil where it can't be blown away by wind during application, deflected by crop residue or washed away by heavy rains. All of your protection stays put for maximum performance. And COUNTER is applied in-furrow at the same rate as COUNTER banded.

COUNTER banded or in-furrow. Your two best options for maximum performance.

Wayne cow shines at Red and White Show

LANCASTER — The grand champion of the Spring Red and White Show was the four year old, C Mount Haven Crystan Reta-Red. This was only the second time she was exhibited by owners James and Joan Slocum, Susquehanna, Wayne County.

Her previous tanbark experience was the Hartford County Fair where she took first in her class.

The Slocum's had a completely black and white herd until last year. They sold half of their herd at that point and bought red and whites at Joan's insistance.

She does all of the milking and prefers red and whites because "they're different and you don't see them all the time." Presently their herd averages 17,644 pounds of milk with mainly first calf heifers.

The year's champion, who the judge Mike Barnes described as having a long open body and wide frame, is 63.5 inches tall. This height advantage prevented Joan from showing the champion cow herself. She felt she would be unable to hold the cow's head that high for any length of time. Marty Unholzer helped the Slocums by serving as leadsman of the champion.

Reserve grand champion honors were garnered by Meyerose Farm's entry, Hastings Top Barbara. This cow was entered in the 100,000 pound milk lifetime production class.

Judge Barnes describe the reserve champion as "a picture of what an aged cow should be. She has a snug udder with excellent teat placement."

Ken Myer of Myerose Farm, Elizabethtown, showed this cow because "she is the best cow in the herd and classified at 92 points." She has been fresh since August and is still producing 97 pounds of milk a day, Myer said. This eight year old also has a total lifetime production of 130,000 pounds of milk, Myer added.

Eventually Myer plans to super flush this cow and has already sold her embryos to Germany and Hungary.

The junior championships were captured by Cher-Own Holsteins of Paris, Ontario. The junior champion title went to the senior yearling, Rippling Brook Regal-Red, which they own jointly with H. Shore.

The reserve junior champion position was claimed by Wrico Enhancer Leanna-Red, a junior yearling sired by Glenafton Enhancer.

Premier exhibitor for the show was Summerhill Farm, Guelph, Ontario. Aubrecht Farms also from Guelph, Ontario was named Premier Breeder for the show.

International Red and White Sale totals $98,575

LANCASTER — The Eighth International Red and White Sale was appropriately named as sales went to three nations, Canada, Ecuador and the United States.

The top selling red and white was a September calf out of the hot bull Glenafton Enhancer. This calf, Lowoe Enhancer Glorious-Red-ET sold for $4,500 to David Rama, agent from Delancey, NY.

Consigned by Warren Buckman, III, Perkasie, "Glorious" has applied for double registration. She is from Bennett-Farms Threat Gigi who has three records in excess of 20,000 pounds of milk and was classified EX-91.

David Rama, agent, also purchased the second highest selling animal, Redview Enhancer Anne-Red, for $3,000. This October calf, consigned by John W. Long, Wadsworth, OH, is also a Glenafton Enhancer daughter. Her dam has a lifetime record of 110,250 pounds of milk and classified VG-85.

Brook-Twain Mag Rosie-Red-ET drew the price of $2,500 to come in third in the bidding. This yearling was consigned by Walter E. Brooks, Springville and sold to D. Ellis and Daisy M. Dix, Mount Pleasant. This double registered calf is the offspring of Vigo Magnetize-Red and Pinelee Rascal Rabbit-Red.

Rounding out the top four selling animals was the Canadian consignment, Continental C Crimson, which brought the price of $2,450. This five year old was purchased by partners Paul Whittington, Sabina, OH and Robert Feldwisch, New Knoxville, OH.

"Crimson" was consigned by Bringholm Farm, Ontario and sired by Romandale Crusader. She is bred to the excellent bull C Ingholm Artic and is maternal sister to the All-American and All-Canadian cow, Continental Scarlet-Red.

An agent from Ecuador purchased the highest volume with 13 head. These animals will be sent to Ecuador to meet the growing interest in Red and White Dairy Cattle there.

The sale total was $98,575 on 84 head. This averaged out to $1,174. Despite the lower average than last year, many agreed that the quality of the sale was as good or better. This year's sale featured more calves and open heifers. This year's highest price was also approximately $1,000 more than the previous year.

Prior to the start of the sale, donated semen and novelty items were auctioned to benefit the National Building Fund. This auction raised $4,369 to bring the total for the building to $37,000.

A quilt featuring Red and White Dairy Cows was sold to Audet's Holsteins, Orwell, VT for $1,575. This quilt was made and donated by the John Ivan Stoltzfus family, Morgantown.

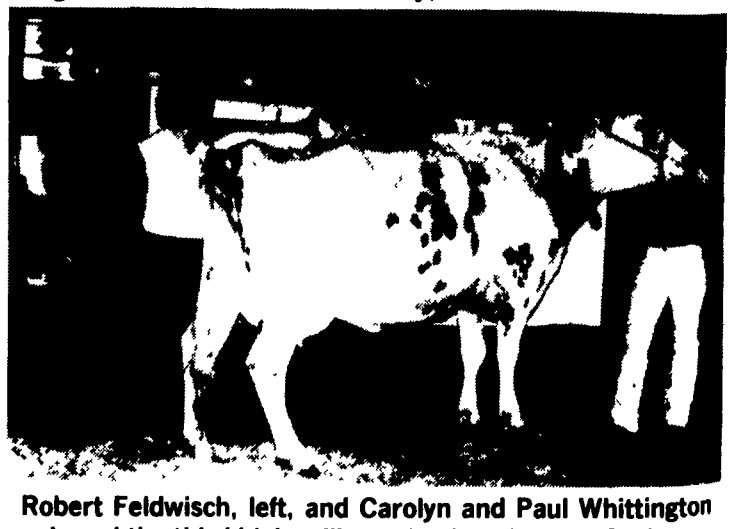
The second highest selling calf was Redview Enhancer Anne-Red. She was purchased by David Rama, left, for $3,000 and consigned by John Long. At the lead is Michael Long. In the booth is Jack Treadway, left and Don Albrecht.



Robert Feldwisch, left, and Carolyn and Paul Whittington purchased the third high selling animal for $2,450. Sitting on the booth are Carrie and Candie Whittingdon. At the lead is Mike McNabb.

Two consignments bring $37,000 at Exclusive V Sale

LANCASTER — The high bid of $37,000 was achieved by two consignments at the Exclusive V Sale held on March 26 at the Guernsery Sales Pavilion.

The first lot sold was also the first consignment to garner this top bid. This entry provided the bidder with a choice of males from the flush in early May from the mating of Sweet-Haven Tradition and Long-Haven Valiant Sally.

This embryo was sold using a large screen a slide projector for the bidders to view the heritage of the unborn bull. The buyer, the Sally Exclusive Syndicate, has this embryo leased to Tri-State where it will enter their young sire program. The consignor of this lot was Long-Haven Farm, Clayton, Michigan.

It was no surprise when Walnut-S Bell Pillow Bella also walked away with the top bid of the day. It was just a matter of who would survive the fast and furious bidding. Thomas Piersiak, Brooks, Maine, took home this gem with for the price of $37,000.

This very good classified four year old and 22,000 pound cow carries a special guarantee of 10 transferrable embryos within two years from sale date. Horace Backus, pedigreeman, described this cow, as she walked around the ring, as "the perfect opportunity to get into the number's game."

When interviewed later, Piersiak admitted that was his reason for purchasing this cow. He further stated that traveled from Miane because, "I came to buy her." She will travel back to Maine with him and join his other 50 cows on Piersiak Farms.

This cow is the homebred consignment of Walnut Hill Dairy, Inc. owned by H. Curtis and Howard Scott. She is the result of the mating between Carlin-M Ivanhoe Bell and Rayfay Parka Nugget Pillow. "Bella" also carries a calf from Air-Osa Oak Quick Shot.

The second highest bid, $22,000 went to the female version of the entry which garnered the first price and tied for the high bid of the sale. The three way partnership of George Knight, Airville; Michael Weimer, Harrisburg; and Barry Hostetter, Oxford.

Embryos dominated the high bidding. The choice of females from the mating between Whittier-Farms Ned Boy and Plushanski Valiant Fran-ET garnered the third high bid of $17,000 for fourth place in among the high consignments.

This entry provides the buyer, Harry Mosholder, Rockwood, PA, with his choice of females from seven pregnancies due on April 9, 1986. The dam of these embryos is classified excellent and has the fourth best CTPI (plus 1035) of the breed in the country. She also produced a 36,920 pounds of milk and 4.1 percent fat record in her most recent lactation.

This combined Exclusive and Garden Spot Sale grossed $412,000 on 130 head for an average of $3,169.23. The first 50 animals to enter the show ring averaged $6,076. Nine embryos that were sold in this sale averaged $11,400.

This sale was managed by Backus Associates.

Foreclosed farmers may lease back their homes

WASHINGTON — Farmers Home Administration borrowers who have had to leave their farms for financial reasons may be able to retain their homes, FmHA Administrator Vance Clark announced.

Under the dwelling retention (homestead) program, a farm home acquired by FmHA through voluntary conveyance, foreclosure or bankruptcy proceedings can be leased back, under certain conditions, to the former owner with an option to purchase.

A former FmHA borrower can apply to FmHA to lease the farm house and "a reasonable amount of land", usually about five acres, for up to five years with an option to purchase when he or she is financially able. The former owner must have sufficient income to make rental payments and to maintain the property in good condition.

To be eligible for the program, a farmer also must show that in at least two out of the last five years, gross farm income amounted to $40,000 or more and that 60 percent of family income came from the farm operation.

Additional details of the dwelling retention program are available in the March 18 Federal Register.

Mike Young urges Blair Holstein Breeders to use all resources

BY BETSY STITT
Staff Correspondent

WILLIAMSBURG — Blair County Holstein breeders met at the Williamsburg School March 6 for their annual banquet.

Featured speaker for the evening was Mike Young, director of promotion for Holstein World. Young said 1986 will be a year of decisions, one of which farmers have already had to make — to participate in the dairy herd buyout program.

Some other decisions dairymen may face is whether to register calves or not. The National Holstein Association reported that registrations are down 20 percent.

A Holstein breeder himself, Young said he would not want to risk missing a good calf by not registering her because her dam wasn't at the top of the herd.

Still another decision is whether to classify every seven or 14 months. Young spoke out in support of the seven-month option. He said he believes that to get out and stay out of the current economic situation Holstein breeders must use all tools available to them.

Young also urged breeders to pay more attention to the amount of protein when selecting bulls. Although some dairymen are not being paid for protein now, in three to five years, they will be. And, he continued, if they choose bulls with high protein now, it will pay for itself later.

Young noted that although he doesn't see droves of new Holstein breeders in the United States, he does see foreign markets opening up.

Ken Diebold and Jennifer Frederick are Blair County's Outstanding Junior Holstein members.

Following Young's speech, the association selected the following new directors: Martin Brumbaugh, Tom Kelly, Max Smith and Randy Huntsman.

Blair County dairy princess Sheila Biddle reported on her activities, which have included talking to 90 school groups.

Ken Raney from the state association offered an update on state activities and reminded everyone that the June issue of "Profiles" will be taken to the National Holstein Convention. He also reported that Tom Kelly, state director from Blair County, was selected to represent Pennsylvania on the national board of directors.

The Blair County club presented memberships to the five high schools and donated trophies to the dairy show. They also toured Lancaster County and donated funds to the Dairy Promotion Committee to purchase T-shirts for local T-ball teams.

Judy Black, youth director, presented awards to outstanding junior members. In the milk and fat contest two-year-old competition had Miriam Kelly in first in both milk and fat; Susanne Kelly was second in milk and fat. Susanne was also first in the three year olds, while Dan Smith was second. Doug Smith was second for fat.

Four-year-old competition ended with Susanne Kelly first in both milk and fat, while Kevin Diebold was second in both categories.

Alice Smith was first in the five year olds for fat and Kevin Diebold was second. Karen Diebold was first in the milk contest and Susanne Kelly, second.

Jennifer Frederick, a member of the Morrisons Cove 4-H Dairy Club, was named outstanding junior Holstein member in the junior division. Senior division winner was Ken Diebold, a member of the Warriors Mark FFA and Sinking Valley 4-H Dairy Club.

Farm Bill meeting set at Penn State

STATE COLLEGE — Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Richard Grubb, agricultural leaders and Penn State faculty will present a panel discussion on the 1985 Farm Bill in room 112 Kern at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, April 1. The coffeehouse is sponsored by Ag Student Council and the public is invited to attend.

Other guest speakers include Charles Wismer, State Grange Master, Gene Thompson, Pennsylvania Executive Director of the USDA Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Jill Findeis, assistant professor of agricultural economics, and Milton Hallberg, professor of agricultural economics, who will moderate the discussion.

Dr. Grubb will discuss the impact of the farm bill on Pennsylvania agriculture, and Wismer, a dairy farmer and state lobbyist for the State Grange, will address the development of the bill and the Grange position on it. Thompson will present USDA's position and discuss how the bill will be implemented in Pennsylvania. Findeis will discuss the economic implications of the bill.

A question-and-answer period will follow the discussion and the audience is invited to stay for refreshments after the presentations. For more information, contact Deb Price, coffeehouse chair at 237-1337 or Ernest Bergman, faculty advisor at Ag Student Council at 863-2303.

Farm vacations could bring needed income

BY
DR. GEORGE F.W. HAENLEIN
University of Delaware

These are tough days! The government tells us there are too many dairy farmers in the country. There is too much milk produced, too much corn grown, beef prices are down, red meat is in surplus. Even gasoline prices are coming down, which means burning manure into biogas and corn into ethanol is not economically attractive. What can a farmer do besides shoot himself? Plenty!

Many of our farmers are sitting on choice land like the scenic Susquehanna shores around Nottingham and Wrightsville, along the Bohemia River and the inlets of the Delaware and Chesapeake Bays. Many of our farms have old, historically interesting farm houses. In many cases all it would take is a paint brush to get these delapidated clapboards spruced up, and a few flowers planted around the house.

In other cases it would take a little more carpentry repair and landscaping to become attractive. However, the historical societies in this area and on the federal level have programs of financial support for historically iinteresting houses to preserve them and to get them back into shape.

Many of our farm houses are at least 100 years old, (I know, I live in one, and am surrounded by several) and then qualify for support from historical registry.

Of course, this is not a panacea for everybody. It requires an outgoing attitude of wanting to work with people and not being angry at trivial details and impatient. However, being a dairy farmer is an excellent opportunity of acquiring patience with cantakerous cows, stubborn calves and other tempermental animal behavior challenges during milking, feeding and breeding.

Also, Eastern Milk Producers Cooperative has award programs for "Farm Beautification", a good step in this direction of enabling side income from vacation on the farm or similar ideas. In Wisconsin, along a major highway I saw an attractive farmstead converted to a petting zoo with young farm animals and a big sign visible from fary saying "Old McDonald Had a Farm"!

Some of our farms could look just as attractive as those in Switzerland, Austria and Germany that everybody raves about and spends thousands of dollars annually to see. Why don't we copy their ideas — old ideas, I'll admit — and have a pretty looking farm house outside and inside with attractive, well-kept pastures around the house.

With clean, well-tended cows, sheep, horses, goats, ducks, geese and the like, and a horse team working some fields around the house, wouldn't that get the cameras clicking!

Our brothers and sisters from the city would love to see that and come from far, as they already do in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania. It is possible to introduce some of this nostalgia throughout the region especially along its many scenic shores?

On my farm tours of Europe we see such scenes every year. Why not here too? Why not promote vacations on the farm as an old idea for new farm income?

Such enterprises could bring direct sales income to the farm from bed and breakfast accomodations, pony rides, perhaps dude ranching for reducing diets, and simple soul recharge from plain country living and fresh country air.

One of my silent and last wishes is to be invited back to an old-fashioned farm for a vacation where I can work again with horse teams like I did when I grew up on a small farm in Germany, walking barefooted behind a single plow in the furrow when hilling potatoes.

Work down by the stress of modern society and fast technology, today many of us yearn to go back to nature, to the plain and simple life. Why can't some of our hard-pressed farms provide this opportunity, turning it into a new source of income?

Our farms aren't just here to produce food! They offer a way of life as well. Put some fields back into pasture, convert some tractors back to horse teams, let some cows graze out there again — maybe with some other livestock, too — instead of keeping them standing in those muddy barn yards.

It will be attractive and the economics of reduced cash outlays plus new tourist income from renting rooms might just make economic sense. It does in Switzerland and Austria, why not here? Perhaps the time is right to bring back some good old ideas.

Show-Ease earns Badger sales honors

Murry A. Thorndycraft, left, president of Badger Northland, Inc., congratulates Carolyn and John Kreider Jr. of Show-Ease Badger, Lancaster, after the firm won the 1985 President's Club, Liquid Manure Systems and Solid Manure Systems Awards at Badger's 1985 National Dealer Convention held recently at Kaukauna, WI. The local firm was recognized for its outstanding sales achievement by finishing among the top ten dealers in sales for the year.

Budget approved by Dairy Board

The National Dairy Board approved its budget for the 1987 fiscal year, May 1, 1986 to April 30, 1987, at its recent meeting in Portland, Oregon, March 13-14.

Revenue is expected to total $80.8 million. This is about $2 million less than in 1986, due to the anticipated effect of the whole-herd buyout.

Advertising and sales promotion was allocated $60.3 million; nutrition research and education, $8.6 million; and product research and development, $4.6 million.

The industry communications and public relations budget was set at $700,000, and the Board's new Export and Military Sales enhancement program was allocated $100,000.

The Board is also throwing considerable resources behind an imaginative new concept: creating Dairy Research Centers at land-grant universities, where physical facilities, dairy operations, equipment and professional faculty will be concentrated. Such Centers will provide a new foundation for the development of infrastructure for educating and training dairy food scientists for industry, academic and public service careers.

The Board will provide approximately $1.5 million a year for the program. It is hoped that Board funds will serve as a catalyst for additional funding. Each Center will receive approximately a third of its funding from the Board with others, including the university and local industry, contributing the remainder.

Requests for proposals for dairy centers will be sent to all land-grant universities in the next several weeks.

Two more product research projects were approved for funding, bringing to 43 the number the Board now supports. They are "Reduction of Cholesterol in Milk by Bacteria," at the University of Minnesota, and "Use of Radiolabelled Milk Proteins to Quantify Thermally-Induced Interactions," at the University of California.

In advertising action, the Board approved the second butter commercial. Due to begin airing in April, the ad features a mother and young son baking a variety of delicious foods with real butter.

Also approved were the first four of 12 print ads for the upcoming year-long non-fat dry milk campaign, which is a cooperative venture between the Board and the members of the American Dry Milk Institute.

The promotion will be aimed at people who buy non-fat dry milk for use in the baking, prepared foods and dairy industries. Print ads will appear in trade publications targeted to non-fat dry milk buyers. The Board is spending $160,000; the Dry Milk Institute, $95,000.

Finally, the entire Board toured the facilities of the Oregon Health Sciences University, home to several Board-supported researchers, including Dr. David McCarron.

Dr. McCarron is the nation's premier researcher into the relationship between calcium and hypertension. He gave the Board members an update on his work and a first-hand look at the laboratories and physical plant behind his work.

Grange head calls for increased farm exports

WASHINGTON, D.C. – In a strongly worded statement here before the House Ways and Means Committee, national farm leader, Edward Andersen called for Congress to reinforce efforts to deal with "unfair trade practices that are damaging farm export markets."

Andersen, Master of the National Grange, pointed to the sharp decline of agricultural exports between 1981 and 1985 (from $44 billion to $31 billion) as a trend that must be reversed. He said, "the failures and foreclosures of so many American farms are bringing distress and economic disaster to rural areas all across the country and that relief is badly needed for these critical trade problems."

Andersen recommended a new round of multilateral negotiations under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) with provisions that agriculture be a high priority element. He said a meaningful export subsidy code, workable dispute settlement procedures and provisions for compliance are goals which a new trade round should achieve. He also said there should be a concurrent effort to deal with the instability and other shortcomings of the international monetary system.

"Relief under Section 301 of the Trade Act of 1974 has not been satisfactory," said Andersen, "and it should be strengthened in a way to bring about benefits rather than risk of retaliation."

Andersen asked the Committee for strong Congressional support to see that actions of the European Community do not violate international agreements at the expense of American farm exports to Spain and Portugal during their accession to the Community. He expressed concern regarding trade problems in steel, textiles, automobiles and other sectors which might affect farm export opportunities.

In conclusion, Andersen encouraged continuous consultation between trade negotiators, Congress and the private sector in order to obtain maximum benefits for all who are affected by trade policies and practices.

Grange holds D.C. tour

HARRISBURG – A total of 47 Grange members went to Washington, D.C. last week to lobby for the organization's legislative agenda.

The excursion marked the seventh annual bus trip to the U.S. capitol city. The main purpose behind this trip was to improve legislative relations between the Grange and its Congressional delegation.

Issues focused on were Gramm-Rudman, tax reform, relicensing of hydroelectric projects by federal government, trade issues, and strengthening the poultry section of the Packers and Stockyards Act.

"This trip is a great opportunity for us to voice our concerns and be heard," said Brenda Shambaugh, PA State Grange Legislative Director.

A tour of the National Geographic Society and the Pentagon were scheduled. In addtion, the Grangers had the opportunity to visit with USDA officials, both U.S. Senators, and their Congressman.

Pleasure horse clinic slated

QUAKERTOWN – The Pennsylvania Pleasure Walking Horse Association will sponsor a clinic to be held near Quakertown on April 4 and 5.

The clinic will focus on improving the gait of horses, and each horse and rider will receive individual analysis following video taping. The clinic will be conducted by H. T. Derickson of Stanton, Kentucky.

Cost of the clinic is $20 per person or per family. For more information call 215-267-7311 or 215-794-5854.

Brockett's Ag Advice

By John E. Brockett
Farm Management Agent
Lewistown Extension Office

THINK!

Farmers are inherently ingenious people. They can usually devise all types of things to make work easier, do an impossible job, or beat the system. I wish a good farmer or two or three would come up with a way to painlessly help a person think things through.

If farmers would spend as much time and effort thinking about financial management as they do about developing that nifty gimmick, there would be no farmers in trouble.

I have always admired the farmer who is enough of an engineer to send ideas into farm magazines. Many of the ideas should be patented because they are so practical and take quite a lot of thought and trial and error.

If I could only find a way to harness that tremendous creativity. I would then throw out all of the management stuff from the colleges and think tanks. I would start from scratch and get those creative farmers to develop a record system that was foolproof, easy, practical, and usable.

Then I would challenge them to develop a system to analyze the information from those records. They could do it, too.

Finally, I would beg them to come up with a way to use those records and analysis to project "what would happen if—" This last item would probably cause them the most trouble because of the imponderables in our imperfect society. Even so I would have confidence that they would reach that goal, too.

There is nothing that farmers cannot do if they really put their minds to it. That is why this country has the best farmers in the world.

If you are a farmer, you also have the capability to think and think constructively. It does not take a college education to be a thinker. It is not necessary to have a PhD to be a profound thinker. You do not have to have a lot of spare time to be a thinker.

You do have to have the desire to improve, to change for the better, to make something work, or to develop something that others have said was impossible. All of these things farmers have been doing since this country of ours was settled by free farmers who had to "make do" with whatever there was available.

No one ever promised those farmers a free lunch. They made their management decisions the old fashioned way – they worked them out or starved.

Would Quotas Work?

Every time we have economic problems, some people bring up the idea of having quotas. This occurred back in the 50s and 60s. It is happening again today.

Those who already have a high base of course are the most in favor of a quota. Unfortunately there are a lot of questions that would have to be answered.

- Who would own the quota base? The individual or the farm or the county or the state?
- Who would set the value of that quota in the event it was sold?
- How would the base be set? The same for everyone, historical production for the farm or individual, amount per county or state to be divided among active farmers.
- What about price of product? Using cost of production or price the market would pay or an annual negotiated price.
- If cost of production, whose cost would be used and what factors should be figured into that cost? Using an average cost of production would mean some people would still be operating at a loss. Should they be subsidized? By whom? You or general tax revenues (which include you).
- Would anything prevent you from being bought up by one or two syndicates and then moved to another area or state? It takes a certain amount of farm business in an area to maintain farm service and supply businesses.
- What if a farmer was in a deficit area and was offered a higher price for an unlimited amount of the product upon which there was a quota? Who would rule on whether he or she could sell that product.?

Dauphin benefit auction scheduled Apr. 5

HARRISBURG – The Gratz Fairgrounds will be the location of the Second Annual Ag Center Consignment Auction on Saturday, April 5. The auction will benefit the future Dauphin County Agriculture and Natural Resources Center that will be located near the intersection of Routes 225 and 325 in Middle Paxton Township.

Commitments from anyone interested in donating or consigning farm equipment, new and used tools, lumber, household goods, lawn and garden equipment, antiques and collectables are now being accepted.

Those interested in donating items should contact the Dauphin County Conservation District, 558-1090, or the Cooperative Extension, 652-8460.

LCCD honors soil, water conservationists

BRICKERVILLE — The Lancaster County Conservation District honored area farmers as well as some of its own outgoing board members at the organization's 35th annual dinner meeting held at the Brickerville Fire Hall on Mar. 21.

Highlighting the evening was the introduction of the district's Outstanding Cooperator, James G. Kreider, of Shady Birch Farm, East Drumore Township. Kreider, who farms a total of 400 acres in partnership with his son, Tom, has installed an extensive system of terraces, waterways and tile drainage since signing with the Lancaster District in 1966. (The Kreider operation was featured in the Mar. 15 issue of Lancaster Farming.)

The district also recognized two farmers for their application of conservation tillage practices. Receiving no-till awards were Christian Smucker of Caenarvon Township and Martin Greenleaf Jr., of Colerain Township.

During 1985, Smucker converted his entire farm to contour farming and no-till corn planting. He has also installed nearly 2,000 feet of pipe outlet terraces, 1,400 feet of waterways, and has installed a manure storage structure.

Greenleaf applies no-till practices to his entire 800 acres of cropland, and has installed more than half a mile of terraces. He was recently named the top southeastern Pennsylvania farmer over 30 by the state Young Farmer's Association.

Two retiring district directors were also honored at the dinner. J Everett Kreider was recognized for 20 years of service, and Robert K. Mowrer was honored for his 18 years as a director.

Each year the Lancaster District, along with the Federated Sportsmen of Lancaster County, sponsors a week-long Youth Conservation School for students 14 to 16 years old. The school is staffed by two directors and 12 counselors, who provide ap proximately 30 students with hands-on training in a variety of conservation topics. Two counselors were cited for outstanding service to the school during the Friday night dinner.

Lowell Graybill of Bowmansville has served as a counselor since 1980, and Tracy McCoy has been with the school since its inception in 1979. Last year both counselors were promoted to newly created positions as assistant directors.

Also honored at the dinner was Soil Conservation Service retiree, George H. Rohrer, who recently retired from SCS with 33 years of service.

Goat seminar

LEESPORT — A goat seminar is scheduled for April 19 at the Berks County Agricultural Center. This seminar will focus on water quality, external parasites and mastitis.

Goat owners face many problems managing their animals. Mastitis and external parasites annually cause serious concerns to goatherders. Many do not understand these problems, do not recognize them, and have difficulty preventing and treating them. Dr. Mary Smith, Assistant Professor, Cornell University, and a world renowned expert on goats, will speak on this subject.

The cost of the seminar is $6.00 without lunch and $10.00 with lunch. Registrations can be sent to Clyde Myers, Berks County Ag Center, P.O. Box 520, Leesport, PA 19533, or contact Sharon Shearer, Berks Goatherders, at 215-689-5949.

Conservation directors urge ag assessment changes

BY BARBARA MILLER
Staff Correspondent

WILLIAMSPORT — Two resolutions concerning changes needed in calculating land use-values for the Clean and Green Program were passed recently at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Association of Conservation District Directors, Inc. at the Genetti-Lycoming Hotel in Williamsport.

Any chage in use-values could have far reaching implications for state landowners participating in the Clean and Green Assessment Program.

A resolution was approved that PACDD would work with State Department of Agriculture to update the use - values of the Clean and Green Program during the soil resources committee meeting. Next, the committee voted to endorse a letter written by Dauphin County Board of Directors to Secretary Grubb on February 27. The letter cited two errors presently being made by PDA in calculating use - values which, combined, approximately double the use - values distributed statewide. Ways to remedy the situation were suggested.

According to the letter, one error lies in PDA's current use of a 15 percent ratio (based on September 1976 data) to compare net farm income to gross farm income. Given current conditions, it is estimated that this ratio should not be higher than seven percent.

Additionally, the capitalization rate used by PDA is 10 percent. Given current conditions, it is estimated that this figure should be between 13 and 17 percent.

The letter suggested PDA re-evaluate and change the net to gross farm income ratio and the capitalization rate. It advised the necessary staffing adjustment be made to enable the Bureau of Agricultural Development to properly administer the program from a technical and administrative standpoint. Regular updating of figures used by the Clean and Green Program was also suggested.

The meeting was chaired by Russ Cassel of Dauphin County Conservation District who recently lost an appeal with the Dauphin County Board of Assessment concerning his 290-acre dairy farm in South Hanover Township. He challenged the county Board of Assessment's 1985 reassessment, which, in effect, simply doubled 1973 assessment of all real estate in the county. He plans to appeal the decision in county court.

Cassel discussed a meeting on February 14, in which he and Dave Ball, District Manager of DCCD, met with Fred Wertz, Bureau of Agriculture Development and Patricia Weiss, PACDD, and a representative of Sen. Helfrick's office to discuss the methodology that PDA uses in computing use-values of farmland. At the meeting they were informed by Wertz that a flaw had already been uncovered in PDA's method of computing use-values. It was discovered by Carol Breon, a math teacher from Clinton County.

Mrs. Breon, who was present at the committee meeting, said she is scheduled to reappear in court on March 24 in a case similar to Cassel's pertaining to reassessment and implementation of the Clean and Green Program.

Ball explained how PDA computes the use-values of farmland under the Clean and Green Program. Essentially, he said, the Clean and Green Program allows less taxes paid to the county by farmers. Counties may or may not choose to use PDA use-values, according to Ball. Some counties use the use-values verbatim and some use them as a guide, but either way, he observed, "It is an important piece of paper that PDA sends out."

After computing land use-values based on current PDA Clean and Green figures and then computing values based on more "realistic" figures, Ball concluded, "PDA is artificially doubling use-values going out to the counties. "PDA knows this but doesn't want to do anything about it."

Cassel noted it was not in PDA's budget to refigure use-values until 1990, but if pressured, the department will.

Ball predicts the Clean and Green reassessment figures will eventually be updated. "It's the only widely used agricultural retention program in the state," he added, "That's why it is so significant."

BAD WATER

A special monitorillonite mineral is excellent for livestock health and high somatic cell count. It draws toxins and purifies the system. We have a top line "Aquarius" water purification systems for house or barn. We are underselling competition for the barns. Water is getting worse fast and is one cause of cow problems.

Go organic in the fields and help reduce the water problem. It is an obligation to help the neighborhood water. We are beating the chemical fertilized crops anyway. There is no excuse. One in Lebanon County had 250 bu. corn per acre and 29% protein hay. And our customer's crops have more nutrition and more bug and disease resistance.

Health Starts From The Soil

Another had 300 bu. corn per acre in 1982 and one had more than twice the yield of soybeans in a side by side test. There is much to be gained by changing. It's ag progress, rightly so called. Man is not as smart or wise as his creator, who knows what is best in the long run. Nature gives multiple advantages, not alone just the biggest plants.

We do soil testing for $10, refundable with fertilizer order. A $25 test gives over 2 doz. readouts. Our NEMA program is really catching on by the progressive farmers. We help them survive with a better bottom line - the income minus the expense.

Ask for literature. Be specific about your problem and interest - whether animals, water or soil. We have the answers.

State Distinguished Junior Holstein Member

Luke Bowser looks toward bright future in dairying

BY BETSY STITT
Staff Correspondent

NEW ENTERPRISE — The hard work and long hours needed to put together a Junior Holstein Member Scrapbook was worth the effort for Luke Bowser, who was recently named the State Distinguished Junior Holstein Member at the state convention.

Luke is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bowser, who live on a farm in New Enterprise along with their 55-cow dairy herd. Growing up and working with his parents around the farm sparked an interest and helped Luke decide to become a Holstein breeder.

Luke currently owns 24 dairy animals, which have a rolling herd average of 16,500 pounds of milk. Although he likes them all, Singing Brook Pete Billie A is probably his favorite. Using her and her dam, Luke is hoping to build up his herd.

Luke also owns a quarter interest in a Troy daughter with Bill Petit of Huff and Puff. A two-year-old, she is scored 87. They have several contracts on her and they may pursue an embryo interest.

In outlining his responsibilities on the farm, Luke said. "I do a little bit of everything, but my main job is caring for the dairy herd." He works closely with the feed mill to maximize production. Through a program called Extra-Factors, the mill tests the forage and then tailors the grain ration, which is fed according to production. Luke said they top dress the high producers' rations with soybean meal.

Luke and Julia look over the Bowser herd, their future in the dairy industry.

Luke Bowser and his wife, Julia, look over the scrapbook that won in the state contest.

Luke also makes the breeding decisions. He said he likes to breed with bulls that will make something good on the first generation. Some of the bulls he is currently using are Star Wars, Tempo and Elevation.

Luke is beginning to pay more attention to protein production when selecting bulls. Although his milk company is not yet paying for protein, Luke thinks they will be in three to five years and by then he will have his cattle producing more protein.

Playing the numbers game is something Luke shies away from. "I chose bulls to improve my cows in both type and production, not by their numbers," he said.

He does not understand why for so long the Holstein industry bred cows for function and longevity and made great progress and now looks only at numbers. Luke thinks that this could slow progress.

Luke likes fancy cows that last. "Cows that last 10 to 12 years are going to pay more bills," he said.

One of Luke's goals is to breed the first 100 point cow. Other goals include having a 20,000 pound herd average with a 4.3 test, because he thinks butterfat is going to become more important. He would also like to have a comfort stall barn with computer feeders and a smaller herd of 45 to 50 really good cows.

Luke has been an avid showman for a number of years. He is a member of the Morrison's Cove 4-H Dairy Club and the Northern Bedford FFA. Between the two clubs, he said, he has become addicted to showing.

Even when he is too old for these groups, Luke said he plans to continue showing. One of his goals, he noted, is to "win big" at the National Shows.

Luke was a member of the 4-H judging team, which he credits for helping him to recognize good cows. The knowledge he gained as a team member also helps in the merchandising business, which he has recently become active in. Luke said it is a little hard to sell an animal, but he is getting used to it and has been able to buy better animals with the funds he received from selling.

Luke has mixed feelings about selling cattle to foreign countries. "It is a big market with a lot of potential," he said, "but I would sooner be sending them our dairy products."

In talking about the current dairy situation, Luke has doubts about the herd buyout program. However, he said, he thinks a quota system would work. He also

Grubb thanks legislature for quick disease action

HARRISBURG – State Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Grubb has commended for Pennsylvania House and Senate Appropriations Committees for quickly approving funds sought by the Department and Thornburgh administration to aid poultry and swine industries.

Requested was a $1.125 million supplemental appropriation to eradicated avian influenza in poultry flocks and control pseudorabies in swine herds. The diseases can kill poultry and livestock but do not harm humans.

"The funding we requested is sufficient to cover all appropriate expenses, to pay for the actions we've taken and have planned," Grubb said.

The money will be used to indemnify owners of poultry flocks and products destroyed to stop the latest outbreak of influenza and to offer hog producers incentives to voluntarily slaughter infected herds.

Quick action by the Department and administration in dealing with the latest avian influenza flareup "has put an early stop to its spread," Grubb said. "We have not found an infected flock in Pennsylvania in more than a month."

The disease has been contained in Pennsylvania at an estimated cost to date of about $520,000. This does not include cleaning and disinfecting poultry buildings and equipment after flocks are destroyed.

"Cleaning and disinfecting outlays are part of the ongoing cost of doing business," Grubb said. "Such sanitary measures are essential in trying to prevent influenza outbreaks. It is appropriate that these expenses be borne by the poultry owners and industry as part of our cooperative effort."

The Department proposes to tie future indemnity payments to strict adherence to regulations designed to prevent outbreaks of animal diseases.

With quick approval of the funding by the General Assembly, "we can further protect two important segments of the state's number one industry," Grubb said.

Luke Bowser

believes some of the milk surplus may be caused by distribution problems.

But promotion is helping alleviate the surplus, he noted. "It works for pop and it will work for milk."

Luke said that if the opportunity had not been open for him to farm with his father, he would probably be a herdsman. He did not get a college education, but believes the experience he has will be more beneficial. To continue his education, Luke is attending computer classes and will travel to Graham School later this year.

Luke's wife, Julia, is another asset to his farming career. She was an exchange student from Peru and they met in high school.

Although she had no farming experience, she likes the farm and all that goes with it. One of her favorite jobs is naming the calves.

She also helped Luke prepare his winning scrapbook for the state contest. Both were surprised that Luke was named distinguished junior member, but they were quite pleased and hope to do as well on the national level.

Scholarship established

GETTYSBURG – A Scholarship Fund has been established in Adams County for the late Arthur Musselman. Arthur was well known throughout the state as a loyal, hard-working poultryman and Pennsylvania Farmers' Association member.

Anyone wishing to donate to this fund should send contributions to Treasurer, Calvin F. Bream, 865 Carroll's Tract Road, Gettysburg, Pa. 17325. Phone 717-642-8471.

The proceeds from this fund will be given to students seeking a career in agriculture or agribusiness.

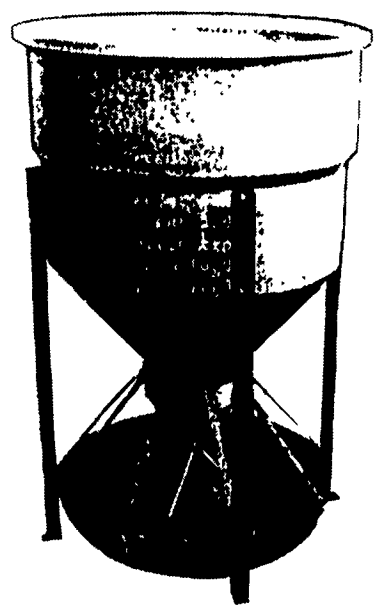
CORN CONVERTER HOG FEEDERS

FOR EVERY CONFINEMENT OPERATION



An innovative, new hog feeding system that is designed for todays demanding market.

Affordable, simple, long lasting quality materials, with feed savings second to none.

Recent research has demonstrated that hogs do not purposely waste feed. Feed wastage is a result of poor feeder design. Given the opportunity, hogs will eat in a neat and orderly fashion. Most feeders have a flat bottom trough where the hog has to hunt and root for fresh feed. In their attempt to get to fresh feed they are forced to move a paddle which dumps more feed into the trough. Often this is dumped on their face or nose to be thrown or taken from the feeder when they leave.

NOT SO WITH THE CORN CONVERTER

The unique design of the corn converter takes advantage of the intelligence of the hog and its desire to eat in a neat and orderly fashion. The smooth, high center cone, and the unobstructed round bottom trough, place all the feed where the hog can reach it comfortably. When this small quanitity of feed is consumed, the hog makes a decision to reach up and move a lever dispensing more feed. As the animal sees the feed pass under its mouth it returns to the eating area, to consume the fresh feed, never leaving more than a small amount in the trough.

York Adams Calfarama Sale topped Bell daughter at $1,400

BY JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK — A November daughter of Air-Osa Oak Quick Shot topped the Adams-York Calfarama sale, held recently at the York Fairgrounds.

Kit-Way Quick Shot Lady commanded the winning bid of $1,400, selling to Maryland Holstein breeder Marlin Hoff of New Windsor. She was bred and consigned by Wayne and Susan Reeder, of Kit-Way Farm, Abbottstown.

Dam of the typey heifer is a VG-85 Bell daughter, with three-year-old milk records to 22,545 milk, 904 fat, with a 4 percent test. The second dam is a 3-E daughter of Transmitter, with lifetime credits at 181,000 milk and at 6,000 fat. Third dam is EX-4E, sired by Kingpin, and carries life credits over 222,500 milk and 8,100 fat.

Glen Rock 4-H'er Downa Doll claimed the second and third high selling Calfarama consignments, both by S-W-D Valiant.

Gallantry Valiant Wisteria, consigned by Jim and Holly McCaffree of Delta, brought the winning second high bid of $1,175. A bred heifer, she carries a calf by Whittier Farms Ned Boy, and is from a VG-87 Marvex dam with a 4.2 fat test and records over 21,600 milk and 900 fat. Second dam is a VG-87 Gay Ideal and the third dam is of Ivanhoe breeding.

Ms. Doll's second Valiant purchase was the consignment of Weim Sharr Farms of New Oxford. The September-born Pen-Col Valiant Noreen brought a $1,060 final bid. Her dam is by Conductor, with three-year credits of over 25,000 milk and 914 fat, with a 3.5 protein test. Second dam 92-2E, also a 23,000 plus producer is by Kingpin.

Fourth high went to a 4-H'er as well. Scott Barr, of Airville, purchased Kerchenhill CC Jenny 3 from consignor Raymond Seidel, Kutztown, for $1,020. Sired by Board Chairman, she's from a Kingpin with records over 23,000 milk and 913 fat.

Sale average on the 44 head was $542.61.

Huntingdon Holstein Club honors youth, veterans

BY BETSY STITT

ALEXANDRIA — Honors went to industry veterans as well as junior members as the Huntingdon County Holstein Club gathered recently for its annual meeting.

Kermit Laney, owner of Laney's Feed Mill for 50 years, was honored for his outstanding contributions to agriculture. A member of the board of Penn Central Bank, he has also served on the Huntingdon County Fair Board, holding the office of president for the last 22 years.

Top production awards went to Edwin Steach, whose herd was best in the county for both milk and fat, with 22,331 pounds of production and 806 pounds of fat.

A cow from Gillbrook Farms was first in the individual records, with 31,582 pounds of milk and 1,130 pounds of fat in 305 days.

Lifetime production awards went to a cow from Geo-Ray Holsteins, with 219,214 pounds of milk and 7,745 pounds of fat, in 3,298 days of lactation.

Globe-Run Farms, John Andrew Foster III and Erin Branstetter were recognized for exhibiting top animals at the Huntingdon County Fair and receiving All-Pennsylvania or All-American recognition. Geary Shade Jr. also was honored for showing top performers at the local fair, while Bransdale Farms, Terry Branstetter Jr. and Daland Farms were all recognized for top showings at the state or national level.

The club also gave milk production awards to the following junior members: 2-year-olds: Terry Branstetter Jr., first, E. James McMath, second, and Erin Branstetter, third; 3-year-olds: Erin Branstetter, first, Terry Branstetter Jr., second and third; 4-year-olds: Terry Branstetter; 5-year-olds: Walter Russell, first, and Keith Russell, second.

Winners in butterfat records included: 2-year-olds: E. James McMath, first, Terry Branstetter Jr., second, and Erin Branstetter, third; 3-year-olds: Terry Branstetter Jr., first and second, Erin Branstetter, third; 4-year-olds: Terry Branstetter; 5-year-olds: Walter Russell, first, and Keith Russell, second.

Terry Branstetter Jr. and E. James McMath were recognized for having award winners in the state milk and fat contest.

ADA signs baseball star to ad campaign

SYRACUSE, NY — The baseball season is just beginning, but local dairy farmers are already predicting a winner with Darryl Strawberry as their new spokesperson for milk. Strawberry, all-star right fielder for the New York Mets, was signed to a one-year contract to promote milk during the 1986 season by the American Dairy Association and Dairy Council (ADADC).

ADADC has just received results of consumer research done on a new milk ad developed with Strawberry. Over two-thirds of consumers tested claimed the new commercial would encourage greater milk consumption. The positive response obtained from the research will allow ADADC to air the new campaign with confidence. Ads will go on air the first week of April, coinciding with the opening of baseball season.

The research tested consumers in the New York area through a series of mall interviews. Those interviewed were shown the new ad twice and questioned on their reaction to it. Overall, the Strawberry ad scored well above the norm for food commercials. Two-thirds of the respondents or more judged ADADC's new ad as easy to understand, entertaining, convincing and pleasant. Strawberry emerged as a believable link between milk and its healthy benefits.

Especially significant was the fact that the commercial appears to greatly appeal to the New York audience. ADADC's objective in signing Strawberry was to add a specific New York appeal to the commercials, making consumers in the metropolitan area take notice of the milk ads. The new ads mix the same theme, music and scenes from the national generic milk television ads, interspersed with shots of Strawberry in action.

The television campaign will be supported with bus and subway billboards, featuring Strawberry.

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council is a generic dairy promotion association, funded and directed by dairy farmers from New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania.

Milk contamination found in Southwest

WASHINGTON — In response to the contamination of milk and dairy cattle with the banned pesticide heptachlor, Secretary of Agriculture Richard E. Lyng has dispatched an emergency task force to Arkansas, Missouri and Oklahoma.

The task force will review the problem and recommend action by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Along with our concerns about the public health implications of the heptachlor contamination, we fear its effects on farmers and agriculture," Lyng said. "The economic consequences for dairy farmers could be considerable."

Officials from the Food and Drug Administration and state public health agencies have confirmed the presence of heptachlor in milk from cows raised in the three states. The dairy herds are now under quarantine, the USDA is testing meat from livestock in the area.

Lyng said it appears that the pesticide residues came from feed supplied to dairy farmers in these states by Valley Feeds in Van Buren, Ark. An alcohol fuel plant at Valley Feeds apparently used heptachlor-treated seed grain to manufacture the ethanol used for gasohol. The contamination resulted when the company sold the leftover "mash" as animal feed.

The Environmental Protection Agency banned most of heptachlor's food uses in 1975, after it was found to be a suspected carcinogen. Its approval for use in all seed treatment products was ordered to cease by July 1983, although farmers could continue to buy and use existig stocks.

The task force — to be headed by Michael J. Masterson, special assistant to the Secretary — will include officials from the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food Safety and Inspection Service, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service and other agencies with special expertise.

The task force will begin visiting the affected areas Tuesday, where it will gather data from other federal officials, dairy producers, agricultural leaders, and state and local officials, according to Lyng.

Upon its return next week to Washington, the task force will brief the Secretary on its findings and recommendations.

State's farmers to plant less grain, more hay

HARRISBURG — Pennsylvania farmers intend to plant fewer acres of corn, oats, and all tobacco; more acres of all hay and soybeans; and about the same acreage for barley in 1986, according to the Pennsylvania Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. Intended plantings of corn at 1,740,000 acres will be down two percent from last year's 1,780,000 acres. Oats at 310,000 acres will be down three percent from 320,000 acres while all tobacco at 11,000 acres will be down four percent from the 11,500 planted in 1985.

All hay acreage for harvest in 1986 will be 2,000,000, up one percent from last year's 1,990,000 acres while intended soybean plantings at 185,000 acres will be up six percent from the 175,000 acres planted in 1985. Barley acreage to be planted will total 75,000, unchanged from the previous year.

Farmers in the U.S. intend to plant 78.1 million acres of corn in 1986, down six percent from last year's 83.3 million acres. Oats seedings of 14.44 million acres will be up nine percent from the 1985 planted acreage of 13.27 million. All tobacco acres at 649,000, will decline seven percent from the 701,000 acres planted in 1985.

All hay acreage for harvest will total 60.93 million, up one percent from last year's 60.55 million. Both soybean intentions at 62.0 million and barley at 12.9 million will be down two percent from last year's 63.1 million and 13.1 million respectively.

Data users should be aware that this survey was conducted just before the sign-up period for the 1986 Acreage Reduction Program was completed. Many producers indicated they had not made their final decisions for the 1986 crop year. Actual acreage planted may vary from intentions because of further adjustments to the 1986 Farm Bill, the effects of weather, availability of production inputs, changes in market conditions, and the indications from this report.

Milking Shorthorns Slate Convention

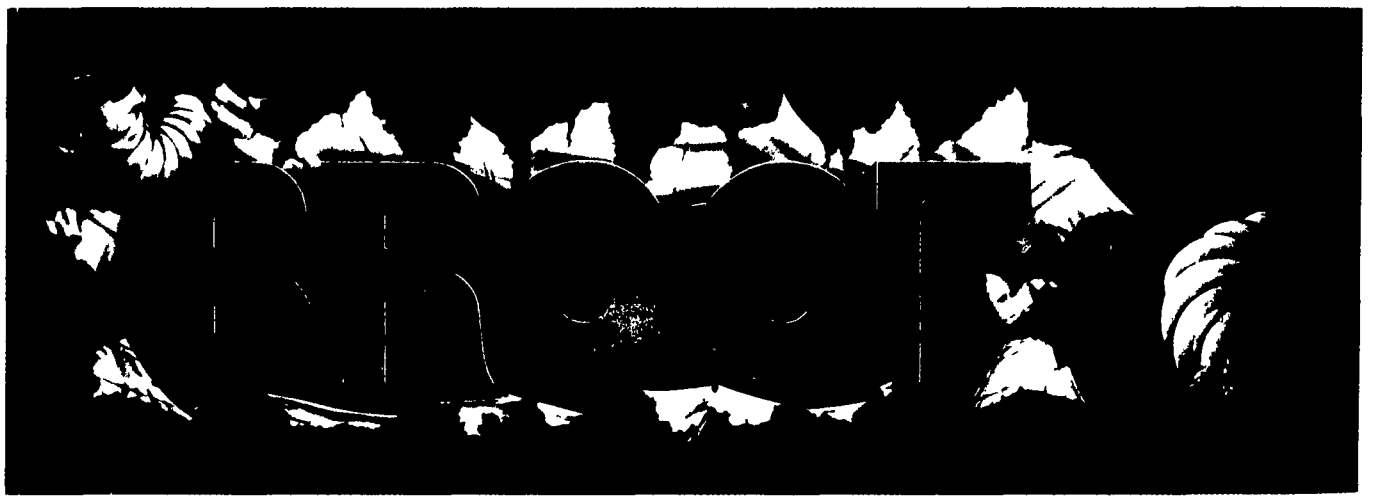
STASBURG — The American Milking Shorthorn Society have announced the agenda for their National Meeting to be held at the Historic Strasburg Inn, Strasburg, April 16 to April 19.

Among the highlights of the meeting for April 17, are a day long Amish farm tour, and a working steer demonstration at the sale barn followed by a barbecue and entertainment.

The annual meeting starts the day off on April 18. This is followed by a juniors tour of Hershey and a Ladies' tour. A panel discussion on genetic expansion and a report on the status of Rosemount are scheduled for the afternoon's agenda.

A social hour, the annual banquet and dance will conclude the activities for the national meeting.

The 1976 National Sale, which set a new standard of professionalism for all subsequent national sales, was held in Lancaster. The 1986 edition returns to continue this tradition. It will feature top quality cattle from across the country and it will be held at the Guernsey Sales Pavilion on April 19 starting at 12:30.



STOPS ROOTWORMS ALL SEASON LONG

When you switch to BROOT™ the unique brand of corn soil insecticide—you put an end to destructive rootworm larvae for the entire season. It's as simple as that.

Because when you put BROOT trimethacarb in the soil, it releases its active ingredient gradually. So, that means BROOT works for you throughout the whole season—to protect your valuable corn from rootworms until you harvest it. And don't worry if you plant early either, because you can depend on BROOT to stand up to those heavy rains and still provide you with long-lasting control.

BROOT is built tough. Tough enough to protect your corn from rootworms all season. Ask us about it and find out why it's the corn soil insecticide you should switch to.

The Dairy Business

By Newton Bair

There has to be some excuse for writing this column, so what better title can I give it than "The Milky Way"? It is about the heavens and the majestic phenomenon that graces the sky on a clear, cold morning. Of course, the Milky Way is only incidental to our other observations, but makes a good point of coincidence to the Dairy business.

We (Priscilla and I) have just returned from an unusual trip that took us Southeast along the coast of South America to the mouth of the Amazon River, and then up that great river for 1000 miles to the inland city of Manous, Brazil. While on the Cruiser on the high seas, we had the unique opportunity to study the heavens, far away from the glow of city lights. The main attraction for this study was Halley's Comet, which is quite spectacular as seen from the Equator.

With four professional Astronomers on board, the heavens became a diamond-studded classroom as well as the most fascinating and beautiful view of the Space that surrounds our planet Earth. For an amateur stargazer like myself, it opened a whole new spectrum of sights that a northerner seldom sees. And some sights can be seen, if we only take the trouble to haul out of our warm beds early enough to see them before the sun rises to block our view.

Halley's Comet was only one of the sights, but since it is a once in a lifetime experience, it remains the brightest. Other soul-stirring sights included the Southern Cross, visible only from south of Latitude 15 degrees north, and Alpha Centauri, the star that is closest to the solar system.

These spectacular objects are not visible in Pennsylvania. Neither is the brilliant Megellianic Cloud, a glowing nebula of heavenly light visible only from south of the Equator. The Milky Way also takes on a new brilliance when seen from the double vantage point of a blacked out ship at sea, plying the waters of the Atlantic Ocean while crossing the equator.

Now lest you are turning slightly envious, and beginning to have regrets at having missed the view of Halley's Comet this time around, it is still visible in southern Pennsylvania. As of this writing, I have observed it as well as tried to photograph it at 4:30 A.M.

It is low in the southeastern sky, slightly above a line drawn from the bright star Vega in the constellation Lyra through another bright star Altair in the constellation Aquilla, the Eagle. It is actually approaching the constellation Sagittarius from the direction of Capricorn. There are no other bright stars near it at this time, to relate to its location. The moon is on the other side of the sun and does not interfere with the view.

Don't expect to see a brilliant display. A good pair of binoculars are necessary. It is easily distinguished from any other body by its size and character. It appears slightly fuzzy, and the tail is still visible, although fading fast as it travels farther away from the sun on its 76-year journey.

It may also be visible in the evening sky an hour after sundown during April. It will be climbing higher above the horizon then, but getting farther away from the earth. Look due south, about ten to twenty degrees above the horizon, in the constellation Scorpius. The sky must be perfectly clear of clouds and haze, and you should be away from the glare of the city lights or even dawn-to-dusk lights that obscure your vision of the sky.

Looking to the Heavens may be one of finding a brighter future, and the Milky Way even gives a significant meaning to the Dairy Business. Heaven knows we need some new insights and inspiration for the industry. Who knows, we might even find some Pie-in-the-Sky!

Quotas A Better Idea

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

WOMELSDORF — A quota system for dairymen is being promoted locally as a better idea. In the past few weeks a growing faction of dairymen have been arguing that the costly herd buyout plan is not the answer to the current dairy dilemma.

Although their idea is too late to the presses to replace the herd buyout, it is being advocated as a type of contingency plan after the initial buyout reduces the surplus.

"We're trying to work a program on what is existing now," states a spokesman for the group "Quota — A Better Idea."

"In Order 4, we already do have a quota system, but we call it base," states the dairyman who is acting as spokesman for the group and wishes to remain anonymous. "One of the reasons it has failed in my opinion is because the price they pay for over-base production is too great to discourage production.

"We can do a quota system without buying and selling quotas. A quota system would discourage people from going into business unless there is a need for it, he explains.

"Too many farmers always want a program where they benefit," the spokesman continues. "We have to have a plan that's fair and equal for everyone."

After the introduction of their plan, these dairymen received many signed petitions and phone calls supporting their ideas. A three-priced dairy plan was formulated and presented to Secretary of Agriculture Richard Grubb and to Senator Gus Yatron's office.

The spokesman is quick to add that there are still wrinkles to iron out of the plan, but was encouraged, by the way it was received by higher officials. According to the spokesman, Grubb said it was too bad the plan wasn't there a year and a half ago. The group was told to present it to as many lobbying groups and farmer groups as possible and gain support throughout the state.

The group urges all interested dairymen and ag groups to call or write with questions and ideas or signify support of the plan.

They call the plan the Pennsylvania Milk Marketing Plan and it is as follows:

Our ag lenders know both sides of your fence.

To be a good ag lender, you have to know farming as well as you know banking. And that's the tough criterion every Commonwealth National ag lender must meet.

Because at Commonwealth, we've always known that south central Pennsylvania can only be as strong as its agricultural economy.

So our commitment to farming continues with our pledge to support the agricultural community in every way possible.

And that means having ag lenders in place throughout our marketing area.

Ag lenders who know both sides of your fence

• United States imports of dairy products would be limited to the current level (less than 3 percent.)
• All dairy farmers would be assigned a monthly production base. The monthly production base would be the average monthly production for the 12 months preceding implementation of the PMMP. The monthly base would be recalculated yearly. New producers would be assigned a monthly base of 40,000 pounds.
• Monthly production bases cannot be bought, sold or assigned to any other producer. Bases could be transferred within the immediate family.
• Juggers would be exempt from the program for the milk produced and sold on their farm. Excess production sold to a dairy processer would be considered the same as milk produced over-monthly production base milk and subject to those regulations.
• Milk prices received by the farmers would be subject to a three-tier pricing structure based on the percent of utilization. This would be — 1. fluid milk parity price, 2. manufacturing parity price, and 3. over-monthly production base milk price. The parity price for both fluid and manufacturing milk would range between 60 and 80 percent parity with manufacturing parity price the lower of the two. Parity prices would be handled in the same manner as federal orders are now. Minimal health standards would still be enforced and butterfat differentials would still be in effect. Individual processers have the option to pay differentials for total solids, protein, etc. A more thorough and fairer price parity system could be achieved by regionalization of parity (no more than 10 regions) and computation of milk parity price specific to the cost within each region.
• Processers whose fluid milk sales exceed its producers base production may, upon certification of sales, pay fluid milk parity price for over-monthly production base milk for that processer's use only.
• Each month that the cumulative CCC purchases of surplus milk for the preceding 12 months is over 4 billion pounds, the CCC purchase price would be at the current world market price and it would remain there until CCC purchases fell below 2.5 billion pounds for the preceding 12 months. Each month that the cumulative CCC purchases of surplus milk was 2.5 billion pounds or less for the preceding 12 months, the CCC purchase price (support price) would shift to the current manufacturing parity price and would remain there until surplus purchases were above 4 billion pounds for the preceding 12 months.
• The producer's over-monthly production base milk would be priced as follows: 1. For each month the cumulative CCC purchases of surplus milk for the preceding 12 months were in excess of 4 billion pounds, the over-monthly production base milk price would drop $2 per hundredweight per month; 2. Each month that the cumulative CCC purchases of surplus milk for preceding 12 months is below 2.5 billion pounds, the over-monthly production base price would incease $2 per hunderedweight. 3. When CCC purchases of surplus milk are between 2.5 and 4.0 billion pounds, the price would remain at the previous month's level, 4. At program initiation over-monthly production base milk price would be zero per hundredweight, 5. The ceiling and floor for the over-monthly production base milk price would be limited to plus or minus the current manufacturing parity price.
• Revenues generated by over-monthly production base milk would be remitted to CCC to offset operation costs.

The group encourages interest. They maintain "here is a better idea. It doesn't change our system very much." The PMMP plan will enable farmers to increase their base in times of surplus at a sacrificing cost to themselves and reward farmers with higher prices when milk is needed.

Farmers with questions and comments can write or call the spokesman at The Better Idea, P.O Box 157, Womelsdorf, PA 19567. Phone is 215-589-5720

Morris attends conference on ag credit

HARRISBURG – Rep. Samuel W. Morris, D-Pottstown, attended a special meeting of the Agriculture and Food Policy Committee of the National Conference of State Legislatures.

Credit availability and agriculture exports were the primary topics of discussion at the Washington, D.C., meeting.

"Various federal administrators sought to assure us that there would be enough credit available to all 'credit worthy' farmers for spring planting," Morris said. "But whether there will really be enough – and just what is meant by 'credit worthy' – remains to be seen. Fortunately, however, the situation in Pennsylvania is not as critical as in the West."

"My previous understanding of the export situation was confirmed," he continued. "Most of our trading partners have erected various kinds of import barriers in the way of foreign farm products, and even if the barriers were not in effect, foreign competitors are currently beating us on price and quality in most commodities."

Speakers on the credit issue included Frank Naylor, a U.S. undersecretary of agriculture who was recently nominated by President Reagan to be chairman of the Farm Credit Administration's new board; Vance Clark, administrator of the Farmers Home Administration; John Downey, Office of the Comptroller of the Currency; Dave Meadows, Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and Bill Mattea, legislative assistant to U.S. Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Illinois.

The export issue was discussed by Thomas Kay, administrator of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Foreign Agriculture Service; John Baize, president of the American Soybean Association; Adrian Hunnings, executive director of Cotton Council International and Leonard Condon, U.S. trade representative.

Morris said he and other members of the Agriculture and Food Policy Committee also participated in a roundtable discussion on state agriculture and food policy initiatives. He said the meeting was attended by state representatives and senators from Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, South Dakota, Kansas, Florida, Ohio, Michigan and Tennessee.

Morris said the committee chairman met with Richard Lyng, the new U.S. Secretary of Agriculture, to seek answers to three questions: What is our fair share of the world agriculture market? How can we get our fair share? What will it cost us?

Lyng agreed to supply answers to those questions as soon as possible, Morris said.

Lancaster farmer's market bustles with Easter activity

BY SALLY BAIR
Staff Correspondent

LANCASTER — The arrival of Easter means increased activity at Lancaster County's farmers' markets. There's lots of fresh flowers, special candy and the enticing array of vegetables which mark the beginning of spring.

The stand operated by Amos M. Barr provides the usual spring vegetables, along with pussy willows, bunched in a wide variety of sizes. Some of the branches are so tall it seems the entire tree must have been trimmed. Even with the Easter holiday arriving early, there was no need to force these furry plants, and the demand on the Tuesday before Easter was brisk.

Another special feature of Barr's stand was the traditional Easter egg, already hard cooked and painted. Jeanette Barr, who operates the stand with her husband, said there is a demand for the painted eggs, and she usually enlists the aid of one of her grandchildren to help create the special effects. The Barrs sell only brown eggs, so the brown shells add a different dimension to many market goers.

Jeanette works at Central Market while her husband usually stands at Meadowbrook. For Jeanette, standing on market is a lifelong vocation, beginning when she was a young child and attended with her grandparents. Her parents also stood on market as well as selling vegetables on the street, so when she married Amos it was a continuation of a family tradition on both sides. Although her family was always at Southern and Central Markets, her husband's parents stood at the Arcade Market which has since become a parking garage.

On their 100-acre farm near New Providence, the Barrs also raise steers and chickens and a lot of acreage is in corn and hay to feed the livestock. But a large portion of the land handles vegetables which are the mainstay of their market stand. They have strawberries and raspberries and about 10 acres of peach and apple orchards, in addition to the usual garden vegetables. Jeanette has two acres of flowers just for drying, and these flowers are neatly bunched for sale.

At Easter, Jeanette says, "Flowers go before food. But on Friday they'll look for fresh vegetables." Some people will search out her brown eggs, just because they are not readily available in supermarkets.

Jeanette says she always enjoyed coming to market as a child, and continues getting pleasure from a job that is also a lot of work. "I like seeing the different people, and associating with different people."

As the mother of ten children, Jeanette brought all the youngsters to market over the years. She says, "When they were babies I used to lay them in banana boxes. When they got a little bigger I couldn't bring them because they would get lost."

The hard work is the worst part, but even that is just a way of life for Jeanette. She said it is discouraging sometimes in the winter to go through all the work and then have low attendance at market because of weather.

When asked how early she gets up on market days, Jeanette replies, "Not as early as I should." She actually rises between 5:30 a.m. and 6 a.m. and is at market by eight for setting up. Although she acknowledges that there are some earlier visitors, she feels most people don't come to market until later in the morning. And, she adds, "After one it dies down."

The hard work is actually all done prior to market day. Jeanette says, "Most work is done a day ahead." In the summer when they have most of their own products, it requires picking the vegetables, washing many of them, bunching them, and then storing them in the walk-in refrigerator to keep them in peak condition for market.

Of course, once they arrive in Lancaster, all the produce must be transported from the truck to their stand locations. They are actually at two stands, one owned by their daughter Caroline Pannell. Their son, Amos M. Barr, Jr., also operates a neighboring market stand, so the family tradition is strong.

Displaying the produce is important to entice buyers to consider what you're offering.

Now is the time when standholders like the Barrs must be looking to summer, and they are busy preparing soil and putting in the first of the crops. Jeanette says, "We try to get things in as early as the ground is fit." She lamented that the day hadn't been long enough to plant peas this week, but they hope to complete that job before the end of the week. She adds, "In April we get a lot of showers, so we have to plant between showers."

While Jeanette has many regular customers whom she enjoys seeing, she says that for the most part, customers now look for the best price, not for their favorite standholder. In the years she has been coming to market she observes that fewer older customers can get to market because of transportation difficulties or being in nursing homes. And Jeanette points out, "Those who live in the suburbs don't have gardens, but the younger people like to go to the supermarket because they think it's a hassle to shop at market. We do see a different customer."

Summer is Jeanette's favorite time of the year, because there is lots to offer from the garden.

This weekend was a big one for the Barr's, but their work goes on at home, preparing for even bigger market days as fresh produce is ready.

Ready-to-hide Easter eggs are one feature of the Barrs' market stand the week before Easter. Jeanette says she hard cooks about six dozen eggs and paints them with help from a granddaughter. Senior citizens, especially, seem happy to have the colored eggs.

Many market stands offer fresh flowers, which are not only beautiful, but fragrant as well. Fresh and potted flowers do equally well during the week before Easter weekend, and there was shortage of varieties to choose from.

Pussy willows are also featured at the Barrs' stand. From tiny bunches to tall branches, the furry symbols of spring have a lot of appeal to marketgoers.

Jeanette Barr waits on a customer who is thinking ahead to Easter dinner. This stand belongs to Jeanette's daughter and offers a wide variety of produce.

On being a farm wife - And other hazards

Joyce Bupp

Dead. Dull brown, the branch breaks free of the bush with a sharp snap.

It's located at an exposed corner of the house, this bush that bears the brunt of icy winter winds. They whip around the northeast corner, fierce, cold, biting. Wrapping around the bush are concrete walls, forming an extended porch and steps to the lower yard. Flanking a fourth side of the bush is a fuel tank of generic shape and color.

Trimmed? Oh, sure it gets trimmed. But not in your fancy topiary design; not even a pleasantly-rounded landscaping shape.

Uh, uh. This functional bit of foliage draws its shape from people ripping up the steps and cutting the corner, bruising the tender stems that find courage to venture out over the steps. Further shaping comes from odd bits and pieces borrowed to fill gaps in casual summertime flower arrangements. Maple trees constantly steal moisture from its roots, forcing the bush to fight an ongoing battle for life-giving water.

Dead? No. And that's the amazing part.

Ignored, abused, misshapen, thirsty, it spends the winter in apparent lifelessness. Seemingly useless.

Then, one sunny day, with a hint of spring in the air, I break off a couple of brown, barren-looking whips of branch. Even the tiny bud bumps on the stem show no vigor.

And then, on a bright windowsill in an old glass jar, the magic begins to work.

As if in response to the gentle touch of caring, the buds begin overnight to swell. In a day or two, spots of yellow color begin to peek from the bud tips. Daily, they open wider, until cheery golden stars cover the length of the branch.

Eventually, the bright blooms of the forsythia will fade and tiny green leaflets begin to form. With a bit of luck, the part of the branch in the water of the old jar will begin pushing out healthy, white roots.

And new life has begun.

Thus it is with Easter. What had seemed so lifeless, so barren, so . . . dead, has been transformed. What was colorless and sad now offers a new beginning. A new life.

Magic? No. Just love.

A blessed and beautiful Easter to you and yours.

Due to a typographical error, the percentage of fat in milk was listed incorrectly as 35 percent in a National Nutrition Month story on last week's family living page. It should have read 3.5 percent. Lancaster Farming regrets this error.

Search for dairy princess candidates begins in Berks County

FLEETWOOD — All single young women who are between the ages of 16 and 24 and from a dairy farm background are eligible to compete for the title of 1986 Berks County Dairy Princess, announces Phoebe R. Bitler, coordinator of the Berks County Dairy Princess Program. The contest includes all of Berks County.

The winner of the dairy princess pageant, to be held May 3, at 7 p.m. in the Berks County Ag Center Auditorium will be eligible to compete at the state level, for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

Twenty-nine state princesses and hundreds of county princesses have served as spokespersons for the dairy industry in Pennsylvania over the last thirty years. They appear in shopping malls, fairs, supermarkets and on radio and television to educate consumers about the dairy farmers products.

Any single woman who has completed her junior year in high school, is not over 24 years of age, never married and whose parents or guardians are engaged in dairy farming is eligible to compete for the title. A young lady is also eligible if she, herself, is a full-time employee on an operating dairy farm or owns at least two dairy animals in a 4-H or FFA project prior to May 1, 1986.

The winner of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant receives a $500. cash award. The first and second runner-up will receive a $300 and $200 cash award respectively. The state title is honorary and would not interrupt school or regular employment plans. The State Pageant is coordinated through Pennsylvania Dairy Princess & Promotion Services, Inc.

The Berks County Committee is also looking for little girls, ages three to five, whose parents are involved in dairy farming in Berks County to compete for the title of Li'l Miss Berks County Dairy Princess. A winner will be chosen by the audience during the Berks County Dairy Princess Pageant on May 3rd. This little girl will also be asked to make several promotional appearances during the coming year.

Young women and little girls interested in entering the Berks County Dairy Princess and the Li'l Miss Dairy Princess Pageant should contact Phoebe R. Bitler at R.D.#4, Box 4176, Fleetwood, PA. 19522 by April 8, 1986.

Penn State ag students plan Farm Bill panel discussion

UNIVERSITY PARK — The Penn State Ag Student Council is sponsoring a panel discussion on the 1985 Farm Bill on April 1. The discussion, part of the council's coffeehouse program, will be held in room 112 Kern Building, at the University Park campus, at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited.

Panel members include Richard Grubb, Pennsylvania's Secretary of Agriculture; Charles Wismer, state Grange Master; Gene Thompson, Pennsylvania executive director of The U.S.D.A. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service; and Jill Findeis, assistant professor of agricultural economics at Penn State. Milton Hallberg, professor of agricultural economics, will moderate.

Dr. Grubb will answer questions about the impact of the Farm Bill on Pennsylvania agriculture, Wismer, a dairy farmer from Montgomery County, will discuss the development of the bill and his organization's position on the bill. He is also the state lobbyist for the state Grange.

Thompson will present U.S.D.A.'s view on the Farm Bill, and how the bill will be implemented in Pennsylvania. Findeis has studied agricultural farm policy, and will discuss the economic implications of the Farm Bill.

A question and answer period will follow and refreshments will be provided by Ag Student Council.

For more information individuals can contact Deb Price, coffeehouse chair, at 237-1337 or Dr. Ernest Bergman, faculty advisor to Ag Student council, at 863-2303.

Make the most of Easter ham!

If ham is part of your traditional Easter meal, you'll probably be searching for ways to use up the leftovers for the rest of the week. Many of the recipes below will fit right into such a plan and should help alleviate groans of "ham again!" at the dinner table.

Even if chicken is on your holiday menu, you'll want to prepare some ham recipes throughout the spring. A cured pork cut, ham is a source of key nutrients. A 3-ounce serving of cooked lean ham provides an adult male with 38 percent of the recommended daily allowance for protein, 26 percent of the allowance for iron and 62 percent for thiamin. And, its 187 calories supply only 7 percent of the recommended daily allowance for calories!

POTATO-HAM SCALLOP

2 cups cubed cooked ham
6 to 8 medium potatoes, peeled and sliced thin
¼ cup chopped onion
⅓ cup all-purpose flour
2 cups milk
3 tablespoons fine dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter, melted
2 tablespoons finely snipped parsley

Place half the ham in a 2-quart casserole. Cover with half the potatoes and half the onion. Sift half the flour over; season with salt and pepper. Repeat ham, potatoes, and onion. Sift remaining flour on top. Pour milk over all. Bake, covered, at 350°F. until nearly tender — about 1½ hours. Uncover. Combine bread crumbs and melted butter; sprinkle on top. Top with parsley. Bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

ORANGE GLAZED HAM KABOBS

24 1-inch fully cooked ham cubes (about 1½ pounds)
2 medium oranges, pared and cut into eighths
1 large green pepper, cut into 16 pieces
1 large red pepper, cut into 16 pieces
½ cup orange juice
2 tablespoons tomato paste
¼ teaspoon ground ginger

Alternately thread three ham cubes, two orange pieces, 2 green pepper pieces and 2 red pepper pieces on each of eight skewers. Place on rack in broiler pan. Broil 4 to 5 inches from heat for 8 minutes, turning occasionally. Combine orange juice, tomato paste and ginger; mix well. Brush kabobs with half of sauce and continue broiling 2 to 3 minutes. Turn kabobs; brush with sauce and continue broiling 2 minutes or until done.

CAULIFLOWER-HAM BAKE

1 large head cauliflower
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
1½ cups milk
1½ cups shredded sharp American cheese (6 ounces)
2 cups cubed fully cooked ham
1 4-ounce can mushroom stems and pieces (drained)
¼ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted

Break cauliflower into flowerets (should have about 5 cups). Cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain thoroughly; set aside. In saucepan melt the 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in flour; add milk all at once. Cook and stir until thickened and bubbly. Add cheese and stir until melted. Stir in cauliflower, ham and mushrooms. Turn into a 2-quart casserole. Combine crumbs and the melted butter; sprinkle over top. Bake, uncovered, at 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

HAM AND CHEESE SOUFFLE

1 cup (4 ounces) lean ground cooked ham
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup all-purpose flour
1 cup skim milk
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded process American cheese
4 eggs, separated

In 1½-quart saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour. Add skim milk all at once. Cook, stirring constantly, over high heat until mixture is thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat; stir in ground ham and cheese. In medium mixing bowl, beat egg yolks until thick and lemon-colored. Slowly stir ham-cheese mixture into egg yolks. Cool. In medium mixing bowl, beat egg whites at high speed of electric mixer until stiff but not dry peaks form. Carefully fold cooled ham-cheese mixture into quart souffle dish. Bake in 350°F. oven for 35 to 45 minutes until knife inserted off-center comes out clean. Serve immediately. Makes 4 servings.

PINEAPPLE HERB SAUCE

1 cup unsweetened pineapple juice
¼ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons light brown sugar
2 tablespoons catsup
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon rosemary, crushed
¼ teaspoon marjoram

Combine ingredients in saucepan; stir until free of cornstarch lumps. Cook until thickened and clear, stirring constantly. Simmer 5 minutes to blend flavors. Keep warm. Makes 1 cup sauce.

Ham is the centerpiece of a traditional Easter feast. And while it is delicious the first time around, leftovers can be just as savory. Look below for some tasty ways to incorporate ham into your spring menus.

HONOLULU HAM

1 1½ to 2 pound fully cooked ham slice, 1 inch thick
⅓ cup frozen pineapple juice concentrate, thawed
¼ cup cream of coconut
⅓ cup mashed banana
¼ teaspoon ginger
6 pineapple slices
Toasted coconut
Parsley

Combine pineapple juice, cream of coconut, mashed bananas and ginger to make sauce. Slash fat edge of ham slice. Place ham on rack and grill 10 to 15 minutes, brushing often with sauce. Turn ham, place pineapple slices on ham and grill another 10 to 15 minutes, brushing often with sauce. Remove to serving platter. Sprinkle pineapple with toasted coconut. Garnish platter with parsley. Makes 6 servings.

HAM LOAF

2 pounds ground ham
1 pound ground pork
2 eggs, beaten
2 cups crushed saltines
1 teaspoon powdered mustard
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1 cup milk
¾ cup brown sugar
¼ cup vinegar

Mix all ingredients together in large bowl. Pat into large loaf or 2 small loaves. (Save one for later in the freezer.) Bake 1 to 1½ hours at 350°F. Very good with horseradish sauce.

GLAZED HAM BALLS

Combine:
1 small onion, chopped fine
1 pound ground ham
1 pound ground pork
⅔ cup cracker crumbs
2 eggs, beaten
1¼ cups evaporated milk
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon thyme

Make 16 meatballs and place in a 9x13-inch baking pan. Combine in small pan:
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons vinegar
1 tablespoon horseradish

Bring to a boil and pour over ham balls. Bake uncovered at 350°F. about 45 minutes.

OVEN HAM BARBECUE

6 ¾-inch ham steaks
2 tablespoons shortening
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon mustard
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce
½ cup catsup
⅓ cup water
2 tablespoons vinegar
4 teaspoons minced onion

Brown steaks in shortening; both sides. Place in a 9x13-inch pan. Combine remaining ingredients; pour over steaks. Bake at 325°F. for 1½ hours until tender.

Easter brings with it a number of traditions, but none as sweet as the parade of freshly baked holiday breads.

These yeasty treasures take a variety of forms - buns, braided rings, tall mushroom-shaped loaves, tube rings and flat rectangular rolls – but they bear a striking similarity in content. The dough is almost always studded with raisins, nuts and accented with citrus rind or juice.

Powdered sugar glaze or icing is another common bond. Sometimes it's used to form a cross a top the bread, as in hot cross buns, this week's featured recipe.

Hot Cross Buns

3¼ cups all-purpose flour
1 package quick-rising yeast
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ cup milk
½ cup water
¼ cup butter or margarine
1 egg
¾ cup currants
2 tablespoons grated lemon rind
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon water

Frosting:
1 cup powdered sugar
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 to 4 teaspoons water

Preheat oven to 375°F. In large mixer bowl, combine 1½ cups flour, yeast, sugar, cinnamon, salt, cloves and nutmeg; mix well. In saucepan, heat milk, water and butter until very warm (120 to 130°F; butter does not need to melt). Add to flour mixture. Add egg. Blend at low speed until moistened; beat three minutes at medium speed.

By hand, gradually stir in currants, lemon rind and enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Knead on floured surface until smooth and elastic, 5 to 8 minutes. Place in greased bowl, turning to grease top. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 30 minutes.

Punch dough down. Divide into 3 parts. Divide each third into 6 pieces. Shape each piece into a smooth ball. Place on greased cookie sheet, sides touching. Cover; let rise in warm place until double, about 15 minutes. Combine egg yolk and water; brush on buns. Bake at 375°F. for 10 to 12 minutes until golden brown. Remove from cookie sheet; cool. Frost each roll with cross. Makes 18 buns.

For frosting: combine powdered sugar, vanilla and enough water to make a thick frosting.

Irish Soda Bread

2 cups flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup raisins
1 cup buttermilk
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
3 tablespoons butter, softened
1 tablespoon butter, melted

Preheat oven to 375°F Lightly grease the surface of a small baking sheet. Sift dry ingredients over a large bowl Add softened butter and with a fork or pastry cutter, mix to fine crumbs Add raisins and toss lightly. Pour buttermilk into flour mixture all at once Mix until just moistened Do not over mix Using hands, press into a firm ball Put dough on lightly floured board and knead about 1 minute Shape into ball and place on prepared baking sheet Using hands, flatten dough into a 7-inch circle Press a large floured knife into center of loaf halfway through dough Repeat so dough is quartered, but not cut all the way through Bake 40 minutes until top is golden brown Remove to wire rack to cool Brush top with melted butter

ANSWER - Nancy Trayer, Mercersburg, asked for a recipe for a nice, mound-shaped chocolate chip cookie Thanks go to Esther Hoover, Ephrata, for the following recipe

Chocolate Chip Pudding Cookies

2¼ cups flour
1 cup margarine
1 (4 serving size) package vanilla instant pudding
2 cups chocolate chips
1 teaspoon soda
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1 cup chopped nuts, optional

Combine margarine, sugars, pudding mix and vanilla; beat until smooth and creamy Beat in eggs Gradually add flour and soda. Stir in chips and nuts. (Batter will be stiff) Bake at 375°F for 8 to 10 minutes.

ANSWER - Dot Weiland, Bath, asked for a meat pie recipe made with raised dough. Thanks go to Mrs. Ray W Seidel, Lenhartsville, for sharing the following recipe

Gungna Flaish Boi

Raised dough or bread:

3 cups milk
3 tablespoons sugar
2 yeast cakes
3 tablespoons butter
3 teaspoons salt
7½ cups bread flour

Meat:

2 cups diced cooked chicken
Broth from chicken and pork
Celery and parsley
2 cups diced cooked pork
Salt and pepper
Onion

Scald milk and pour over butter, sugar and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Dissolve yeast in ½ cup cooled milk. Add ½ flour and beat until smooth. Add remaining flour, turn on board and knead 10 minutes. Place in greased bowl and let rise double in bulk (1½ hours). Punch down and let rise again (1¼ hours). Divide into 4 portions to be used as 2 bottoms and 2 tops for 9-inch pie dish. Roll out portions about ¼-inch thick. Line pie dishes with dough

Fill each with half of the meat mixture and a small amount of broth, reserving the balance. Cover and seal edges Set aside and when dough begins to rise again, place in oven

Bake like pies (same temperature and same length of time Any leftover dough can be formed into a loaf and baked for bread)

LAYERED HAM AND MACARONI SALAD

1½ to 2 cups diced cooked ham
1 cup elbow macaroni
4 cups shredded lettuce or other salad greens
1 medium cucumber, sliced
1 small onion, thinly sliced
1 10-ounce package frozen peas, partially thawed
1½ cups mayonnaise
1½ teaspoons dill seed
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup shredded Swiss cheese

Cook macaroni as directed on package; drain and chill well. In large salad bowl (about 3 quart), layer lettuce or salad greens, cucumber, macaroni, ham, onion and peas. Combine mayonnaise or salad dressing, dill weed and salt; mix well. Spread evenly over top of salad. Sprinkle with cheese; cover and chill several hours or overnight. Toss just before serving. Makes 6 servings.

When serving, pour some of the reserved broth over portions. Pies can be reheated. When doing so, make a hole in top and pour balance of the broth into the pie before reheating.

ANSWER - Rose M. Markley, Williamsport, asked for a recipe for easy-to-make, cut-out sugar cookies. Thanks to Rita Kline, Hastings, for the following recipe.

Cut-Out Sugar Cookies

4 cups sifted flour
¼ teaspoon baking soda
1 cup soft margarine
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 cups sugar
¼ cup milk
¼ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream together margarine, sugar and eggs. Add vanilla and mix. Sift together all dry ingredients Add alternately with the milk to creamed mixture. Refrigerate dough 2 hours for easier handling. Roll out on a floured board and cut with cookie cutter. Bake at 375°F. for 10 to 12 minutes

Powdered Sugar Icing

1 pound powdered sugar
Milk
Dash of salt
A few drops food coloring
¼ cup butter-flavored vegetable shortening
2 teaspoons vanilla

Beat all ingredients together. Gradually add enough milk to make smooth and spread on cookies.

ANSWER - Mrs. Galen Gockley, Mohnton, requested a recipe for Johnny Cake. Thanks to Mrs. David Weaver, Newville, for the following recipe, and to all the others who shared Johnny Cake recipes.

Johnny Cake

1 cup corn meal
½ teaspoon salt
1 egg
¼ cup oil or shortening
1 cup sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
1 cup milk

(When using sour milk or buttermilk, use 1 teaspoon soda and 3 teaspoons baking powder.) Mix and bake in greased cake pan. Serve hot with fruit and milk.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

In the days before I leave on a trip there are many things to do. Part of the fun of a trip is the anticipation–and getting ready to go.

As my husband is tied down with his dairy herd, he doesn't feel that he can get away for ten days. So, I spend most of the day before I leave making meals for him that he can reheat. Casseroles, soups and frozen hamburger patties are easy for him to prepare. If left on his own, I think he would live on toast, cheese and eggs, plus lots of carrot sticks.

I received a list of things to do in advance from the travel agency. And, among the 34 things listed are such items as purchase batteries for camera, pay bills due while you're away, put valuables in safe deposit box, arrange kennel for pets, purchase travelers checks, label luggage, wrap houseplants with plastic and purchase trip insurance. Now not all of these apply to me.

On this sheet from the Rural Route Tours is also a list of 15 things to pack and that doesn't include any clothes. This time I purchased a travel clock and a folding umbrella as previously I'd always borrowed them from my children. An extra pair of glasses is good insurance since a near-sighted person like myself would surely miss a lot without glasses. Depending on where one goes, sun glasses and suntan lotion are also necessary.

Another long list contains 18 items to carry in your purse or flight bag. Suitcases do not always arrive with you at your destination. So it is suggested that you carry personal items and a change of clothes and shoes in case your bag is late in reaching you after your flight. On one trip a woman waited three days for her suitcases and was given $100 the first night by the tour director to buy clothes at one of the shipboard shops for a party.

So I'd better be sure everything is packed that I'll need before my husband drives me to the Philadelphia Airport for my plane to New Orleans.

My husband drove me to the Philadelphia Airport to catch a plane to New Orleans at noon on Friday. Due to fog, the plane and its 100 passengers left an hour late. Therefore, we arrived quite late and got out of heavy clouds only as we neared Louisiana.

It was 74°F. in New Orleans and we have been enjoying the camelia and azalea blossoms. Our Royal Sonesta Hotel in the French Quarter was quite elegant. But I definitely would not recommend walking Bourbon Street at night for conservative people as it could be called a "red light" district. Cars are barred in the afternoon and evening so crowds can walk on the street and watch clowns, musicians and dancers perform.

New Orleans is three to 10 feet below sea level; therefore, all of its cemeteries have the coffins and marble markers placed high above the ground because flooding is a problem.

This area gets 60 inches of rain each year, but our tour group has been lucky to have only sunshine so far. People here are already mowing their lawns and the live oak trees are covered with Spanish moss. We saw one 600-year-old tree. On a walking tour we saw many ornate cast iron balcony railings and we had lunch in Jackson Square.

We have eaten in many famous restaurants and are served lots of shrimp, Jambalaya, crayfish and crab meat. Last night we ate at the "Court of Two Sisters" and were seated outdoors under purple wisteria. The food was good and the setting elegant, but so was the price.

We crossed the Mississippi River on a ferry and walked through an oyster factory and visited a net maker. A tour through Jungle Gardens to see thousands of snowy egrets and watch an alligator being fed a frankfurter ended our busy day.

Common sense, respect needed in coping with wild animal attacks

WEST THUMB, Wyo. — High on a ridge in Wyoming's Yellowstone National Park, a hiker crosses the timberline and enters a subalpine meadow of waist-high grasses. Up ahead, something moves.

It's a grizzly bear about 100 feet away. The bear rises nine feet tall onto its hind legs, waves its nose in the air, drops onto four legs, and begins to run straight at the hiker. There is no tree to climb; nowhere to run, nowhere to hide, and the hiker has no gun. What should he do?

This desperate thought has run through the minds of many people.

"When I saw that bear come smoking down on me," says Montana hunting guide Bill Hill, "I didn't have any trouble deciding who was the endangered species."

Sometimes Both Die

Every summer, from Wyoming to Alaska, humans and bears have fatal encounters. Sometimes the human dies, sometimes the bear, sometimes both.

Visits to U.S. national parks have nearlyu tripled in the last 10 years. More people are hiking the trails and meeting not just bears, but other potentially dangerous wildlife species.

A young boy trying to feed a deer in California's Yosemite National Park was suddenly gored and killed.

A photographer in Yellowstone was fatally attacked when he tried to pet a bison.

A moose trampled a sled-dog musher and his dogs when they surprised it on a snowy trail in cental Alaska.

A well-meaning woman found an injured heron in Louisiana and, as she reached out to help the frightened bird, it whipped around its dagger-like beak and impaled her through the neck. She died instantly.

"I remember that fellow killed by the bison," says Yellowstone ranger Fred Hirschmann. "He was trying to pet it on the head. We don't go around patting each other on our heads, do we? Enough is enough."

Wildlife biologists contend that fatal and injurious encounters between people and wildlife result from human ignorance, not animal aggression.

"Bears aern't out there plotting murder," says Kathy Jope, resource-management specialist at Alaska's Katmai National Park. "They have better things to do. I've seen bears repeatedly charge and growl at photographers, fishermen, and campers. None of those charges was unprovoked. In every case the person eithe frightened or irritated the bear. It doesn't have to happen."

Jope believes that most people don't know how to avoid bear encounters or how to react once an encounter begins.

Swift Predators

"Grizzly bears are predators," she says. "You can't outrun them unless there is a safe shelter nearby. An animal that runs probably evokes within the bear a predator response, so the bear gives chase."

Moose, on the other hand, are a prey species. A full-grown Alaska bull moose stands six feet tall at the shoulders and weighs 1,600 pounds. One kick can kill a man. A charging moose is as dangerous as a charging bear.

"Maybe more dangerous," adds Kathy Jope, "since bears often 'bluff charge,' turning around at the last moment, and moose do not."

Moose have a distinct territory within which any intruder is fiercely attacked, and outside of which he is tolerated. If the in-

Dangerous competition for a hooked salmon threatens the tranquility of this scene on Alaska's Brooks River. Fisherman John Craighead, a dean of grizzly research, knew enough about the huge bears to break his line and avoid a potentially hazardous encounter. As visitis to wilderness areas increase, people with less awareness about how bears, moose, deer, bison and even birds often react to human intrusion could be courting injury and death.

Wild animal attacks

truder runs away fast enough and far enough, the moose will stop.

The Park Service and other U.S. public lands agencies now publish booklets that tell how to avoid dangerous encounters with wildlife.

The advice includes checking for scorpions in your boots in the desert in the morning, wearing the proper footwear in rattlesnake country, knowing how to recognize rabid raccoons, and learning the subtle signs on the back of an animal's neck that in effect say: You're too close.

"It's not aggression that sparks a charging bison, bear, or moose," says Jope. "It's fear. A frightened animal has only two options: fight or flight. Bears seldom choose to fight, but when they do, you're in trouble."

The best solution, rangers say, is to avoid the encounter in the first place. Read the literature and follow the recommendations, they advise. A stranger about to enter a wilderness receives all kinds of advice. Sometimes it works, sometimes it doesn't, and sometimes it's just the opposite of what one ought to be doing.

Hard to Predict

What even a local expert cannot predict is how an individual bear might react differently from other bears in the same region. Rangers agree that people who cannot avoid grizzly bears and other dangerous animals should at least avoid surprising them.

Wildlife biologists admit that a vacationer may feel like the endangered species when faced with a charging bear, but they point out that for every grizzly bear in North America there are roughly 20,000 humans. Which species, man bear, is truly endangered, th ask.

Some scientists predict that the year 2000 the grizzly bear w no longer exist in the Yellowsto Basin. Only 200 to 300 rema today, of which 30 or fewer a breeding females. And from tho dwindling numbers several a killed each year.

The bear on the Yellowsto ridge is still charging, only 40 fe away now, chuffing hard. Does t hiker remember what the bookl advised, and what the ranger said It could determie whether leaves the scene with, as they sa all the parts intact.

Lycoming County begins search for dairy princess candidates

MONTGOMERY — All single young women who are between the ages of 16 and 24 and from a dairy farm background are eligible to compete for the title of 1986 Lycoming County Dairy Princess, announces J. David Jarrett, chairman of the Lycoming County Dairy Princess Committee. The contest covers Lycoming County.

The winner of the dairy princess pageant, to be held June 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Lycoming Mall, Muncy, will be eligible to vie, at the state level, for the title of Pennsylvania Dairy Princess.

Twenty-nine state princesses and hundreds of county princesses have served as spokespersons for the dairy industry in Pennsylvania over the last thirty years. They appear in shopping malls, fairs, supermarkets and on radio and television to educate consumers about the dairy farmer's products.

Any single woman who has completed her junior year in high school, is not over 24 years of age, never married and whose parents or guardians are engaged in dairy farming is eligible to compete for the title. A young lady is also eligible if she, herself, is a full time employee on an operating dairy farm or is the owner of at least two dairy animals in a 4-H or FFA project prior to May 1, 1986.

The winner of the Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Pageant receives a $500 cash award. The first and second runner-up receive a $300 and $200 cash award respectively. The state title is honorary and there would be no interruption of school or regular employment plans. The State Pageant is coordinated through Pennsylvania Dairy Princess & Promotion Services, Inc.

Young women interested in entering the Lycoming County Dairy Princess Pageant should contact J. David Jarrett, Linden, Pa. Phone 398-0158 or Mrs. Helen Barto, Montgomery, Pa. Phone 546-6511 by June 1, 1986. You may also attend a meeting of the committee on April 7, 1986 at Granny's Pancake & Steak House, 1955 E. 3rd St., Williamsport, at 8 p.m. Parents are encouraged to accompany the contestants.

Another feature for the pageant this June will be the return of all former dairy princess from the year 1975 to the present year. Each former princess will be introduced and will give a short talk on her present activities and husbands and families will be introduced if they are present. We are looking forward to this reunion year and hope that the public will enjoy seeing our former Dairy Princesses.

Select Children's Snacks With Care

Toddlers and preschoolers have appetites to match their sizes and most of them do best if they have between meal snacks to make certain they get the nutrients they need. In fact, morning and afternoon snacks are a regular practice in most homes where there are young children.

If you have young children in your home, do not serve snacks that provide little nutrition and lots of sugar which is a major cause of dental cavities. That means that soft drinks, cookies, and other bakery products are not good choices for snacks. Soft drinks are high in sugar, as are baked goods, and the baked goods stick to the teeth, further increasing the risk of cavities. Equally important, the children get filled up on foods that have little to offer but calories and often have little appetite for the foods that have nutrients they need.

What's the answer? Fruit juices or milk are good choices at snack time. If plain milk is not an acceptable snack time treat, try adding a little chocolate syrup or other flavoring. Offer easy to handle carrot or celery sticks or cubes of mild cheese. Fruits is an excellent choice too. Try small apples, orange wedges or an acceptable fresh fruit which is in season. These are a better size for little hands and big enough for small appetites.

Children need well-balanced diets for healthy growth and development and nutritious snacks should be part of those diets.

Laundering Clothing Contaminated with Pesticides

The season for outdoor lawn, plant and tree care is just around the corner, and part of that care will probably involve using pesticides.

Caring for clothing after pesticide use is of utmost importance. Research has shown that pesticide residues are transferred to other clothing in the wash load. That means that you should always launder contaminated clothing separately.

Know what pesticide was used, its toxicity level, and its formulation so you can use the appropriate treatment. One machine washing may be sufficient to remove some diluted, water soluble, less toxic pesticides. However, up to three launderings are recommended when removing residue from the less water soluble, more concentrated or more dangerous chemicals.

Always pre-rinse contaminated clothes before washing by hosing garments outdoors, soaking in a suitable container, or using a pre-rinse cycle with agitation in an automatic washing machine. A detergent is not necessary at this stage. Pre-rinsing is especially helpful in removing wettable powder formulations.

Wash no more than three or four pieces of clothing at a time using the highest water level setting, regular 10 to 12 minutes cycle, and hot water (140°F.) The lower the water temperature, the less pesticide is removed. If your hot water heater thermostat is set at a lower temperature, you should reset it before washing contaminated clothing.

Since pesticides could remain in the washer and contaminate subsequent loads, it is essential to clean the machine by filling it with hot water containing a detergent, and running it through a complete cycle.

Lehigh County Farmers sponsor Ag Day baby

ALLENTOWN — Members of the Lehigh County Farmers Association greeted the first baby born in Allentown on Ag Day, March 21, with a basket full of gifts.

This year's baby, a boy, was born to Karen Seitzinger and John Kelchner of Hamburg. Baby Andrew arrived at 12:15 a.m. at the Allentown Hospital and will be going home to live with his parents at R2 Hamburg.

He will receive gifts from 22 Lehigh County farm businesses.

The Ag Day baby program is a project of the Women's Committee of the Lehigh County Farmers Association.

Manheim Young Farmers honor outstanding members at annual banquet

EAST PETERSBURG — The Manheim Young Farmers recently held their annual awards banquet at the Hempfield Church of Brethren.

This chapter of young farmers is the second largest in the state with 125 member.

Stedale Farms, owned by Steve and Dale Hershey, received the award for the highest rolling average for milk with the production of 21,844 pounds of milk. They were also honored by the award for high milk production for a two year old with the record of 22,357 pounds of milk.

The rolling herd average for fat recognition went to Nelson Wenger and his herd's record of 733 pound of fat.

An increase of 3,067 pounds of milk over last year's performance captured the award of highest improvement in milk for Ken Miller.

Wayne Erb of Wil-Am Dairy and Poultry Farm was honored for his achievement of producing a dozen eggs on 3.49 pounds of feed.

Lamar Miller was honored for his production of 41.6 tons of corn silage per acre. Also honored were the Balmer Brothers, Dale and Cletus, for producing 206.8 bushels of ear corn per acre.

The high shelled corn production award went to Dudley Rohrer with his record of 160 bushels per acre. Rohrer also receive both early and double crop soybean production awards. This past year he made 54.7 bushels per acre with his early crop and 42.7 bushels per acre with the double crop.

Donald and Sheryl Wenger were honored for their community service. Donald is the current vice president of the Young Farmers. He is also active in the Brown Swiss Association and serves on many church and community boards.

The results of the election of officers are: president, Dennis Kulp; vice president, Donald Wenger; treasurer, Lamar Miller; assistant treasurer, Dennis Shellenberger; secretary, Earl Geib; assistant secretary, Larry Hershey; and public relations, Jere Swarr.

Northern Lebanon FFA honors Star Farmer

FREDERICKSBURG — Over two hundred Future Farmers of America and their supporters turned out March 6 for the annual banquet of the Northern Lebanon High School FFA chapter, held in the school.

Eugene Kreitzer, chapter president, conferred honorary membership degrees on several adults for service or helping to advance vocational agriculture. Among the recipients were Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Long, Mr. Robert Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hetrick, Mr. Paul Reinbold, Sr., Mrs. Charlotte Flecher, and Mrs. Elizabethann Gingrich.

Taking chapter Star Farmer Awards were Kathy Blatt and Dave Lentz, greenhand; Sherry Donmoyer, tenth grade; Eugene Kreitzer, eleventh grade; Mark Long, twelfth grade; and Matt Hetrick, agribusinessman. The Star Awards were presented by Heather Hernley, last year's state reporter.

Gretchen Oberst, chapter advisor, presented retiring officer awards to Matt Hetrick, Mark Long, and Brenda Reinbold. She also presented chapter trophies to Mark Long, public speaking and swine; Laura Harding, dairy and corn yield and quality; Brenda Reinbold, beef; Matt Hetrick, tractor driving and sheep; Joe Scharmer, poultry; and the Keystone Farmer trophy to Wesley Harding, Jr., Mike Kunkle, Eric Sweinhart, and Mark Long.

Chapter scholarship pins were awarded to Jerome Litz and Laura Harding for their honor roll status.

Nelson Bomgardener, the chapter's 1984-85 president, presented the Keystone Farmer Degree to Kunkle, Sweinhart, Long, and Harding. Certificates of appreciation were given to adults for assisting the chapter. Recognized were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Donmoyer, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Blatt, Mr. Bruce Kilmoyer, and Mr. Richard Folmer.

Ann Lansberry, a former Cedar Crest FFA member who is now serving as state FFA secretary, gave a speech to the group on how to be better FFA members.

Steele to participate in ag exchange

WASHINGTON, NJ — Jay Steele of Broadway, NJ, will participate in the FFA Work Experience Abroad program beginning in September.

The program is an international educational exchange between the Future Farmers of America and rural youth organizations in other countries. Steele will gain agricultural work experience for six months in one of the 25 exchange countries.

By living and working with a family, Steele will have the opportunity to learn about their way of life, exchange ideas about agriculture, and contribute to international understanding.

While a student at Warren Hills Senior High School, Steele participated in a variety of FFA activities. In 1982 he joined the livestock judging team and placed third in the state competition. Following this, he received his Greenhand Degree and attended his first FFA State Convention. Other accomplishments include placing first in the State Livestock Judging Competition and receiving his New Jersey State Farmer degree.

Steele is the son of Joseph and Virginia Steele of Broadway. His Warren Hills FFA Chapter advisor and vocational agricultural instructor is Mr. Robert Sills.

Easter eggs: a tradition you'll take a cotton to

Once again Peter Cottontail is hopping down the bunny trail, and Easter is definitely on its way.

Store shelves overflow with colorful baskets and scrumptious chocolate eggs. Spring flowers bloom on dresses and hats sport decorative trims that transform them into Easter bonnet specials. Pet stores have come alive with the sights and sounds of fluffy chicks and adorable bunnies.

In the midst of this modern-day madness, one time-honored tradition stands alone: the Easter egg.

The magic of the Easter egg is alive

For centuries, different cultures – from the ancient Persians and Greeks to the Ukrainians of Europe – have been enchanted by brightly colored and decorated eggs. Long before Christianity, pagan rites involved coloring, blessing, exchanging and eating eggs. With the spread of Christianity, the egg took on new significance. As one of the many foods once forbidden during Lent, eggs became an Easter Day treat.

Early Easter egg coloring was a messy and time-consuming process involving natural dyes. Yellow colors were achieved by boiling onion skins; brown by boiling alder and hickory. Red colors were procured by boiling madder root, while nuts, roots and berries were used for other variations.

Another technique required wrapping eggs in bright calico cloth, boiling them and – viola! – the colors were transferred from the cloth to the eggs. A still more complicated egg-decorating method was Pysanky, which involved the use of wax and dyes.

For many, egg decorating is a highly sophisticated craft. There even are egg decorating societies and national exhibits featuring breathtaking displays of Easter eggs. But for most of us, decorating eggs is simply a fun way to celebrate Easter.

Easter Egg-citement

Easter provides an excellent opportunity for children to let their creative talents shine.

As professional designers know, there is a secret to egg painting: Because eggs have a natural oily coating, the shells must be gently scoured if colors are to adhere properly. All it takes is a moist sponge and scouring powder. Rinse off the scouring powder, let the eggs dry and you're ready to decorate.

In addition to the usual mass-produced Easter egg dyes, materials children might enjoy decorating with include paints (using cotton swabs as paint brushes), felt-tip pens, crayons, glue, construction paper, scissors, scraps of lace or ribbon, glitter, pipe cleaners, sequins – even different-shaped pasta. There also are a myriad of stickers on the market that can add a festive touch.

Begin by covering the work area with newspapers so spills won't matter. Then let the artists loose. You'll see creative minds at work as the children combine colors on the eggs and in the dye cups, have contests – ugliest egg, prettiest egg, funniest egg – and cut and paste life into their creations.

Spring Fling

If you've decided to have an Easter egg hunt, whether for adults or children, you're in for a hopping good time.

Nature will do the decorating for a hunt held outdoors. Depending on what part of the country you live in, you may be lucky enough to find lilac, jonquils, daffodils or cherry trees in bloom right outside your door.

Whether the hunt is inside or outside, hide colored jelly beans and foil-wrapped chocolate eggs alongside the decorated eggs. To add an extra-special touch, fill plastic eggs (like the ones pantyhose come in) with small objects that will appeal to your guests' special interests, then label each egg with a name tag. As guests arrive, provide them with baskets to hold the treats they find.

The health-conscious host will be happy to learn there are many nutritious, easy-to-make dishes that will complement the usual after-hunt Easter fare of ham, egg salad sandwiches and colored eggs. The following are from "McCall's Cook Book."

• Bunny Salad: Place canned pear halves, cut side down, on lettuce leaves. Add orange sections for ears, and strawberry or cherry slivers for eyes, nose and mouth.

• Peter Rabbit Salad: Divide one 3-ounce package of cream cheese into three parts. With hands, shape each part to resemble a carrot 3 inches long. Roll the "carrots" in one-third cup grated carrot, coating completely. Insert a parsley sprig on top of each. Serve on spinach leaves; garnish with pineapple tidbits.

• Blushing Bunny: Combine in a small saucepan one 8-ounce can tomato sauce, one 11-ounce can condensed cheddar cheese soup and ¼ teaspoon dry mustard. Mix well and bring to a boil over medium heat, stirring constantly. Put one slice of toast in each of four bowls. Pour soup over toast and sprinkle with bacon.

Once the children have had their fill of these healthy dishes, turn them loose on the jelly beans and chocolate eggs – and wave goodbye to Peter Cottontail for another year.

Berks Agri-Women honor Ag Day baby

BY ROBIN PHILLIPS
Staff Correspondent

READING — Berks County's Penns Agri-Women celebrated Ag Day last week by promoting agriculture to new mothers. Ag Day, nationally recognized as March 21, the first day of spring, was chosen by the local Agri-Women as the occasion to give a wealth of farm products to a new arrival in one of the local hospitals.

Slated as the first promotional activity of the year by the Berks County Farm City Council, the "ag baby" promotion is generating more enthusiasm in this, its fourth year.

The Reading Hospital and Medical Center, Reading, was the birthplace of this year's winner of the wicker clothes basket overflowing with Berks County's farm products. Kyle Louis Schmehl, born at 12:16 a.m. on Ag Day and weighing in at 9 pounds 2½ ounces won the farm bounty for his parents, Warren and Wannita Schmehl, 1347 North Tenth Street, Reading.

Schmehl is employed by Sharp Point, Mohnton, making surgical needles. Kyle Louis also has an older sister, Flora, age 3, who will be sharing the farm products.

Coordinators of the promotion were Nancy Seidel, R1 Lenhartsville, and Jean Beck, R2 Hamburg. Sponsors of the gifts included: Penns Agri-Women, Albrights Mill, Clover Farms Dairy, Pennsylvania Pork Producers, Pennsylvania Cattlemen's Association, Leesport Agway, Sycamore Springs Farm and Greenhouses, F.M. Brown's Sons, Inc., Berks County Dairy Farmers Association, Blue Mountain Co. Rich Brandt Real Estate, Shartlesville Farm Equipment, Virginville 4-H Dairy Club, Ontelaunee Orchards, Joyce and Cliff Dietrich Farm, Rob-Nan Farm, Deerfoot Farm, DeLjb Farm, Scattered Acres, Inc., and Boyertown National Bank.

The Ag Baby poses with his mother, Wannita Schmehl, Reading, as Agri-Women Ag Baby promotion coordinators stand by. Jean Beck, R2, Hamburg, right, and Nancy Seidel, Rt. 1, Lenhartsville, presented the ag products to the new mother on Ag Day last week.

Berks County 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club

The Berks County 4-H Sheep and Lamb Club elected officers during their meeting March 10 at the 4-H Center in Leesport.

The following are the new officers: president, Tricia Werley; vice president, Glenn Heffner; secretary, Gwendolyn Perry; treasurer, Travis Werley; and news reporter, Megan Perry.

Committees were formed for the year's activities and dates were announced for future meetings and fairs.

The next meeting will be discussion and planning of the Community Service Project with Easter Seals to be presented May 6. All members are requested to bring wool craft ideas.

The April meeting will be held April 14 at the 4-H Center in Leesport at 7:30.

THE MICRO WAY

LANI BLOOMER

ZAP IT 'N LET'S EAT!
(MICROWAVING FROZEN CONVENIENCE FOODS)

I remember, back in the "old days" when I was growing up, the only frozen convenience foods available were frozen pot pies. These made an easy meal for my sister and I to fix by ourselves, but they certainly weren't quick. They took an endless hour to thaw and bake.

Frozen convenience foods certainly have come a long way. With a freezer and a microwave, you can have instant meals or snacks any time of day.

The only problem with frozen convenience foods is that many microwave cookbooks don't give you directions for heating them. The questions that I am asked most frequently in my classes are how to microwave "TV" dinners and convenience foods.

I can't begin to give you directions here for microwaving all the frozen foods available. However, perhaps a few tips on what to watch out for, will help.

General Tips For Frozen Convenience Foods

– Foods with bottom crusts that are frozen uncooked, will not microwave well. For instance, frozen pot pies and fruit pies; or pizza with a raw crust. The bottom crust just won't cook in the microwave, under the rest of the food.

These foods may be thawed in the microwave on high for 10 to 15 minutes, then baked in a very hot over (450°F.) for 10 to 25 minutes to bake the crust. You will have to experiment with the exact times, depending on the type and quantity of food.

– Foods that have to be crispy to be good, such as French fries, will not be crispy when microwaved. Thaw these foods in the microwave on high for 3 to 5 minutes, then put them under the broiler for a few minutes to crisp.

– Most packages give you directions for high power. Many foods will reheat better on a lower power. If your oven has medium power (50,5), heat your foods on medium for twice as long as directed for high power.

Reducing the power level will do two things: The food heats more evenly to the middle, so the center of large pieces won't still be cold. Secondly, it helps prevent the edges of food and the small pieces from getting overcooked (hard or rubbery).

– Several foods can be heated at one time, but may vary in how hot they get because of the consistency of the food. Foods high in moisture, fat, or sugar will heat more quickly than foods low in these. For instance, rice with gravy on it will heat faster than plain rice. Also, denser foods take longer to heat.

– If you stack foods in the oven, the food on the top will heat faster than that on the bottom, because it is closer to the microwaves (for ovens where the microwaves enter from the top). For even heating, switch the position of the food halfway through the heating time.

– Since food near the edges of a container will be hotter than that in the center, let the food stand 3 to 4 minutes [illegible] perature to even out.

– Start a small card file. Write down the times for your oven, for those frozen foods that you microwave most often.

Tray Dinners

– Remove cake, pudding and bread products from the trays before microwaving. Defrost these separately using medium low power (30,3, defrost) after the other food is done. If you leave them with the rest of the meal, you'll have rubber for dessert!

– Most tray dinners are now packaged in microwaveable containers. Foods packaged in flat (less than 1-inch high) aluminum trays can be heated right in the metal tray. Keep the tray in the middle of the oven, 1 inch or more away from the walls, so it doesn't arc (spark). Foods in deeper aluminum trays should be placed in a microwave container.

– Cover trays for more even heating. Waxed paper, a paper towel, or even the cardboard box (slide the tray back in the box after removing the foil covering) can be used for covering.

– If the package doesn't have microwave directions, use the weight of the food to help figure how long to heat. If the package weighs less than 12 or 13 ounces, it will probably take 4 to 7 minutes to heat on high. If the package has over 13 ounces of food, it will probably take 8 to 12 minutes to heat on high.

Vegetables, Side Dishes, Casseroles

– Many of these come in plastic pouches, and can be microwaved right in the pouch. Pierce the plastic with a knife to allow excess steam to escape.

– If the food can be stirred, stirring once after it has thawed will help with even cooking and you can use high power. If the food can't be stirred, like lasagna, medium power (50,5) will give better results (but take twice as long as high).

– When you don't need a whole package of food for one meal and don't want leftovers, wrap the part of the package you don't want to thaw tightly in aluminum foil. (Microwaves cannot penetrate foil so the wrapped part will stay frozen while the unwrapped part thaws.)

Place the package in the center of the oven and microwave for a short time. As soon as the part that is not wrapped in foil has thawed, cut it off the frozen block. Rewrap the frozen part for the freezer, and continue heating the thawed part.

Desserts, Baked Goods

– These foods need careful handling, because their light texture and high sugar content mean they will thaw rapidly.

– Remove from packaging and microwave uncovered. Place bread products on a paper towel to absorb extra moisture.

– For food with icing and things like cheesecakes, defrost on-medium low power (30,3, defrost) to keep the icing from melting off. Microwave packages under 16 ounces for 2 to 4 minutes on medium low (30,3, defrost). Packages over 16 ounces will take 4 to 6 minutes on medium low. Let stand to finish thawing at room temperature.

– For food without icing, such as bread, pound cakes, donuts, etc. thaw and warm on medium power (50,5). Small packages under 13 ounces will defrost in 1 to 2 minutes on medium. Larger packages over 13 ounces will take 2 to 4 minutes on medium.

4-H poultry project offers teens chance to earn money

COLLEGE PARK, MD — Most U.S. teen-agers work at part-time jobs these days because they like the independent feeling they get from earning their own money. But those living in rural areas — whether farm or non-farm residents — should investigate the opportunity to be their own boss, and earn money, too.

One way to do this is by enrolling in a 4-H poultry project.

Charles J. Wabeck, Extension poultry products specialist for the University of Maryland, reports that the 4-H poultry program offers a worthwhile learning experience. Dr. Wabeck notes that there are a number of projects from which to choose, and most can be handled in a relatively small amount of space.

The 4-H broiler project began in March. Participants may enroll in either the small flock or commercial phase.

In the small flock program, each person rears from 25 to 100 birds — carrying them from baby chicks to market weight at seven weeks of age. Only a limited amount of space is needed, and the cost of rearing each broiler averages about $1.

Records are kept. At the end of the project, the record book is judged. Selected dressed birds may also compete for prizes at a district 4-H broiler show.

Young persons living on commercial broiler farms may enroll in the commercial 4-H broiler project. Each participant assists with rearing of a large commercial flock, learns about the commercial broiler industry, and submits a commercial flock record book. Individual dressed birds may also be entered for judging in a county or district 4-H broiler show.

Interested in rearing meat birds for the holiday season? The 4-H capon and turkey meat projects offer an excellent opportunity to rear birds that can be sold on the fresh market at holiday time. There is nothing more appealing than a fresh capon or turkey on the table for Thanksgiving or Christmas dinner.

Producing fresh eggs for home use, or for sale to friends and relatives, is a direct benefit of the year-round 4-H egg project. It can also be a bonus from the 4-H purebred poultry program.

Female chicks may be purchased in the spring from a reliable hatchery. By fall, with proper management, the birds will be producing eggs. Started pullets at 20 weeks of age can be purchased on a limited basis for persons who may not wish to rear the chicks themselves.

In the 4-H purebred poultry project, participants can purchase chicks of many shapes and sizes. Surplus birds may be sold for meat, and the remainder utilized as a show flock for competition at county and state fairs. Hens in the show flock also provide a reliable source of fresh eggs on a year-round basis.

If you have limited space, keep in mind that a 10 x 10-foot area will house up to 50 bantam chickens or 25 large birds. The "Maryland 4-H Purebred Poultry Project" manual, published just last year, gives detailed instructions on housing and management.

For those who like the unusual, specialty birds can provide an interesting 4-H project. Rearing pheasants, quail, ducks, geese or peafowl can be both profitable and educational.

Want more information? Check with 4-H agents representing the University of Maryland's Cooperative Extension Service in every Maryland county and in Baltimore. They can provide free literature and project books as well as sources of stock for 4-H poultry projects.

Do your own farm profile

NEWARK, DE — "Much of the information available on farm financial management is either too simple to be of much use, or far too complex for anyone but an accountant to understand," says University of Delaware extension economist Gerald Vaughn. "But I think we've found a financial tool for farmers that's just right. It's the best I've seen."

The tool Vaughn's talking about is called a "Farm Financial Profile" — a 34-page do-it-yourself aid which can help farm operators understand their farm businesses more fully. The document was adapted to Delaware conditions from a publication under the same title prepared by extension agricultural economists at the University of Georgia.

The "Farm Financial Profile" is intended to be self-teaching and can be completed in only a few days. "With it," says Vaughn, "farmers can determine their economic status and its trend over time. They can project their expected income and outflow of cash from their current operation and evaluate alternatives which may improve their economic situation. They'll have a more realistic view of their current financial status. And they'll be in a better position to work with their lender when borrowed capital is necessary to keep the farming operation going and to make needed changes.."

Copies of the Delaware "Farm Financial Profile" are available from county extension offices in Newark (451-2506), Dover (736-1448) and Georgetown (856-7303).

NOTICE

Dangler & Williams arch support specialists from Ohio are now making regular trips to your area. (PA, DE, VA & MD).

They will be giving free footprints to see if you need arch supports

The arch supports are hand crafted from a light-weight leather made from impressions of your feet. Your feet are like the foundation of a building. If you strain your feet, it can cause you to have trouble in other parts of the body.

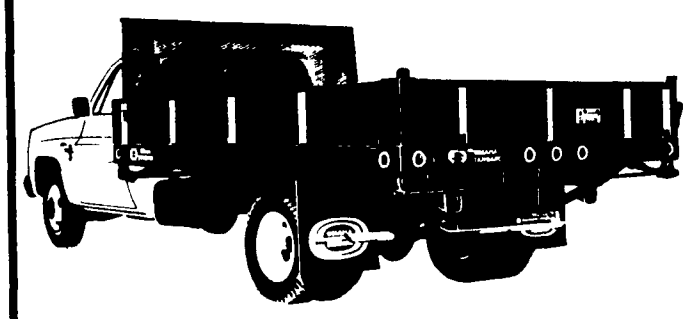
Tri-Loader...

European-style Contractor Body



The European-style Tri-Loader body is an extremely versatile piece of equipment. It features 14" hinged sides which fold down or remove completely for loading from either side, a double-acting tailgate, hinged top and bottom for dumping and spreading operations with forward controls. Swaged (indented) 3-light cluster in rear outrail for better light protection and appearance. Heavy duty steel bulkheads with full width mesh windows combine maximum protection and visibility. The rugged 96" wide platform offers maximum payload and is available in wood, smooth steel, treadplate steel or steel over wood flooring

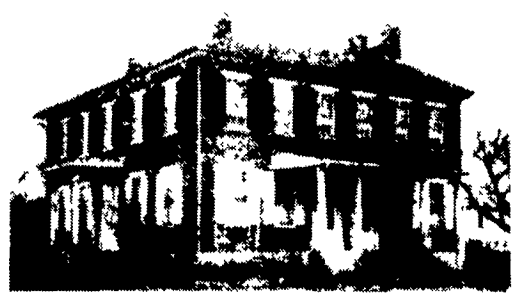
"Please see me now - I need a new owner before spring"



"I boast a very nice brick house w/new roof, large bank barn which is an obsolete dairy & beef operation but in good repair. I also have a new metal equip. shed & a three car garage. Lots of nice big trees in the front yard overlooking some of the nicest land in Cumberland Co. As a matter of fact there are over 200 acres to my claim, all of it level limestone soil. I even have approx. 1.8 mile of road frontage. Please help me - I am lonely - there is not much activitiy around here anymore since my owner lives here alone and can no longer use all of my precious assets.

25 Acre Farmette, large tobacco shed used for loafing pens, bank barn w/37 comfort stalls, very nice house w/carport, pond & stream, Wrightsville area. $125,000

97 acres - 2 houses, level land, stream, large bank barn, corn barn & milkhouse. Ready to sacrifice - call now.

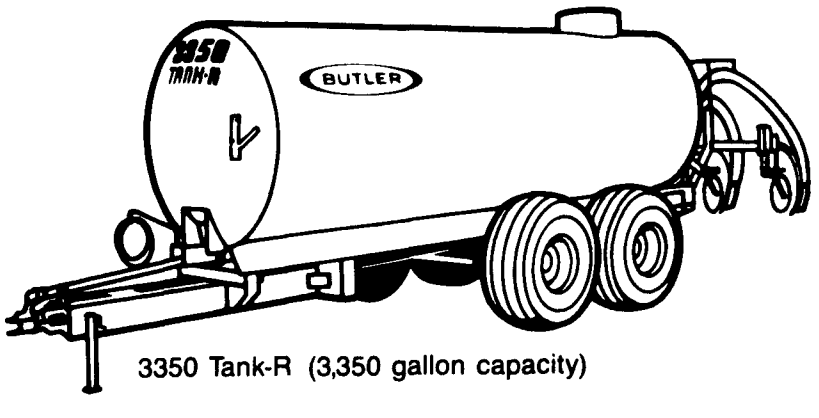
BUTLER® | Livestock Systems

builds performance leaders

More Muscle!



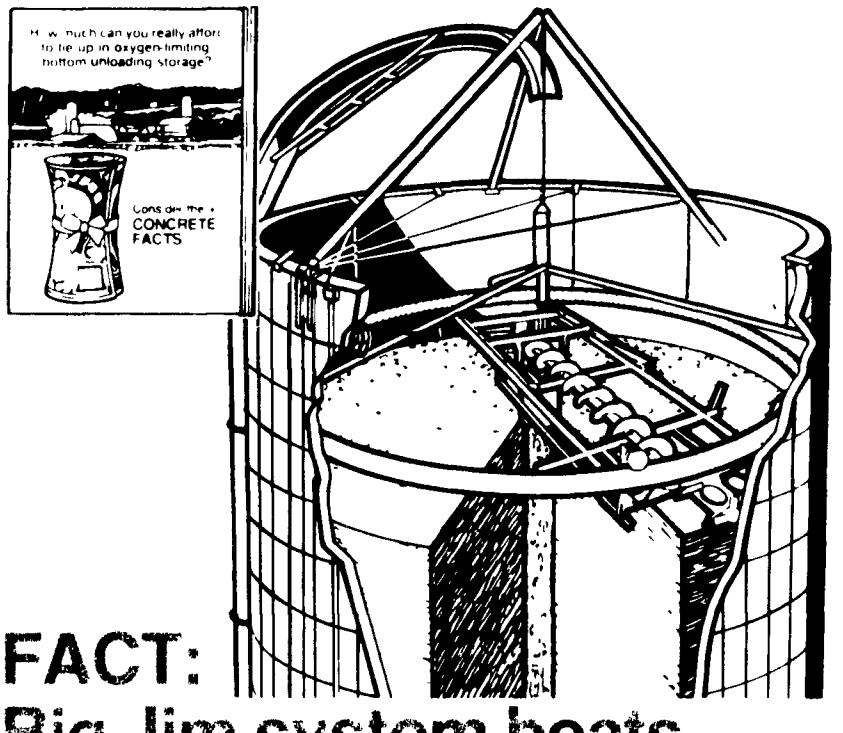
3350 Tank-R (3,350 gallon capacity)

Butler Spreader Tank-Rs are built heavy, inside and out, to give more years of worry-free service. Look at some of the muscle-power:

- Protective interior tank coating
- Full length skids and bolted undercarriages
- Optional rear mounted injectors are built tough to stand up under rough field conditions
- Rear slinger gives an even spread (30- to 40-ft. swath)
- Choice of 540 or 1,000 RPM direct drive heavy-duty PTO

Available in 3 models, with capacities of 1,500, 2,300 and 3,350 gallons.

See us for the performance leaders . . . in systems and service.



FACT: Big Jim system beats bottom unloaders cold

Because the Big Jim system, from Butler Livestock Systems, top unloads silage, then discharges it down a big preformed center hole and out the bottom, you can store high moisture silage—with more total feed value than low moisture silage—without cold weather worries. And without the big price tag of oxygen-limiting, bottom-unloading systems. Ask for FREE Concrete Facts booklet. See us for the performance leaders...in systems and service.

For top corn yields this year!

UNIPEL® 21-7-14 fertilizer!!

It meets the changing needs of most soils and supplies the ratio of Nitrogen, Phosphate and Potash.. to maintain a favorable plant-nutrient balance for top grain and forage production.

Pelleted UNIPEL 21-7-14 is an ideal fertilizer for the grower who wants a Uniform Single Application of a complete fertilizer on corn in Spring or Fall. It's especially good for programming high yield corn for grain, or for silage, and for corn/soybean rotations

No need to rely on others to pick your rocks — just hook up your Front End Rock Picker anytime and do the work of 8 10 men

When you are finished just pu the pins or release your QUICK TACH and set the rock picking assembly aside until you need it again

Picture below shows raking rocks in a river bed — this is a more difficult operation than average as rocks are under rocks

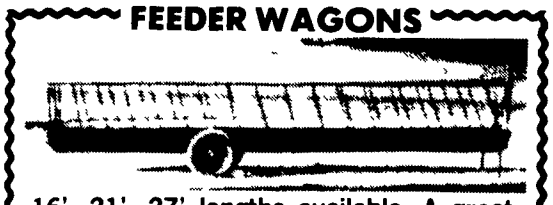
FEEDER WAGONS



16', 21', 27' lengths available. A great feature for feeding cattle in meadows or in feed lots. Can be used for feeding round bales.
If old gas tanks are used for feeder wagon bottoms, they should be sand blasted. If not, the gas and rust may result in sick cattle or even death. Be safe and buy from us as ours are sand blasted before being painted.

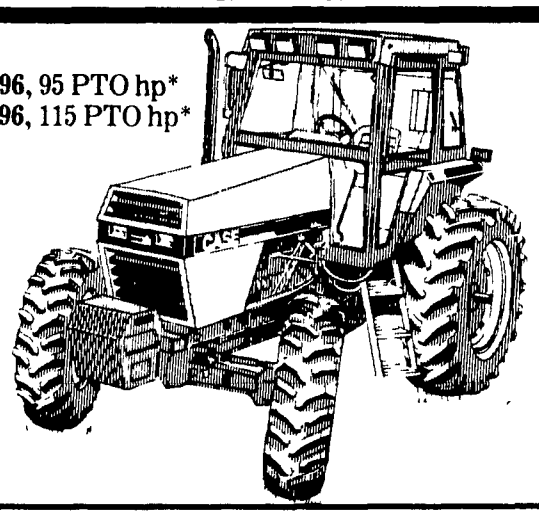
Case International 1896 & 2096 Tractors

Modern, efficient diesels are the key to field performance

1896, 95 PTO hp*
2096, 115 PTO hp*



Field efficiency begins with modern engines that are the combination of proven diesel and turbocharging technology, computer-assisted design and advanced manufacturing techniques. The result: Exceptional lugging ability, excellent fuel efficiency, long-term reliability and very smooth operation.

Optional Mechanical Front Drive (MFD) provides extra traction and bonus pulling power in marginal conditions. It allows you to get many jobs started earlier and to finish sooner. You'll get more output from your implements; you'll accomplish more every day and squeeze more work out of each gallon of fuel.

All this plus advanced instrumentation that helps you work more efficiently and the extra convenience that only a Silent Guardian cab can provide are yours in Case 1896 and 2096 tractors.

A Fully Digital Monitor for how much?

Under $200.00!
But don't let the low price fool you . . .

CALC AN ACRE is a table of hectare acre counter that a curator calculates and displays a reading with the touch of a button. It incorporates a dual counting system that makes it possible to reset and record individual fields while maintaining a running total of area worked. CALC AN ACRE is also a digital speedometer that provides true ground speed.

The compact console features a five digit vacuum fluorescent readout and sealed control panel with six push on five function keys.

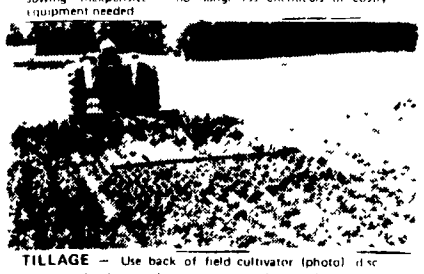
SAVE $$$ WITH AN INEXPENSIVE TILLAGE TOOL
A Good Idea That Works

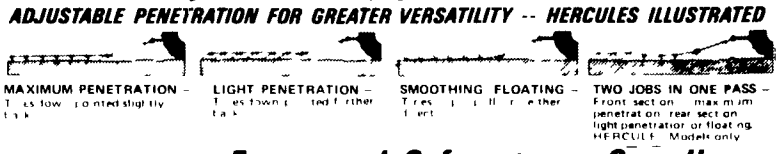
PASTURE MAINTENANCE – stimulate grass growth. Scatters droppings helps [illegible] parasites. Turns out dead growth. Aerates for better [illegible] penetration works in fertilizer. Flexes to cover every inch of the ground.

PASTURE RENOVATION at Low Cost – Effective and [illegible] Scarifies [illegible] pare shallow seedbed without destroying existing turf. Use to cover seed after sowing. Inexpensive – no danger [illegible] chemicals or costly equipment needed.



TILLAGE – Use back of field cultivator (photo) disc spring tooth plow or alone – prepares a fine seedbed by [illegible] rust on hard packed soil. Use for first cultivation [illegible] beans etc. Covers small grain back of broadcaster.

FUERST F-L-E-X-I-B-L-E TINE HARROW®
ADJUSTABLE PENETRATION FOR GREATER VERSATILITY -- HERCULES ILLUSTRATED



MAXIMUM PENETRATION – Tines low [illegible] pointed slightly [illegible]

LIGHT PENETRATION – Tines [illegible] down [illegible] ted further [illegible]

SMOOTHING FLOATING – Tines [illegible] [illegible] either [illegible]

TWO JOBS IN ONE PASS – Front section maximum penetration, rear section light penetration or floating. HERCULES Models only.

HERCULES — Faster and Safer at any Speed!

Unique tine design [illegible] exclusive spreader bars allow much greater speeds, save labor, time and money. Others recommend operation at 3 to 4 mph for higher speeds they skip, jump and skim the surface (loosing effectiveness). See chart for added acreage covered by Hercules.

Acres covered per hour at various speeds

Width (Ft.)	3 mph	3½ mph	4 mph	5 mph	6 mph	*7 mph	*8 mph
8 ft	2.4	2.8	3.2	4	4.8	5.6	6.4
10 ft	3	3.5	4	5	6	7	8
12 ft	3.6	4.2	4.8	6	7.2	8.4	9.6
16 ft	4.8	6	6.4	8	9.6	11.2	12.8
20 ft	6	7	8	10	12	14	16
24 ft	7.2	8.4	9.6	12	14.4	16.8	19.2

*Only the Fuerst Hercules design allows effective coverage and operation at these higher speeds

Easy to use, handle, store

Specially designed 7/16 (10.5 mm) steel tines – virtually indestructible. No parts to grease, oil, tighten. Design and construction assures maximum penetration while flexing to cover every inch of the ground.

Connecting front and rear sections of Hercules Harrow

All models sectionalized for ease of handling. Sections roll up for compact storage, transport. All FUERST Harrows easily assemble, disassemble without tools. If ever needed, parts readily available.

KRAUSE

BEFORE YOU BUY A DISC HARROW

COMPARE A KRAUSE

KRAUSE

Krause Rockflex Discs are unequalled in the field.

COMPARE

TIE RODS AND SPOOLS

Alloy steel tie rods are 1¾" in diameter on heavy duty units (1½" on medium duty). There's a nut on both ends for easy servicing. Krause spools are ductile iron and weigh 20-30 lbs. each. Precision machined with large diameter bells to fit snug against disc blade SPOOLS ARE KRAUSE MADE.

COMPARE

FRAMES

WING HINGES
Krause uses big 1¾" diameter bolts on HD units (1½" on medium duty) with over 10" of wear surface area

We have over 500 rockflex discs in the fields of PA, MD, NJ and DE. These Krause owners continue to prove daily that the Krause disc levels and cuts better than any other disc they've ever owned.

COMPARE

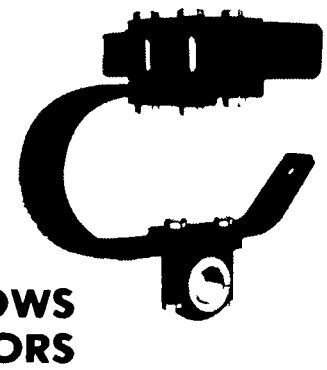
"ROCKFLEX" BEARING ARMS

Krause invented the Rockflex" arm in 1965. This C-shaped arm flexes over obstacles. It helps protect disc blades and spools from breakage



COMPARE

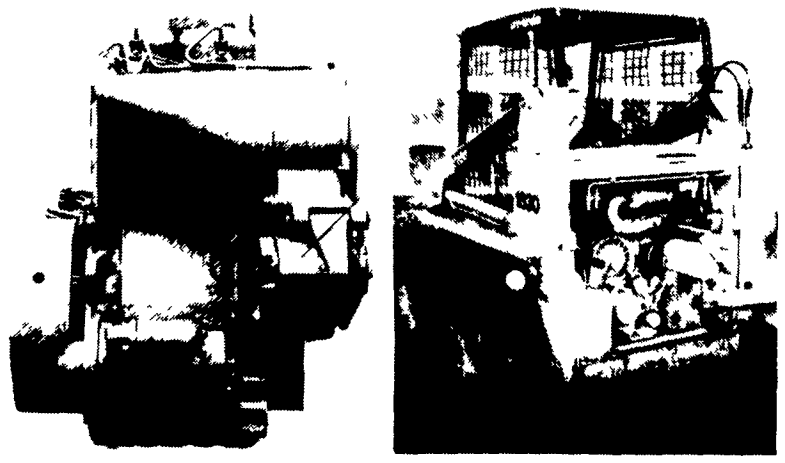
MADE FOR EACH OTHER



- Next time your skid-steer loader engine breaks down, have a Deutz repower job done by us - or do it yourself with some advice from us. Costs much less than new diesel loaders, plus accelerated tax depreciation rate too. Plus fuel savings alone could return the purchase price.
- Repower with a DEUTZ F2L-511 diesel, 30 Hp @ 2300 RPM SPECIAL SALE of surplus engines, loader version, spec #251-015/02. This engine is the diesel option used in many major brand skid loaders.
- Most hydro drive and some belt drive skid loaders can be economically repowered.

DEUTZ F2L-511 Engine: (Offer #91385 Only) $1,695.00

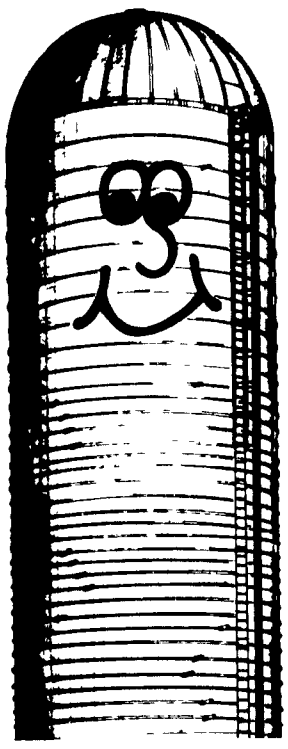
YOUR TIRED OLD SILO CAN BE YOUR VERY BEST FRIEND.



LET MADISON SHOW YOU HOW.

We have a fully trained, professional Madison Silo crew ready to restore your old silos — regardless of brand — back to a profitable condition on your farm.

We rebuild silos — including correcting lean where necessary.

Madison Silos prepares your silo by sandblasting all areas to be Gunited.

Remember...Madison Silos is the only company that sandblasts!

Ask about the best silo repair warranty in the business. You will be pleasantly surprised.

The clear strength advantage of the new Calumet S-3750 spreader tank

You see it first in the "over-built" undercarriage.

We wanted an exceptionally strong 3 750 gallon liquid spreader tank. We got it by using the under carriage from our big 4 500 gallon spreader. We also used the bigger model s 18 x 22 5 16 ply tires on 4 inch spindles and 16 000 lb capacity hub. And like all Calumet tanks the new S 3750 features extra strength flanged heads and continuous finished welding of tank to frame (instead of skip welds).

The S 3750 operates from 540 or 1000 RPM PTO or optional hydraulic motor drive. It accepts our 2 or 4 shank soil injectors. Four wheel hydraulic brakes are controlled from the tractor cab. Liquid level indicator is standard. And the price is right.

If you're thinking about a new tank, see the new competitively priced S 3750 at your Calumet distributor. Other models offer 2250 3250 4500 and 6500 gallon capacities. All are built strong as a Calumet by the strong company in liquid manure equipment.

Pork Council addresses identification, sulfa issues

DES MOINES, Iowa – Delegates at the 1986 Annual Meeting of the National Pork Producers Council (NPPC) in St. Louis, March 11-12, approved two producer task force reports and resolutions on various subjects ranging from advertising to food safety practices.

The report of the Antibiotics/Sulfa Task Force, chaired by Mike Wehler, a producer/director from Plain, WI, included a recommended five-point program to combat currently high sulfa residue levels in hog carcasses at times of slaughter. The Task Force recommended support of mandatory identification to the point of origin.

Noting that USDA fully intends to reduce sulfa residue violations if the industry does not address the problem itself, the Task Force report said an on-going national education program can make producers more aware of the problem and the tools available to avoid it. The report said good management and the use of granulated sulfamethazine products can ensure sulfa-free pork. It encouraged enforcement by the Food and Drug Administration on the use of soluble sulfa powder. The Task Force report encouraged a producer/industry protection program by testing feed, ingredients and hogs.

The Task Force indicated that sulf-safe pilot projects in Illinois and Iowa were successful in demonstrating the various causes of sulfa residues. The pilot projects also provide a framework to field test new fast-screening testing methods.

The Swine ID Task Force, chaired by NPPC vice president Tom Miller, a producer from Maricopa, AZ, recommended support of mandatory identification of all slaughter hogs back to the last farm of ownership. It also encouraged packers to share health and carcass quality information with pork producers. USDA Veterinary Services is involved in research and development of a bar coding system and will evaluate its practical application in a swine identification program. Meantime, preliminary work at Michigan State University shows promise that a system of identification, using the slap tatoo along with some new electronic data recording equipment, can help provide useful carcass and health information back to producers.

The 1986 NPPC Delegate Body did not consider a recently completed report by a jury panel of industry representatives that recommended the pork industry move toward a goal of pseudorabies (PRV) eradication. The NPPC Executive Committee earlier had officially received the jury report and sent it to NPPC's PRV Oversight Committee for further evaluation. The committee is expected to review the jury report and will await the completion of PRV pilot projects in several states this fall before making a firm recommendation. NPPC delegates will make the ultimate decision for NPPC.

Delaware resumes poultry auctions

DOVER, DE – The Delaware Department of Agriculture has announced it is lifting the ban on public poultry auctions.

The ban had been placed on public auctions as a precaution against the spread of avian influenza (AI) by Secretary of Agriculture William Chandler, Jr. on January 24, 1986.

In announcing the lifting of the ban, State Veterinarian Dr. H. Wesley Towers, Jr. said the Agriculture Department will not be relaxing health standards for poultry. "We will be inspecting all poultry sold at auctions for at least the next 30 days", said Towers.

At least 20 birds from each poultry flock owner will be tested, according to the State Veterinarian. In addition, poultry owners are being advised to take precautions including careful observation of birds for signs of avian influenza.

The ban was lifted because there have been no further field cases of AI in the past 30 days.

Towers reminds poultry farmers and others that avian influenza is easily spread and although it is deadly to chickens and turkeys, it is not a risk to human health through direct contact or by consumption of poultry and eggs.

Maryland promotes poultry biosecurity

Bradley J. Hilty (right), an Extension agricultural agent in Wicomico County, on Maryland's lower Eastern Shore, discusses "Don't Yield to Visitors in Poultry Houses" sign with Randolph Clark, manager of the Southern States Cooperative feed store outlet in Salisbury. Developed by the Mid-Atlantic Cooperative Extension poultry health and management unit, the sign is intended for display at feed stores throughout a five-state area. Participating feed stores also will have MACE educational leaflets on bio-security and nutrition available for free pickup by poultry producers, especially those with small or specialty flocks.

NPPC to coordinate national pork checkoff programs

DES MOINES, Iowa – Noting that producer involvement is at an all-time high, Ron Kahle, president of the National Pork Producers Council, told elected delegates at the organization's annual meeting March 11 in St. Louis, that approval of the 100-percent national pork producer checkoff has set a new course for the nation's pork producers.

Kahle said that after the new checkoff goes into effect late in 1986, NPPC will continue to be the only organization completely devoted to developing and administering policy programs and projects that offer all pork producers the best opportunity for a reasonable profit.

The NPPC president said he hopes the members of the new independent Delegate Body and the new independent Pork Board will recognize that producers are not interested in development of a new bureaucracy but rather want the industry's existing resources and energy pooled to build a stronger, more effective pork industry.

"Shaping public policy is crucial to the survival of any industry in this modern day of rapid change," Kahle told producer-delegates. "For this reason, NPPC will continue to serve in the coordinating role of establishing long-range industry direction," he said Preliminary results of a national survey now being conducted of NPPC members and non-members indicates that about 80 percent of producers believe the new Pork Board should be a collection and contracting body, with producer direction still coordinated through the NPPC and its member states. Complete results of the national survey are expected to be released this summer.

Kahle told delegates they should return to their home states and work hard for the selection of progressive, well-qualified pork producers to the independent Delegate Body whose members will be nominated this spring and elected by pork producers in a special election in every state later this summer.

"The caliber of people you nominate and elect within the next few months to serve on the independent Delegate Body will literally hold the destiny of the NPPC in their hands," the NPPC president said. He expressed the hope that the majority of Delegates at the 1986 NPPC Annual Meeting would constitute the independent Delegate Body, in order to assure consistent industry policy and programs.

It's no yolk:

Penn State researchers hope to develop hard-shelled egg

BY JULIE LALO
Penn State Public Information Specialist

UNIVERSITY PARK – If Penn State researchers had been around when nursery egg Humpty Dumpty had his great fall, they might have been able to save him. Or at least made him less likely to break.

At Penn State, poultry scientists are aiming for an egg with a tougher shell. To do that, says Roland Leach, they first have to unlock the secret behind the crystal structure of the sturdy, but fragile protection a chicken gives her eggs.

It started with manipulation of diet, the professor of poultry science says. He learned that manganese and copper deficiencies could cause chickens to lay "enlarged eggs with wrinkled shells."

And he discovered that the formation of the eggshell occurred a lot earlier in the process than prior research had indicated. Eggs are formed during a 24½-hour trip through a hen's oviduct, where they are developed from the inside, or yolk, out, the poultry scientist says.

"Now we know that the crystals are formed earlier, during the membrane formation, and feel that these early events of shell deposition may ultimately determine the structure of the shell which is deposited later in the shell gland," he says.

While a hen is busy making the membrane that we all know as the rubbery extra shell on a hard-boiled egg, she also starts to deposit the initial calcite crystals of the shell, Leach found.

Now he is left with more questions. "Do the initial crystal sites determine shell structure? How important is crystal structure to the strength of an egg? Lastly, how can this be manipulated?"

Leach is certain that if the right crystal structure can be established, he can make it an inherited quality which could be bred into egg-laying chickens.

"It is already done to generate thicker-shelled eggs," he says. In fact, thickness is a trait that will prevent 60 to 70 percent of egg breakage. But 30 to 40 percent of the breakage does occur to thick-shelled eggs, so other factors such as crystal structure are contributing to a weakness of the egg shell.

"Creating a stronger eggshell barrier is important for economic, consumer and health reasons," says Herbert Siegel, head of the department of poultry science.

Broken eggs represent 6 to 8 percent of all U.S. eggs produced. "Checked" eggs, which contain cracks in the outer shell only, may be diverted to liquid or dried egg products, says Siegel. But leakers, which are eggs with broken membranes, cannot be used for human consumption. Penn State food science researchers are developing alternative uses for these.

"From a consumer point of view, to boil a soft-shelled egg only to have it crack before it has cooked will cause a producer to lose customers," Siegel adds. "Finally, there is always a potential when the shell is breached that undesirable flavors and organisms can invade the edible portion of an egg."

The creation of a more sturdy egg is so important to Leach that he calls his search for answers a "holy grail."

"The holy grail would be a fantastically strong egg," he says. It is probably not ironic that the poultry scientist would use a religious reference to this most universal of foods, deeply embedded in theological tradition. Says Siegel, 'The egg and its creator, the chicken, are two of the few animal food items that have not been religiously or culturally prohibited in some part of the world."

Eggs and chickens are eaten worldwide, he says, unlike beef, which Hindus do not eat, or pork, which the Jewish and Moslem faiths prohibit. In fact, increased egg sales, he says, do reflect this food's added significance during the spring holy days of Lent and Passover, appearing as it does in the Easter basket and on the seder plate.

Theological connection or not, Professor Leach will continue to search for his grail, while the old saw paraphrased might read, "You have to break a few eggs to keep most of them whole."

NY Cattlemen begin direct marketing program

Lee Kraszewski has been named the coordinator of the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association Direct Marketing Program for feeder cattle in New York State.

This state-wide direct marketing program has received a one-year grant of $30,000 from the State Department of Agriculture and Markets for development and implementation.

The naming of Kraszewski as coordinator by the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association direct marketing committee sets this marketing program in action. Kraszewski is currently working to explain the program to beef producers, farm organizations, and agricultural agencies that support beef production in the state.

Kraszewski said that while the concept of a state-wide direct marketing program for the sale of feeder calves this fall will be new, the direct marketing program has been very successful in the state on a smaller scale for the past two years in the "north country". There the Northern New York Beef Cooperative (now part of the Northern Division of the Beef Cattlemen's Association) has operated a direct marketing program of preconditioned feeder cattle.

Under the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association Direct Marketing Program beef producers across the state will be invited in late summer to nominate their feeder calves and to commit themselves to the program by following preconditioning guidelines, by accepting the decisions of the on-farm grader, and by bringing their calves to a central point on a specified date for their sale, which will have been made by the coordinator.

Kraszeski said the Direct Marketing Program is expected to give cattlemen a better price by enabling buyers to bid competitively on uniform lots of preconditioned feeders. "These lots will have the numbers needed to encourage volume buying and competitive bidding," Kraszewski said, noting most cow/calf operations lack adequate numbers to direct market their calves on an individual basis.

The Direct Marketing Program will also encourage better management practices since quality standards for calves to be sold in the program will be strictly enforced.

Kraszewski said the Direct Marketing Program will not supplant the New York Beef Cattlemen's Association Feeder Calf Sale program. Spring Feeder Calf Sales are April 19 at Angelica and May 10 at Chatham, and the Fall Feeder Calf Sales are Oct.25 at Angelica, Nov. 1 at Chatham and Nov. 15 at Caledonia.

"The Direct Marketing Program is another alternative for the cattleman — an alternative that demands quality of product and commitment of the producer," Kraszewski emphasized. "We anticipate the Direct Marketing Program to generate more income by ensuring a fair market price; to increase the quantity of desirable feeder cattle produced in the state; and ultimately to improve the economic viability of our state's rural communitities through greater use of abandoned hillside farms for feeder calf production," he said

For more information about the program, contact Lee Kraszeski at RD1, Box 120, Corning, NY 14830, or phone: 607-732-8619.

Vicon adds pneumatic seed drill

VIRGINIA BEACH, VA — Vicon has introduced the new Supaseeder pneumatic seed drill. It is available in 10 to 26 feet working widths, for more accurate sowing or drilling in a variety of different row spacings.

Compared to mechanical seeding, the pneumatic distribution system is more versatile and economical for large or small cereal or other crop seeds. With fewer working parts, the pneumatic seed drills are more reliable and service free.

The Supaseeder features a single central seed hopper for convenient filling and emptying of precise expensive seeds. A simple to calibrate seeding rate selector variable between 2-300 pounds per acre is effective for accurate seeding rates.

The wheel track is adjustable to enable the wheels to run on partially consolidated soil behind the tractor tracks, thus reducing wheel slip. Double track eradicators are fitted as standard equipment to remove wheel tracks to give accurate sowing depth

During sowing, the spring loaded coulters move upwards freely to allow them to pass over obstacles.

For more information, contact Vicon Farm Machinery, Inc., P.O. Box 6313, Chesapeake, Virginia 23323, or contact the Vicon representative nearest you.

USDA okays intramuscular injection of Philiguard

KENILWORTH, N.J. – Schering Animal Health has received USDA approval for the intramuscular administration of PILIGUARD® Pinkeye. Previously restricted to subcutaneous injection, PILIGUARD Pinkeye was the first USDA-licensed pinkeye vaccine approved for cattle.

The newly approved intramuscular dose provides producers with an easier, more convenient method of administration. PILIGUARD Pinkeye will be marketed under the Schering Animal Health label, a new designation for Schering products available through animal health suppliers. Originally introduced in 1983, the vaccine has been proven highly effective through extensive field use.

PILIGUARD Pinkeye prevents Moraxella bovis bacteria, the major cause of bovine pinkeye, from adhering to the eye. The vaccine's highly concentrated dose is made possible through Schering's advanced technology and production techniques.

Two 2-ml intramuscular or subcutaneous doses of PILIGUARD Pinkeye are required for initial immunization.

The initial dose should be given six to eight weeks prior to pinkeye season, which generally peaks in mid- to late summer. A second dose should be administered one to four months after the first injection. Cattle should not be slaughtered within 21 days of vaccination.

For more information on PILIGUARD Pinkeye, contact your animal health supplier or write to Dennis White, Schering Animal Health, 2000 Galloping Hill Road, Kenilworth, N.J. 07033. Telephone. 201-558-4434.

Weaver's 31st annual Spring Sale draws buyers from five states

LEOLA — Prices were about average, interest was high and the weather couldn't have been better as M. M. Weaver and Sons held its annual spring housecleaning auction of used and trade-in farm equipment.

The event, which attracted 727 registered buyers this year, began 31 years ago when the Leola firm decided to unload its inventory of machinery trade-ins.

Monday's event drew participants from New Jersey, Maryland, Delaware and New York, to buy consigned and used merchandise Most of the consignments came from individual farmers who were trying to get rid of unnecessary equipment, said Ervin Weaver from the host firm.

The crowd paid over $300,000 for the more than 500 items, consuming $2,500 worth of hot dogs and soups during the day-long affair

Tractors were off in sales, Weaver said, while field equipment sold well. Prices ranged from 50-cent and $1 items to a $27,300 bid on a combine.

Auctioneers for the event were John Stauffer and Paul Martin of J and P Auctions, assisted by Randy Kline.

"Sold," says auctioneer Randy Kline (center, white hat), as bidding concludes on a Massey-Ferguson harvest wagon.

A large crowd engulfs John Stauffer as he sells one of the many smaller pieces of equipment offered at the sale.

Massey-Ferguson creates 'MF Club'

DES MOINES, IA — Massey-Ferguson has launched a new and exciting concept in the agricultural industry — the MF Club — offering special privileges and cost-saving benefits to owners of MF equipment.

Two years in development, the MF Club will provide farmers and their families an added value to MF ownership, and make available more personalized contact between Massey-Ferguson and its customers.

Some of the unique benefits available to MF Club members include the opportunity to charge parts and service at participating MF dealers with the new Sears Discover Card, and substantial savings on group insurance programs including major medical, life, disability (income protection), hospital indemnity, and annuities. A free $10,000 personal accident policy is issued automatically upon enrollment in the club.

Members also have the opportunity to participate in MF Club travel to exciting destinations. Reservations are now available for trips to Disney World in Orlando, Expo '86 in Vancouver, Hawaii, and a European Farm Tour. All trips are available to MF Club members at savings over normal travel costs.

Other member benefits include discounts on hotel/motels, car rentals, MF Club clothing and other merchandise.

Massey-Ferguson will continue to add new programs and new benefits in 1986, all at great savings to MF Club members.

An MF Club Headquarters Hotline is available for the exclusive use of MF Club members, and a regularly issued newsletter will keep members informed of Club activities around the world.

Membership in the MF Club is open to all owners of new or used Massey-Ferguson tractors, combines, swathers, and balers, or new implements.

The annual membership fee is $25.00. However, during 1986, new members will receive a $25 MF parts certificate upon enrollment in the club, so that membership the first year is actually free.

An MF Club brochure and membership application form are available at Massey-Ferguson dealerships, or write to MF Club, 1901 Bell Avenue, Des Moines, Iowa 50315.

The Farm Credit System

New director at Farm Credit

BALTIMORE — The Board of Directors of the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore announces the selection of a new district director to fill the unexpired term of Harold K. Bailey who died last October. E. McDonald Berryman was elected to the board by the Federal Land Bank Associations.

Born in Surry County, Virginia, Berryman, 39, now makes his home in Elberon, Virginia. A diversified farmer, Berryman's operation includes 250 acres of peanuts, 350 acres of corn, 500 acres of small grain and soybeans along with 200 sows in a hog operation. He also has 500 acres of pine timber.

Along with his farming background, Berryman has served as past president of the Federal Land Bank Association in Waverly, Virginia. He is presently a director for the Farmers United, Inc., and Southern States Cooperative and has served as a former director for the Virginia-Carolina Peanut Association

Berryman belongs to the Surry Ruritan and is active in the Oak Grove Methodist Church where he is assistant Sunday school director.

The seven member board of directors sets lending policies for the Farm Credit Banks of Baltimore and their 26 affiliated Federal Land Bank Associations and Production Credit Associations across the Baltimore Farm Credit District.

Vaughn appointed

ARLINGTON, VA — The board of directors of Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc., named Robert E. Vaughn general manager of the producer organization effective mid-January 1986.

Vaughn, a graduate of the University of Maryland, has served both as a field representative and as the division manager at the cooperative's Manufacturing Plant in Laurel, Md.

Vaughn succeeds James E. Click who after 40 years with the cooperative is retiring as general manager, a position he has held for 22 years. Click will continue to hold the secretary-treasurer position that he has held since 1964.

Maryland and Virginia Milk Producers Cooperative Association, Inc., located here, is a 1350-member organization with member-owners in five states. The dairy-farmer producer cooperative has supplied raw milk since 1920 to the majority of processors in the Washington, D.C and Virginia markets.

Pioneer researcher to aid crop group

TIPTON, IN — The Conservation Tillage Information Center (CTIC) announced recently that the Agronomy Services Department Manager for the Eastern Division of Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Inc. was elected a member of its executive committee.

Dr. Robert Palmer was elected at the organization's national meeting in Nashville, Tennessee. He replaces Marlin Edwards, director of Agricultural Resources for Pioneer. Palmer is also a member of the CTIC Research Sub committee.

"Pioneer has a long, active history of supporting conservation efforts and promoting agricultural practices that conserve soil and water resources at the same time they maximize income potential Election to this committee is a continuation of the company's efforts in these areas in addition to being a personal honor," Palmer says.

The CTIC officially opened in Fort Wayne, Indiana on January 1, 1983. Its purpose is to serve as a clearinghouse for the collection and dissemination of conservation tillage information.

Corn Growers affirm support for ethanol program

ST. LOUIS, MO — The board of directors of the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) voted for a unanimous reaffirmation of its support for the nation's fuel ethanol program at its recent board meeting in Washington, D.C.

"In noting the welcome relief and favorable economic forecasts resulting from declining crude oil, gasoline and heating oil prices, NCGA directors from 17 states expressed concern that the current energy market decline may encourage policy complacency with regard to long-term energy supply and security," said Dain Friend, NCGA president.

"The reality of fossil fuel depletion was starkly demonstrated with gasoline shortages twice in the last dozen years," Friend continued. "The U.S. is even more vulnerable today in that we consume 25 percent of the world's oil production but the U.S. holds only 4 percent of the proven oil reserves.

"Against this backdrop, the U.S fuel ethanol industry supplied 7 percent of all motor fuels utilized in 1985. This volume of fuel was produced in the U.S. utilizing 240 million bushels of U.S. corn as the feedstock, representing a 40 percent volume increase over 1984. This resulted in a savings of approximately 8 million barrels of crude oil imports valued at approximately $200 million.

"In light of this performance, the NCGA recognizes the increasing value and importance of continued fuel ethanol production increases for the benefit of U.S. consumers, the general economy and US agriculture," said Friend.

Deutz-Allis introduces new garden tractor

MILWAUKEE, WI – Deutz-Allis recently announced introduction of the new 1900 series "Ultima" garden tractors. The 18 HP 1918 and the 20 HP 1920 are new from the ground up, according to Sam Smith, Manager of Lawn & Garden Operations.

"The 'Ultima' tractors combine automotive and agricultural technologies to set unprecedented performance and reliability standards," said Smith. "One example of that is our ducted airflow design that draws cool clean air through screens at the top and rear of the hood, allowing these tractors to operate up to 15% cooler than other similar units for longer engine life."

"Kohler Magnum engines are the heart of these units and deliver more power and more torque at lower RPM," Smith continued. "The Magnum has more powerful electronic ignition, dual filtering, improved piston design that reduced oil consumption, noise and vibration, automotive style full pressure lubrication, automotive type oil filter and an Oil Sentry lube system monitor.

"A heavy-duty tractor type drive shaft delivers power from engine to the hydrostatic transmission. No clutch/no shift hydrostatic drive means the operator enjoys smooth, effortless speed control both forward and reverse," Smith pointed out.

"The 'Ultima' tractor has a heavy-duty differential axle with massive automotive-type steel bevel gears that mean extra-long life. It is a single range on the 1918 and dual-range with a differential lock on the 1920," Smith said.

"Another big tractor feature is 'shaft drive' for front, center and rear mounted implements, eliminating slippage and tension problems associated with belts," stated Smith. "PTO power is available at the flip of a dash-mounted electric switch. Implements are hydraulically controlled with finger tip ease using a single lever."

The "Ultima" garden tractors give you compact farm tractor performance at garden tractor prices and are perfect for any job where there's more than just a little yardwork to do.

Buy quality seed for spring planting

HARRISBURG — With thoughts of spring planting coming into bloom, the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture reminds farmers and gardeners to buy only properly tested and labeled seeds.

Analysis tags on agricultural seed bags must list percentages of pure seed and other matter, germination rate and test date. The test date should not be more than nine months old.

"Seed expenses are less than five percent of crop planting costs, yet seed quality can be the difference between a good and bad harvest," according to Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Grubb.

He cautioned gardeners to buy only vegetables and flower seeds, "packed for 1986" or whose package labels state the germination rate and test date.

Consumers also are protected, Grubb said, under new lawn seed labeling regulations that require disclosure of undesirable seeds, such as orchard grass, meadow fescue, timothy and annual bluegrass. Their presence must be noted by name and number per pound.

Farm Talk

By

Jerry Webb

Hooked on machinery?

There seems to be general agreement that a lot of farmers are in trouble these days because of oversized machinery investments. They got hooked on farm machinery at a time when it was buy equipment or pay taxes. And they liked equipment.

So they bought and bought and bought beyond the real needs of their farming operations. Then when the economic good times went away, they were stuck not only with a lot of expensive, depreciating implements but also with a mind set that insisted that those machines were necessary just to survive in farming.

There are all sorts of horror stories about farmers being forced to sell out due to the faltering economy. But I've attended some of those farm sales recently and I wonder why some of those farmers weren't buried a lot sooner under the weight of their machinery inventory.

Eight or nine tractors regardless of the vintage is too many for almost any farmer. I attended a sale the other day where a fellow was scaling back — not really getting out of farming, just changing from heavy crops production into more livestock. He sold fifteen tractors.

Granted some were old and not of great value but their combined selling price even in today's depressed agricultural economy approached $25,000.

There's also the true story of a farmer who is having to give up his second combine. He's leasing it at a monthly cost of $1,800 and he's finding the payments a little hard to make. So he's going to scale back to one combine and save the difference. Relief from that monthly payment will go a long way toward saving a faltering operation.

Farmers haven't always been that machinery-oriented. In fact, if you look back in agricultural history you will find a resistance to the new labor saving machines of the early 1800's.

Cyrus McCormick and those other inventors who brought horse drawn mechanization to agriculture in the early 1800's met with great resistance. In fact, it took the Civil War and the accompanying manpower shortage to force farmers to purchase such labor saving machines as grain binders, planters and mowing machines.

Even as recently as the 1930s a farmer could get a start with only a team of mules, a wagon and a few simple-horse drawn implements. Glen Hawkins was that kind of farmer. He was a young share cropper in 1931 when he came to take over the farming chores for my aging grandfather.

He came with the bare essentials — a team of horses, a plow, a harrow, a wagon, a corn planter and a good wife. They farmed 120 acres with that inventory — long hours, hard work and some work swapping with neighbors.

Glen's cousins share cropped an adjoining farm and they had a threshing machine and some other essential tools that Glen lacked. And so he traded his strong back for the use of some of their more sophisticated machinery.

Glen had a dream. He wanted to own his own farm and so he worked day and night through the worst farming period in American history. He saved his money.

He bought an old Farmall F30 tractor and a two-bottom plow. Then a grain drill, cultivators for the tractor and a few other implements. And he continued to save his money. Twelve years of farming that Missouri Ozarks farm and he made a down payment on the place next door.

He went on to be a successful and respected farmer in the community — farming in that same hard working conservative way until health and urban pressures made it prudent for him to slow down.

I visited him last year and we reminisced about those good old days when he was a struggling share-cropper and I was a little kid following along, begging for a ride on the tractor. He remembered the humble beginning and he sympathized with today's farmers who are in financial trouble.

And speaking from 85 years of accumulated wisdom that included starting with nothing and winding up well fixed, Glen suggested that too many of today's farmers have been seduced by the need for expensive equipment.

There's a lot to be said for having the right machine at the right time. For being able to go to the field with 2 or 3 rigs and all of the necessary support equipment.

But for many farmers the time has come for taking a hard look at a farming situation and deciding on a survival tactic.

How much land can one man farm with one good tractor and a few supporting implements? I think a lot of farmers would be surprised at the answer

I'm reminded of a farmer I know who sold out about a year ago. He kept one decent old tractor and then purchased a used no-till planter. By the time the ground warmed up he was right back in farming. A lot better off financially from having sold 7 or 8 tractors, a combine, a full line of equipment and a lot extra. And he was still farming several hundred acres.

No doubt his cost for custom operators increased dramatically but I'll bet he showed a profit. And that's more than a lot of full-time farmers were able to do.

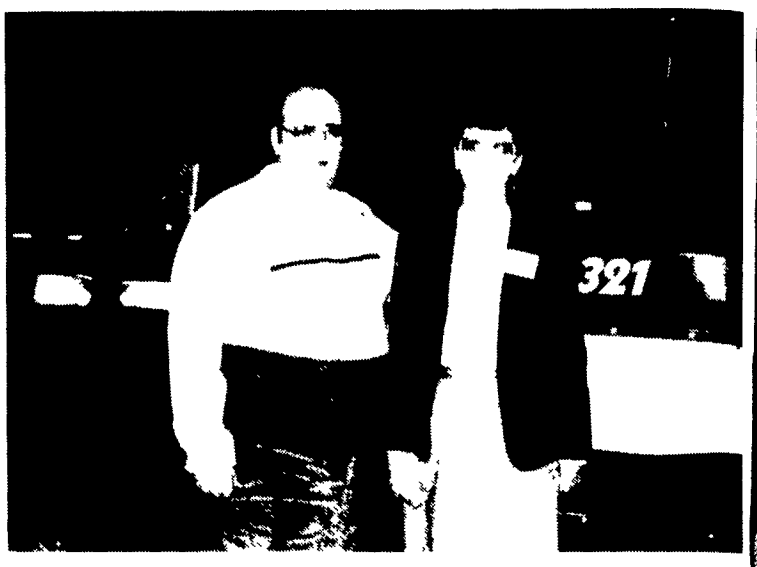
Vicon salesman wins trip



Vicon territory manager Boyd Moody and Mrs. Moody of Williamsburg, PA, stand beside a new Vicon 321 mower/conditioner while on a trip to Holland last month. They visited the RAI International Farm Machinery show in Amsterdam, The Netherlands, one of the largest farm machinery shows in the world. The trip included a visit to Vicon headquarters in Nieuw Vennep, Holland, plus visits to all parts of that country. New Idea adds disc mower line

COLDWATER, OH – A new generation of Disc Mowers is being introduced by New Idea Farm Equipment Division, Coldwater, Ohio. Mr. Tom Kinzenbaw, Vice President of Marketing, says the Disc Mower is added to their continually growing line of haytools to meet the needs of the American farmer and rancher for high speed, non-plug mowing.

Mr. Kinzenbaw states that the "new generation" concept is to provide the American farmer and rancher with a Disc Mower that is unique in design, simple in maintenance and Americanized to guarantee New Idea quality.

Unlike disc mowers with gear driven cutterbars, New Idea's Disc Mower cutterbar is designed with a single drive shaft that drives modular, sealed disc units. These sealed disc units rotate the cutting discs, providing a fast, clean cutting performance even in difficult conditions. With the simplicity of New Idea's cutterbar design, infield servicing is easy, requiring no special tools.

New Idea's Disc Mowers are available in three models: Model 526 (5'6" cutting width), Model 527 (6'8" cutting width), and Model 528 (7'10" cutting width). Each model is equipped with a hydraulic cylinder for easy positioning of the cutterbar to the transport and operating modes.

All Disc Mower models will accomodate both Category I and II tractors and feature a massive frame for the rugged durability needed with high speed performance. V-banded power belts provide a long service life and are fully enclosed for protection.

New Idea's Disc Mowers also feature a PTO with an overrunning clutch as standard equipment. The 520 Series Disc Mowers have been designed with a breakway feature to protect the unit from damage when hitting rocks or other obstructions while mowing.

One of the most advanced mowers available for the American farmer, New Idea's 520 Series Disc Mowers provide high capacity mowing in all hay crops including Timothy, Bermuda, Bahaya, Orchard Grass and Prairie Grass.

Atlantic Breeders reports positive financial year

LANCASTER — Atlantic Breeders Cooperative issued a very positive financial statement at its recent annual meeting. Finanacial director Dave Mellinger reported an increase in revenue of greater than two percent, raising total revenues to $6.3 million.

Mellinger also noted that net savings were up 23 percent to bring the savings and income total to $176,247.

More than 70 percent of the organization's $4.1 million in total revenues came from on-the-farm technician services, which added $3,246,478 to the till. Direct herd sales, which saw a growth of 14 percent, contributed $1,383,961 or 22 percent of the total revenues.

Semen sales to domestic and international markets rounded out the revenue picture. In this division, international sales totaled $951,943.

The recent fiscal year saw the export market increase 40 percent. Unit sales to Latin America were the highest ever and rose 30 percent from 1984. This encouraging trend is expected to continue into 1986.

In 1985 Atlantic made some short term borrowing to start Federated Genetics, a joint marketing venture between Atlantic, Eastern, and LABC. This union "will generate long range positive benefits to the members," Mellinger said. "Federated Genetics is surpassing all goals and member sales look good from this union of three strong organizations," he added.

David Slusser, president of the board of directors, noted that this federation will provide the members with the strongest bull lineup of any organization. "The 70 percent repeatability of the list is the highest any stud in the nation offers, at the lowest prices," Slusser reported.

In reviewing last year's financial report, Slusser credited the increase in savings to the "healthy management by the staff and the long range planning committee."

"Atlantic operates in the most progressive states with the best dairymen," Slusser said, further explaining Atlantic's successes. "The future for Atlantic is bright and challenging. The co-op has prepared for the future by giving it a great deal of thought, planning for it, and we are now aimed in the right direction," Slusser added.

In conclusion, he praised the board for making many tough decisions quickly and correctly.

Describing the year as one of growth and challenge in his report, Harry Roth, general manager, cited member sales and technician service and two areas where this was witnessed most readily. The member service program is making great strides, with the Linear-Mate opportunity receiving increased attention.

"We have the most stable, uniform population of cattle at our doorstep. Our membership area is also the most stable and has the best long range program to work with," Roth said.

Looking the to future, Roth suggested genetic advancement will be developing quickly. The marketing area will need to know how to meet the needs that come with these changes, Roth continued. He assured the group that Atlantic is ready to meet these changes and will continue to provide the best service available to its members.

Lee Kummer, John Paxton and Norman Sollenberger, retiring board members, were recognized for their service to the co-op. Paxton a board member for 21 years and Sollenberger a board member for 22 years were presented placques for their meritorious contributions.

The keynote speaker for the meeting, Dr. Terry Barr, vice president for agriculture and trade policy, explained the U.S.'s position in the world marketplace.

The U.S. entered into the world market in the 1970's, Barr explained. In that time period, one third of the agricultural products were exported. This has since dropped to 23 percent, and has stagnated, Barr said.

The reasons for this stagnation is the reduced ability of the other countries to buy, the reduced economic growth rate worldwide, favorable crop development in foreign countries and unfair trade practices, Barr noted.

Barr is optimistic about the economy for the next year, but remains pessimistic about the inflation rate. Due to the lower grain prices, he expects the prices for the livestock industry to be favorable.

Noting that current world grain stocks are at 20 percent and 10 percent is a normal level, Barr feels this will turn around, but will require more than one year.

The next two years will be a period of disappointment for many as the industry works toward a baseline approach, Barr said. "The industry must take a realistic look at where it is at and what it must do to achieve a profitable picture again," Barr concluded.

David Slusser, president, left, recognized retiring board members John Paxton and Norman Sollenberger at Atlantic's annual meeting. Paxton served on the board for 21 years and Sollenberger served for 22 years.

Putting hay to the test

Performance testing means quality forage, says extension agent

BY GINGER SECRIST MYERS
Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG — Is there a viable market for performance tested h. in southeast Pennsylvania? Dauphin County Assistant Extension Agent Bruce Kreider is confident that such a market exists and asserts, "We've got a quality product and we can afford to transport it."

Kreider believes so strongly in this area's hay marketing potential that he has established a performance tested hay directory which lists tested hay lots for sale. (The report appears weekly in Lancaster Farming under the advertisement heading of "The Haystack.") Kreider explains the need for such a listing by noting that this area has several channels for marketing hay, including auctions and dealers. However, he thinks some of these channels don't work, since the hay is often sold for less than its feed value.

The objective of the directory is to improve the quality of forages that are being marketed. "We're not looking to supplant existing markets, but we are trying to introduce new marketing trends. Right now the market rewards you for color, but what does it get you if it's made right too?" he said. "We're trying to get rewards for those who are making it correctly as well as making it pretty."

While the project has the support of several forage groups and local small farmers in Adams, Chester, Dauphin and Lehigh Counties, responses to the ads have been sparse. Dairymen are the targeted market group, Kreider explains, and although the best quality hay sells quickly, the middle and lower testing samples are receiving few inquiries.

Kreider hopes hay producers will be encouraged by what sells and improve the quality of the samples they have tested for future listings.

Kreider's office is largely responsible for the program with some assistance from Extension agents in other counties involved. The hay seller arranges to have Kreider sample the hay, and the samples are sent to the University for testing. All testing costs are paid for by state-funded small farm project funds for farms grossing less than $50,000 annually.

Kreider inspects the hay and completes a hay description sheet, which lists species, cutting, bale size, color, leaf to stem ratio, drying aid used, preservatives used, and the applicant's name, address and phone number.

When he receives the results, Kreider meets with the producer to discuss his hay quality and the possibility of listing it for sale in "The Haystack." All advertising in the directory is also covered by project funds.

The hay will then be listed according to species, location, seller's phone number, percentage protein, Total Digestible Nutrients, Relative Feed Value, and calcium and phosphorus content.

Kreider prefers the Wisconsin formula for Relative Feed Value. In this formula, Relative Feed Value uses two fiber measurements to estimate digestibility and animal consumption of the forage. Hay with a RFV of 100 would be an "average" hay in terms of animal performance.

"The Haystack" does not list a selling price; it is aimed at getting the buyer and seller together over a known tested lot of hay.

Kreider stresses that the marketing technique has played an educational role in his area as well. It has provided him with a forum to present more information to producers on how quality hay performs, how to make good hay, and how to cut loses when making hay.

One producer who has been interested in the project since its conception is Casper Kohler. His 60-acre farm sets on the edge of the urban sprawl of the city. He makes about 200 tons of alfalfa hay annually and sells it all through the auctions.

Kreider terms Kohler "one of those guys who can make hay right." Kohler, a retired postal worker, does all the labor himself, including stacking his hay on pallets in his 99x48-foot building. Because of limited labor, Kohler never cuts more than he thinks he can handle without trouble.

Kreider tested Kohler's hay by cuttings this past year. His third cutting alfalfa tested at 22 percent crude protein and had a Relative Feed Value of 145. He uses both a drying aid and a preservative when needed.

Kohler reports that through the auctions this year he has received between $50 and $120 for his hay. When asked his opinion on the success of the performance tested hay directory, he replies, "I think it's a good thing, but I'm not sure the farmers are ready to accept it. I got calls on my hay, but they were all from people away from here and they didn't like the price. I'm not sure how to set price by my test."

Kreider admits pricing is a paradox. The known test value is of advantage to dairymen, yet it is the horsemen who can afford to buy off the best hays, both RVF and cosmetically.

Eventually, Kreider says, he envisions the possibility for a brokerage or clearing house for the hay markets in this area. The broker would collect the data and test samples on the hays available and then serve as the contact between prospective seller and buyer.

Kreider would also like to see the formation of a state hay marketing association. He is enthusiastic about marketing performance tested hay and sees "The Haystack" and the support he has received from producers as steps in the right direction.

Keeping up with prices can improve your profits

BY RICHARD BARCZEWSKI
University of Delaware

How many times have you sold a load of hogs to a local sale only to find out that hogs were selling better somewhere else? Keeping abreast of local market trends can increase the profitability of your operation.

Often one sale barn will be doing considerably better than another with regards to prices, and if you follow trends in the number of animals sold, that barn will be selling more hogs than the other markets. It pays to shop around for a good market.

Now I realize that the location of sale barns plays a crucial role in the price differentials needed to make extra traveling profitable. Fat hogs generally will vary little from sale to sale.

The week of February 10, for example, prices ranged from $43 to $49.75, depending on pig type (U.S. #1, #2, #3 or #4) and pig weight (200 to 325 pounds) at area markets.

The key is to know what type of hog to raise and at what weight to sell it. Generally speaking, a U.S. #1 market hog is the most desirable, and brings the highest price in the 210- to 245-pound weight range.

The more uniform the lot with regard to type and weight, the higher the price. Keep up on weekly trends in fat hog prices through farm publications. A two-cent price differential might not seem like much, but two cents per pound works out to $4.50 on each animal sold.

If you normally sell 50 hogs each time you market, this two-cent price difference can add up to $225. If you use your own truck and the higher market is 100 miles farther than your local market, is $225 enough to justify your trucking costs and about five hours of your time?

In most cases, the answer would be yes, but might vary depending on whether you own a truck or not, the cost of operating the truck and how much you value your time.

Price variations are even greater for feeder pigs. In the table below I've recorded price ranges per pound for 40-, 50- and 60-pound feeder pigs at three different sales.

	Price At Sale Barn
Pig weight	A	B	C
40-49 pounds	$.93-1.05	$.79-.98	$.65-.72
50-59 pounds	$.84- .92	$.77-.96	$.68-.71
60-69 pounds	$.80- .85	$.64-.75	$.65-.70

These prices were all taken from a local paper and are from sales held on February 10 and 12.

What do these numbers mean? Obviously, sale A had the highest prices overall when looking at the lower price range in each weight class. And some variation in prices occurs at different pig weights.

Can you afford to drive the additional 85 miles from sale C to sale A for the price difference? This depends on how many feeder pigs you have to sell and what they grade. Price differentials for feeder pigs graded U.S. 2-3 or U.S. 3-4 generally do not vary as much as U.S. 1-2 graded pigs. But prices will still vary.

Using the low market prices between sale A and C, the price difference between 40-pound pigs amounts to 28 cents per pound or $11.20 per pig.

At higher weights, like 60 pounds, the difference is 15 cents per pound or $9 per pig. If you're currently marketing 20 pigs per week, this can amount to $224 when you're selling 40-pound pigs or $180 when you're selling 60-pound pigs.

These incentives grow as the number of pigs sold increases. If your normal load of 60-pound feeder pigs totals 60, then your potential increased income for traveling to sale A can total $540. This is not chicken feed!

All too often we in the livestock industry sell our livestock to the most convenient sale regardless of price. The mercy of the market sometimes catches us off-guard and the result can be fewer dollars in the pocket. Not only does it pay to shop where to buy, but also when to sell.

Here's a word of caution. Never get into the rut of constantly selling at the same sale. Never take for granted that sale A will always be the best place to sell your feeder pigs.

The logical approach is to study the market reports weekly and make your decision based on them. Though it's still no guarantee of profit, in the long run this strategy can help you make pig production more profitable.

Dauphin fruit operation is 1,000th Century Farm

HARRISBURG – A Dauphin County couple has added more than a century to Pennsylvania's family farming tradition by registering their farm as the Commonwealth's 1,000th Century Farm.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Plouse received their Century Farm certificate today from Gov. Dick Thornburgh following his proclamation of March 20 as Agriculture Day in Pennsylvania.

Their South Hanover Twp. farm has been in the Plouse family for 125 years, a quarter century more than is required to qualify for Century Farm honors.

"One thousand Century Farms underscores the commitment of the Department of Agriculture and Thornburgh Administration to preservation of family farms and farmland resources," said Agriculture Secretary Richard E. Grubb.

Pennsylvania's Century Farms program was established in 1976 to stress the importance of family farms by giving special recognition to families who've owned their farms for at least 100 consecutive years.

"The important role farm families such as the Plouses play can not be overstated," Grubb said. "The farm family is the backbone of our state and nation."

The "Plouses are among 58,000 farm families who've made agriculture Pennsylvania's leading industry, and Pennsylvania the leading agricultural state in the Northeast," he added.

Last year, Pennsylvania's farmers produced $4 billion in products and, through agribusinesses and allied enterprises, stimulated more than $30 billion in economic activity.

The Plouses trace ownership of their 94 acre farm to at least 1861 when it was farmed by David Cassel, great- great-grandfather of Mr. Plouse, The Plouses raise pick-your-own fruit and cut-your-own Christmas trees.

"When you've got the soil in your blood, you're interested in such things," Plouse said of his decision to seek a Century Farm designation. He said that he hopes to pass the farm on to his children.

"Preservation of the family farm is what the Century Farm program is intended to encourage, Grubb said.

Grubb urged others who qualify to enter the Century Farms program. Farms must be owned by the same family for at least 100 years, be lived on by a family member and consist of at least 10 acres of the original holding.

Applications can be obtained by writing to Century Farms, Press Office, Pa. Dept. of Agriculture, 2301 N. Cameron St., Harrisburg, PA., 17110-9408, or by calling toll free 1-800-AG-PENNA.

Leaner pork a reality with hormone injections

UNIVERSITY PARK — Leaner pork is a reality when pigs are injected with somatotropin, a naturally occurring protein hormone in swine, says a Penn State animal scientist.

"This leaner pork should be more acceptable to consumers who are concerned about the consumption of saturated fat and its association with coronary heart disease," says Terry Etherton, associate professor of animal nutrition.

Etherton has completed studies in which pigs injected with the somatotropin are consistently leaner — with increased muscle and decreased fat — than those not injected.

"Somatotropin is a naturally occurring protein hormone produced in the pituitary gland," he says. "It is one of the most important protein hormones involved in the regulation of animal growth." In this light, he says, his studies have used the strategy of administering more somatotropin than the pig would produce normally.

A recent study showed that pigs that received somatotropin for 30 days grew 14 percent more rapidly. In addition, carcass fat was decreased by 30 percent while muscle mass was increased.

"The improvement of feed efficiency by more than 20 percent is a development that can save pork producers $2 to $4 billion per year in feed costs," the professor says.

"The use of somatotropin has the potential to revolutionize animal agriculture," Etherton points out. "The impact on animal industry is a leaner product produced more efficiently."

Penn State animal scientists have pioneered the use of pig somatotropin to increase the growth rate, improve carcass composition and markedly enhance feed efficiency (quantity of feed consumed per quantity of weight gained).

In the most recent study, where pigs were treated with somatotropin daily for three months, the responses were "very dramatic," Etherton says.

The pigs in Etherton's studies have been injected with somatotropin daily. But, he says, "a farmer isn't going to inject his pigs every day" for the five to six months it takes a pig to reach market weight.

"Thus, the critical question to be resolved is the mechanism of delivery," the professor says. "For example, it would be beneficial to have a delivery system whereby a farmer would inject a pig only once every 30 days.

"We envision that the delivery system would then release the somatotropin at some fixed daily rate over a period of time, eliminating the need for the daily injection."

The development of a delivery system is an area of intense research in the United States because a breakthrough in this area would make the use of somatotropin commercially feasible, Etherton says.

The pharmaceutical industry has been encouraged by the positive results of the studies conducted at The Pennsylvania State University and are working on a somatotropin-based product, the professor says.

Etherton notes, "Somatotropin has been produced by recombinant DNA technology and it appears that this technology will produce somatotropin at a cost that is not rate-limiting for the development of the product."

Currently, studies are underway in Etherton's laboratory to determine if the recombinantly derived somatotropin produces the same responses as the pituitary derived somatotropin. He may have the answer by summer, he says.

Workshop discusses effective cattle merchandising

BIRD-IN-HAND — Learning to merchandise cows effectively through advertising, promotion and photography was the basic goal of everyone at the Holstein Investment Opportunities (HIO) Workshop held recently at the Bird-In-Hand Motel.

Ron Buffington of HIO explained at the start of the workshop, "There is no fun in wholesaling a product, we need to retail it and make things happen."

Ruth Benedict, also of HIO, confirmed this idea by explaining that this is done by "developing profitable marketing skills."

Creating effective ads and what ads should contain was one topic that discussed at length at the workshop.

Prior to developing ads, a foundation for a advertising program is needed. This is accomplished by the establishment of marketing goals and periodic evaluation of these goals.

When working on an ad, the layout that is considered must be attractive and easy to follow. The parts must have continuity to keep the reader's attention.

A reader's attention is drawn to an ad by its originality, uniqueness and flashiness.

After capturing the reader's attention, it must be maintained and increased through the ad's components. Interest is generated through a headline or introduction. Simplicity is often the best rule to follow with both components.

Entering into the body of an ad, the information must be complete and concise. Details pertaining to where an animal can be purchased, how to reach the farm for more details, and why she is important are pertainent to an ad's effectiveness.

A farm logo provides ready identification of the farm with the reader and its importance should not be overlooked. Any farm that does not have a logo should seriously consider obtaining one, Buffington suggested, since it is a strong advertising tool. The logo needs to be simple, versatile and different enough to draw attention.

Many ads feature photographs of cows. Judy Black from Agri-Graphics discussed some things to consider when photographing cows.

On the day of the photo, she said, the animals must be clipped, trained to lead, washed completely, feet trimmed, and the udder should be full of milk to attain the best photo.

A good photo allows prospective buyers that cannot come and view the cow in person to see its outstanding qualities.

When done correctly and by a professional, a photo can be a very effective marketing tool, Black said.

Marketing cows is a must for any dairyman who intends to stay in the business, Glenn Freese from Glee-Hi Holsteins said. He compared the Holstein business to a ladder with those on top doing everything from milking cows to contract matings. The guy on the bottom is simply milking cows, he noted, and urged anyone at the bottom to make the commitment to move up the ladder.

To achieve the goal of moving up the ladder, it is necessary to learn how to turn registration papers into dollars through merchandising, Freese stated. Success in this venture is contagious and moving up the ladder becomes easier, he added.

Time, finances and opportunity are important key elements in acquiring these goals according to Benedict. Through promotion and management, which includes items such as feeding and breeding, the bottom line or return on investment can be great. The bottom line, Benedict emphasized, is the reason for the importance of merchandising cattle in the present economy.

Food Science head named

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. – Dr Lowell D. Satterlee, from the University of Nebraska at Lincoln, has been named head of the Department of Food Science at The Pennsylvania State University.

He is currently serving as head of the Department of Food Science and Technology and director of the Food Processing Center at Nebraska.

Announcing the appointment, acting dean of the College of Agriculture W. Wayne Hinish said, "We feel very fortunate that Dr. Satterlee has accepted this position. He is nationally known for his research in the chemistry of food proteins and has demonstrated commitment to both teaching and extension. Our Department of Food Science is one of the strongest in the country. Under Dr. Satterlee's direction the department will continue to thrive." Dr. Satterlee replaces Dr. Philip Keeney, who retired last year with emeritus rank.

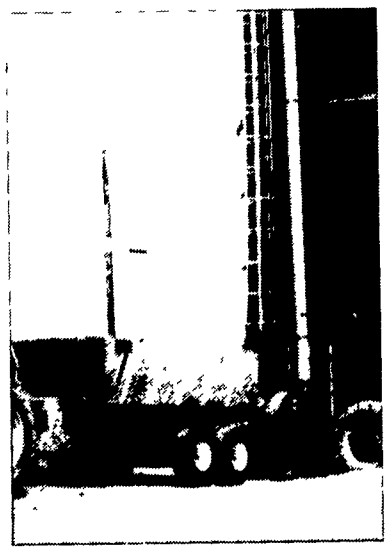
SPREADER BUYING CHECKLIST

If You're Buying A Semi-Liquid Or Liquid Manure Spreader, You Should Ask Yourself The Following Questions:



- 1. Can it also be used as a grain buggy?
- 2. Does it discharge to the rear or upfront where the wind can blow manure onto the tractor operator?
- 3. Is it priced higher than:
  1500 gal. - $5,800.00
  2300 gal. - $6,800.00
  3100 gal. - $7,800.00
- 4. Does the price include new flotation tires?
- 5. Does the price include hydraulic hoses to the tractor?
- 6. Is the body constructed of weather & rust resistant Corten Steel?
- 7. Does it use all standard industry wide replacement parts?
- 8. Are the axles bolted in for easy replacement?

If You Answered NO To Any Of The Above Questions

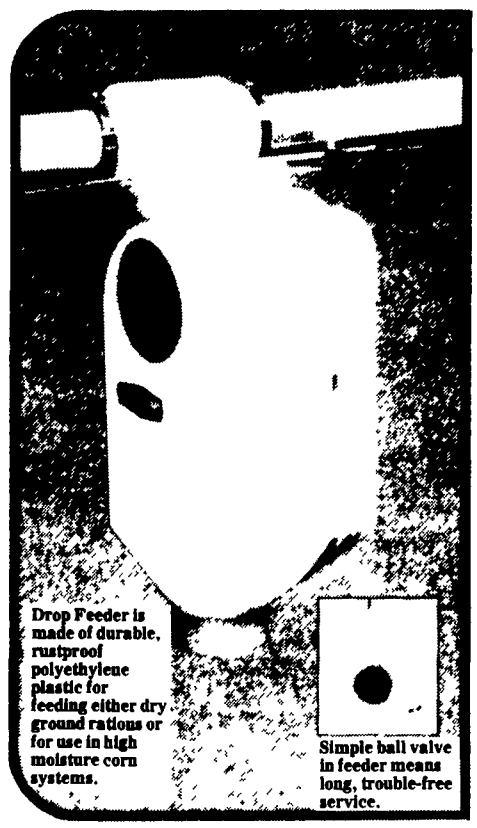
CHORE-TIME®

NEW CHORE-TIME COW FEEDING SYSTEM

Increase milk production while saving labor, feed



Drop Feeder is made of durable, rustproof polyethylene plastic for feeding either dry ground rations or for use in high moisture corn systems.
Simple ball valve in feeder means long, trouble-free service.

Put Chore-Time Cow Feeding System To Work Boosting Your Income

Feeding supplement by hand wastes money two ways:
(1.) Some cows get too much, others not enough -- wasting feed and hurting production.
(2.) It's time and labor spent you'd be money ahead to put into management. Mechanize your feeding with an inexpensive, energy-efficient Chore-Time Cow Feeding System. Feed each cow the right amount, as many times a day (to boost production) as you want by automatic timeclock, or by pulling a lever.

Find out about the Chore-Time system -- our 10-year warranty on auger -- plus the line of feed bins that outshell all others in America because of their built-in quality and long life.

TWO TYPES OF FEED DELIVERY SYSTEMS (FLEX-AUGER or MULTIFLEX) AVAILABLE WITH THE NEW CHORE-TIME COW FEEDING SYSTEM

FLEX AUGER

Ideal For Straighter Runs, Larger Capacities

Highly energy-efficient, extremely long wearing and trouble-free -- that's how FLEX-AUGER systems are known the world over.

For most livestock and poultry feeding installations, plus for moving high or low moisture grain FLEX-AUGER is the ideal choice.

MULTI FLEX

For Lots Of Turns, Sharper Corners, Greater Lengths

MULTIFLEX is a new innovation using the same high tensile strength steel auger as on our famous FLEX-AUGER. But, instead of rotating the auger, a MULTIFLEX system propels it within the tube. This sliding of the steel auger means there can be more corners and sharper corners in a system.
There's an added bonus in energy savings: while FLEX-AUGER beats the competition in energy-efficiency, our new MULTIFLEX saves even more energy.

Discuss your particular needs with us to make the best choice of systems for your kind of animals and building layout.

Tree fruit guide

NEWARK, DE — The Delaware Cooperative Extension Service is offering a tree fruit production guide intended for commercial fruit growers. The 96-page bulletin contains up-to-date chemical recommendations and spray schedules for weed, insect and disease control for apples, peaches, pears, plums, and sweet and sour cherries. A table for keeping 1986 spray records is included.

The publication also supplies information on honey bees for orchard pollination, mice control and reducing deer and rabbit damage. All information is based on experiment station and U.S. Department of Agriculture research combined with industry and grower knowledge and experience.

"Commecial Tree Fruit Production 1986" is available for $5 from county extension offices in Newark (451-2506), Dover (736-1448) or Georgetown (856-7303). Make checks payable to the University of Delaware.

Crop insurance survey extended

NEWARK, DE — The Delaware Cooperative Extension Serivce has received a federal grant to extend its crop insurance survey and educational program for another year. The program, the only one of its kind in the country, has been expanded to include Maryland and New Jersey as well as Delaware. it is being offered as a cooperative effort of the extension services of the three states under the direction of University of Delaware assistant extension farm management specialist Mark Kooker.

The program began in Delaware in the fall of 1984 under his direction. Kooker's main responsibility is to explain to area farmers the use of federal crop insurance as a risk management tool. Multi-peril coverage insures crops agains unavoidable natural hazards such as drought, freeze, hail, excessive rain, wind damage, insects and disease.

"The federal government became involved in crop insurance because the job was just too big for private companies to handle," Kooker says. "This is a good way to help farmers in case of crop failures."

The economist measures the success of the risk management program in many ways. For example, in 1984 as a result of data collected by the extension service, four Delaware vegetable crops (peas, sweet corn, tomatoes and potatoes) became eligible for insurance coverage. In 1985 the state experienced a 60 percent increase in total crop acreage covered by insurance. And, because 65 percent of the 1985 tomato crop was insured, many Delaware growers were able to collect last year on damage caused by excessive rainfall.

Kooker is available to conduct educational meetings, give individual consultations and to generate computer analyses for farmers. Growers interested in investigating crop insurance as a risk management tool can contact him by calling (302) 451-2511.

Substation renamed

NEWARK, DE — The University of Delaware substation in Georgetown has been renamed the College of Agricultural Sciences Research and Education Center on the recommendation fo the committee on agriculture of the board of trustees of the university. The board agreed that "substation" did not adequately reflect the research and educational functions of the facility.

"The new name hasn't changed the thrust of the facility," says Jack Burris, chairman of the committee on agriculture. "We think 'research and education center' is a good description of the programs that take place there every day. The new title will lend dignity to the center and educated those unfamiliar with it as to the nature of its activities.

In 1941 the university bought 310 acres of land in Sussex County to establish a subunit of the agricultural experiment station in Newark — hence the original name "substation." The center's activities can be divided into five broad categories: evaluating new varieties and strains, evaluating new agrichemicals, developing new varieties and products, improving management practices, and providing services and information.

The College of Agricultural Sciences Research and Education Center will continue its 45-year tradition as a research and cooperative extension facility that benefits both urban and rural populations.

Energy booklets

SHIPPENSBURG — The Pennsylvania Energy Center for Region VI at Shippensburg University offers over 65 energy conservation publications to consumers, local governments, non-profit organizations, farmers, businesses and industries. Topics range from Passive Solar for Today's Market and Municipal Energy Management, to Managing Energy on the Farm and Major Energy Conservation Retrofits.

All of these publications are free and there is only a small $1.00 for postage and handling. To receive further information on the Energy's Center publications, contact: PA Energy Center for Region VI, 201 Gilbert Hall, Shippensburg University, Shippensburg, PA 17257, or call toll-free (800) 692-7312 or (717) 532-1169.

This program is operated with funds provided in part by the Pennsylvania Governor's Energy Council, the U.S. Department of Energy, and Shippensburg University.

IPM programs

NEWARK, DE — The Delaware Cooperative Extension Service will again be conducting field corn and alfalfa integrated pest management (IPM) programs for local farmers during the 1986 growing season.

The field corn program will start in late March with a soil insect survey and continue on a weekly basis through August. Participating growers will receive weekly reports on insect activity, week breaks and disease infestations. In addition, plant population counts and weed mapping will be done at appropriate times. The cost of participating is $2 per acre for the pest management program–$3 per acre if soil and leaf tissue samples are also taken. The deadline for registering acreage is February 15.

The alfalfa IPM program will start in early February with a weed survey to help growers make early season weed control decisions. As soon as alfalfa plants become active, stand counts will be taken; subsequent counts will be taken throughout the season. From April through September every field in the program will be visited once a week by a scout. Particpating growers will receive regular reports on insect, disease and weed infestation levels, plant stand counts, fertility problems and cutting schedules for use in making timely management decisions. Cost of participating in the alfalfa program is $3 an acre. The deadline for registering acreage is January 30.

Farmers interested in participating in either program should contact University of Delaware extension pest management specialist Joanne Whalen at 451-2526.

International 274 Offset Tractor

Perfect view for one-row cultivating

The International 274 tractor has the operator offset to the right. This provides a near-perfect view of the right-hand rows when cultivating vegetables, tobacco, flowers and other delicate crops. If you raise specialty crops that have to be handled with care, the International 274 is for you.

- 30 engine hp 3-cylinder diesel.
- 8-speed transmission.
- 540 RPM PTO.
- Category I 3-point hitch optional.
- Adjustable wheel treads.
- 23-inch front axle clearance.

For a better view of your row crops, see the 274 today.

International 200 Series Tractors

They're compact, but surprisingly powerful to save you a lot of back-breaking work Husky, 3-cylinder diesel engines give you the power and economy you need around the farmyard or in the city, to do all types of jobs

These are true farm-style tractors with 3-point hitch, smooth shifting transmissions, hand and foot throttles, plus complete lighting and instrumentation packages.

The 540 RPM PTO is standard on all three models. The 244 and 254 also have an optional 1250 RPM front PTO. For extra power and flotation, Mechanical Front Drive (MFD) gives you full all-wheel power for greater traction.

See us for 200 Series tractors, plus a full line of matching equipment!

LANCASTER FARMING WINS DAIRY AWARD

The American Dairy Association and Dairy Council, Inc. recently honored Lancaster Farming with its ninth annual "Service to Dairying Award" at its annual convention in Syracuse.

The management, staff and employees of Lancaster Farming would like to take this opportunity to thank the ADA/DC for this prestigious award, and assure the organization and its dairy members that our efforts in the area of dairy promotion will continue to grow and expand.

Needless to say, the award represents hours, weeks and months of effort by the Lancaster Farming staff in studying and learning about all the new dairy promotion programs.

And though we certainly appreciate the honor, we feel much of the credit goes to our readers, who have always asked for more when we print stories covering the dairy promotion area. Our readers want to know what's going on... what's working and what's not...and how their dairy promotion funds are being used.

So we say thanks to the ADA/DC...and thanks to our readers for their continued support and interest in the dairy promotion field.

NORTH ATLANTIC B-38 PROOF

Windy Knoll View

James & Nina Burdette

Mercersburg, PA

The Burdette's present feeding program consists of high quality corn silage, alfalfa hay, and HMSC, along with Purina's North Atlantic B-38 Dairy Concentrate from Detrich Elevator. During the past year their RHA increased by 1489 pounds of milk and 60 pounds of fat.

James and Nina contribute their success to raising high quality forages and feeding a balanced program. They also say that they get their calves off to a good start by using Calf Startena and Calf Growena.

Pictured is the Burdette's All Pennsylvania Junior 2-year-old, Windy Knoll View Justa Wonder. As a Junior 2-year-old, she scored an impressive 88 with excellent mammary. Freshening at 25 months of age, her first 329 day lactation produced 19,826 pounds of milk and 651 pounds of fat.

The Burdette family is one more example of what good management, good feeding, and good breeding can do to increase performance.
